Decision Making In Periodontology:

Decision Making in Periodontology Walter B. Hall, 1998 DECISION MAKING IN PERIODONTOLOGY illustrates the thought processes in the field of periodontics that determine optimal therapy for an individual patient. The approach entails the use of a decision tree for each clinical problem or situation; this is accompanied by a brief explanation of the basis for each decision. The chapters present common clinical problems in a format that enables the reader to find solutions more easily than in traditional texts. In addition, several readily available references are included with each chapter. The text is organized into eleven sections from the most basic to the most complex for assistance with problem solving in dental practices. Sections include History Taking, Indications for Collecting and Recording Data, Signs and Symptoms, Initial Therapy, Evaluation and Detecting and Recording Findings, Differential Diagnosis, and Treatment Planning, among others that focus on clinician's concerns. Each chapter includes several readily available references organized into sections from most basic to most complex. Decision tree format is provided for each clinical problem or situation. Signs and symptoms section presents unique diagnostic approach options shown in the algorithms. Includes decision trees that address periodontal treatment for impacted third molars and five different types of implants. Decision Making in Periodontology, 1993 Decision-making for the Periodontal Team Suzanne Noble, Margaret Kellett, Iain Leslie Chapple, 2003 High quality dental patient management demands an appropriately skilled team. It is the general dental practitioner's responsibility to coordinate the team and to take overall responsibility as the team leader. This book describes how to build a team that provides all the specialties necessary to achieve a stable functional esthetic masticatory unit which not only encompasses the management of periodontal disease but integrates a treatment plan the patient can maintain. Hall's Critical Decisions in Periodontology & Dental Implantology, 5e Lisa Harpenau, 2013-07-31 Hall's Critical Decisions in Periodontology Fifth Edition is designed to guide students and practitioners in applying their decision making knowledge in a structured and logical manner whether in diagnosis, treatment selections and options, procedures in various treatments or evaluating outcomes. This text is organized by clinical problems all designed to help you make on target decisions for optimal outcomes. Formerly called Decision Making in Periodontology, this text provides new techniques on periodontal therapy are presented. The contributors to the text represent both North American and international thinking. Critical Decisions in Periodontology Walter B.
