Advancing Research in Information and Communication Technology Michael Goedicke, Erich Neuhold, Kai Rannenber, 2021-08-03 For 60 years the International Federation for Information Processing IFIP has been advancing research in Information and Communication Technology ICT This book looks into both past experiences and future perspectives using the core of IFIP's competence its Technical Committees TCs and Working Groups WGs Soon after IFIP was founded it established TCs and related WGs to foster the exchange and development of the scientific and technical aspects of information processing IFIP TCs are as diverse as the different aspects of information processing but they share the following aims To establish and maintain liaison with national and international organizations with allied interests and to foster cooperative action collaborative research and information exchange To identify subjects and priorities for research to stimulate theoretical work on fundamental issues and to foster fundamental research which will underpin future development To provide a forum for professionals with a view to promoting the study collection exchange and dissemination of ideas information and research findings and thereby to promote the state of the art To seek and use the most effective ways of disseminating information about IFIP's work including the organization of conferences workshops and symposia and the timely production of relevant publications To have special regard for the needs of developing countries and to seek practicable ways of working with them To encourage communication and to promote interaction between users practitioners and researchers To foster interdisciplinary work and in particular to collaborate with other Technical Committees and Working Groups The 17 contributions in this book describe the scientific technical and further work in TCs and WGs and in many cases also assess the future consequences of the work's results These contributions explore the developments of IFIP and the ICT profession now and over the next 60 years The contributions are arranged per TC and conclude with the chapter on the IFIP code of ethics and conduct

Organizational Decision Support Systems Ronald M. Lee, Andrew M. McCosh, Piero Migliarese, 1988 Decision Support Systems DSS are typically viewed as computerized aids for managerial decision making at the individual level By contrast this volume focuses on DSS for group and organizational decision making The contributions are from academics and practitioners who are developing new concepts techniques and software to support decision related activities involving multiple participants The book is in five sections The first looks at the organizational setting of group decision support systems and experiences of various enterprises in their use The second section is concerned with supporting negotiation processes decision situations where the participants have conflicting goals The third section deals with analysis and design issues in developing group organizational DSS Behavioral issues relating to the impact of the technology are examined in section four while the fifth section discusses practical experiences with group decision rooms

Computer-Assisted Management and Control of Manufacturing Systems Spyros G. Tzafestas, 2012-12-06 Modern manufacturing systems involve many processes and operations that can be monitored and controlled at several levels of intelligence At the highest level there is a computer that supervises the various manufacturing functions whereas at the lowest level there are stand alone computer controlled systems of manufacturing processes and robotic cells Until recently computer aided manufacturing systems constituted isolated islands of automation each oriented to a particular application but present day systems offer integrated approaches to manufacturing and enterprise operations. These modern systems known as computer integrated manufacturing CIM systems can easily meet the current performance and manufacturing competitiveness requirements under strong environmental changes. CIM systems are much of a challenge and imply a systemic approach to the design and operation of a manufacturing enterprise. Actually a CIM system must take into account in a unified way the following three views: the user view, the technology view and the enterprise view. This means that CIM includes both the engineering and enterprise planning and control activities as well as the information flow activities across all the stages of the system.

Improving Decision Making in Organisations Alan G. Lockett, Gerd Islei, 2012-12-06. MCRM has been an active research area for over 20 years and the previous conferences clearly showed a tremendous growth of interest. A variety of successful applications and recent developments of interactive computer software to support decision making confirm a sustained progress. We therefore decided to make our theme Improving Decision Making in Organisations. The aim was to take stock of the impact of multicriteria concepts in organisations and to involve management practitioners from a wide range of backgrounds. To this end the conference was organised round five broad themes and papers were solicited on the following topics: Psychology: how do individuals in practice use and relate to the methodologies? Organisation: how do our models fit into the decision making framework of real organisations? Application: how have the models been used in practice and what is the users' view? Methodology: what are the new areas in model development? Related Areas: is there complementary work e.g. Expert Systems which may be attempting to solve very similar problems? We call for papers produced an overwhelming response of over 100 papers. They were from a variety of disciplines and applications and we decided to devote approximately one day to each of the five areas. We are very impressed by the results which can be seen in this edited proceedings.

Decision Support Systems Ephraim R. McLean, Henk G. Sol, 1986. Decision Support Systems and Intelligent Systems Ephraim Turban, Jay E. Aronson, 1998. B. This book is widely known for its comprehensive treatment of decision support theory and how it is applied. Through four editions this book has defined the course and set the standard for up to date coverage of the latest decision support theories and practices by managers and organizations. This fifth edition has been streamlined and updated throughout to reflect new computing technologies. Chapter 9 has been completely rewritten to focus on the Internet and Intranet. The reader will find expanded coverage of data warehousing, data mining, on line analytical processes and an entirely new chapter on intelligent agents. Ch 19 Internet related topics and links to Internet exercises and cases appear throughout the new edition.

Decision Support and Expert Systems Ephraim Turban, 1993. Decision Support Systems Research and Reference Disciplines, 1970-2001 Sean B. Eom, 2003. This is a research guide and bibliography with citation frequency on the decision support systems research area and its reference disciplines. It contains only references that have been cited frequently by more than several thousand authors of decision support systems articles published in a set of carefully selected journals according to objective criteria set forth in a data chapter. Each item in the bibliography of the book contains the citation frequency representing its weight and degree of influence on the decision support systems research. Each item represents objective and unobtrusive judgment of all the authors of major articles published in more than 140 information systems journals during 1970-2001. It will be a useful research guide to the DSS literature. Network Information Processing Systems Kiril L. Bojinov, Rasko Angelinov, 1989. Selected research papers covering various aspects of computer networks are collected in this book which is the result of an international conference of IFIP's Technical Committees TC6 and TC8. Theoretical and practical problems are addressed in areas such as protocols, standards, special purpose LANs and network interconnections, distributed computing systems and messaging systems. Decision Support Systems Ralph H. Sprague (Jr.), Hugh J. Watson, 1989. The conceptual foundation for DSS. Developing and using DSS. The architecture for DSS. Creating the DSS environment. The evolving DSS domain. DSS application. DSS bibliography. Index.

Intelligent Decision-making Support Systems Jatinder N.D. Gupta, Guiseppe A. Forgionne, Manuel Mora T., 2007-03-30. This book will be bought by researchers and graduate students in Artificial Intelligence and management as well as practising managers and consultants interested in the application of IT and information systems in real business environment. Spatial Decision Support Systems Ramanathan Sugumaran, John Degroote, 2010-11-15. This book provides a comprehensive examination of the various aspects of SDSS: evolution, components, architecture and implementation. Integrating research from a variety of disciplines, it supplies a complete overview of SDSS technologies and their application. This groundbreaking reference provides thorough coverage of the roots of SDSS. It explains the core principles of SDSS, how to use them in various decision making contexts and how to design and develop them using readily available enabling technologies and commercial tools. Decision Support Systems and Electronic Commerce, 2002-05.
