Deepening Democracy Institutional Innovations In Empowered Participatory Governance:

Deepening Democracy Archon Fung, Erik Olin Wright, 2003 The institutional forms of liberal democracy developed in the nineteenth century seem increasingly ill suited to the problems we face in the twenty first This dilemma has given rise in some places to a new deliberative democracy and this volume explores four contemporary empirical cases in which the principles of such a democracy have been at least partially instituted the participatory budget in Porto Alegre the school decentralization councils and community policing councils in Chicago stakeholder councils in environmental protection and habitat management and new decentralised governance structures in Kerala In keeping with the other Real Utopias Project volumes these case studies are framed by an editors introduction a set of commentaries and concluding notes

Empowered Participation Archon Fung, 2009-01-10 Every month in every neighborhood in Chicago residents teachers school principals and police officers gather to deliberate about how to improve their schools and make their streets safer Residents of poor neighborhoods participate as much or more as those from wealthy ones All voices are heard Since the meetings began more than a dozen years ago they have led not only to safer streets but also to surprising improvements in the city s schools Chicago s police department and school system have become democratic urban institutions unlike any others in America Empowered Participation is the compelling chronicle of this unprecedented transformation It is the first comprehensive empirical analysis of the ways in which participatory democracy can be used to effect social change Using city wide data and six neighborhood case studies the book explores how determined Chicago residents police officers teachers and community groups worked to banish crime and transform a failing city school system into a model for educational reform The author s conclusion Properly designed and implemented institutions of participatory democratic governance can spark citizen involvement that in turn generates innovative problem solving and public action Their participation makes organizations more fair and effective Though the book focuses on Chicago s municipal agencies its lessons are applicable to many American cities Its findings will prove useful not only in the fields of education and law enforcement but also to sectors as diverse as environmental regulation social service provision and workforce development

Reclaiming Participatory Governance Adrian Bua, Sonia Bussu, 2023-05-12 Reclaiming Participatory Governance offers empirical and theoretical perspectives on how the relationship between social movements and state institutions is emerging and developing through new modes of participatory governance One of the most interesting political developments of the past decade has been the adoption by social movements of strategies seeking to change political institutions through participatory governance These strategies have flourished in a variety of contexts from anti austerity and pro social justice protests in Spain to movements demanding climate transition and race equality in the UK and the USA to constitutional reforms in Belgium and Iceland The chief ambition and challenge of these new forms of participatory governance is to institutionalise the prefigurative politics and social justice values that inspired them in the first place by mobilising the bureaucracy to respond to their claims for reforms and rights The authors of this volume assess how participatory governance is being transformed and explore the impact of such changes providing timely critical reflections on the constraints imposed by cultural economic and political power relations on these new empowered participatory spaces the potential of this new wave of participatory democracy to reimagine the relationship between citizens and traditional institutions towards more radical democratic renewal where and how these new democratisation efforts sit within the representative state and how tensions between the different demands of lay citizens organised civil society and public officials are being managed This book will be an important resource for students and academics in political science public administration and social policy as well as activists practitioners and policymakers interested in supporting innovative engagement for deeper social transformation Chapter 11 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Halduskultuur-Administrative Culture 14 (1) Michael Kull, Pekka Kettunen, Education and Democratic Participation Stewart Ranson, 2017-08-03 Education and Democratic Participation is an important and timely contribution to the emerging debate surrounding the value of educating citizens and communities in order to empower them to participate in democratic change Responding to the effects of neo liberal ideology on comprehensive education and public services this book examines the purposes and conditions for reimagining an educated democracy Arguing that social divisions and cultural misrecognition have intensified to the point of crisis Ranson explains that a just society must create opportunities for diverse cohesive and tolerant neighbourhoods to flourish In order to achieve this education will need to reimagine learners as prospective citizens and as cooperative makers of the democratic communities in which they live and work Showing that participation in public forums councils and associations can provide a real means of enabling members of different communities to learn how to respect and value one another this book provides persuasive arguments that a broader pedagogy of democracy is needed to confront the common dilemmas facing society This work is aimed at researchers academics and postgraduates particularly those lecturing and studying in the areas of education the social sciences and politics It will also appeal to professional and practitioner communities in school and college teaching as well as in local authorities and related public services

Returning to the Long Revolution Stewart Ranson, 2024-09-06 Facing fundamental changes to the climate the environment and the nature of work will require cooperative action for an effective response This presents a crisis of recognition of different communities needing to learn how to value the practices of collaboration for a common purpose The central argument of this book is that the key to motivating such change now lies in a radical re imagining of our democratic citizenship empowering citizens to participate in and take responsibility for remaking the communities in which they live and work We need to reconfigure ourselves from being clients dependent on professional knowledge or consumers competing in a market place to becoming active citizens makers of our worlds Only a transformation of democracy can enable public participation in this way and through practice in deliberating common goods achieve mutual recognition of cultural differences and social cohesion

Human Rights and Public Finance Aoife Nolan, Rory O'Connell, Colin

Harvey,2013-10-21 This edited collection addresses some of the most important challenges in contemporary human rights law and practice Its central theme is the linkage between public finance particularly budget decisions and the realisation or not of economic and social rights While much academic and political debate on economic and social rights implementation has focused on the role of the courts this work places the spotlight squarely on those organs of government that have the primary responsibility and the greatest capacity for giving effect to such rights namely the elected branches of government The major actors considered in this book are politicians public servants and civil society with their role in realising economic and social rights the work s key focus The book thus makes a crucial contribution to remedying the current imbalance in attention paid by economic and social rights scholars to the legislature and executive vis a vis the judiciary Featuring pioneering work by leading experts in the field of human rights and public finance this multidisciplinary collection will be of great interest to academics practitioners public servants and students working in the areas of law human rights economics development and political science

Participatory Spaces Under Urban Capitalism Markus Holdo,2023-09-22 Can people use new participatory spaces to reclaim their rights as citizens and challenge structures of political power This book carefully examines the constraints and possibilities for participatory governance under capitalism To understand what is at stake in the politics of participation we need to look beyond the values commonly associated with it Citizens face a dilemma should they participate even if this helps to sustain an unjust system or not participate thereby turning down rare opportunities to make a difference By examining the rationale behind democratic innovation and the reasons people have for getting involved this book provides a theory of how citizens can use new democratic spaces to challenge political boundaries Connecting numerous international case studies and presenting original research from Rosario Argentina this book offers a crucial corrective to previous research What matters most is not the design of new models of participation nor is it the supposed radical imagination of political leaders It is whether people use new spaces for participation to renegotiate what democracy means in practice Bridging critical urban studies and democratic theory this book will be of interest to researchers and students in the fields of democratic innovations political economy and urban planning It will also provide activists and practitioners of participatory democracy with important tools to expand spaces of grassroots democracy The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a CC BY Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 International license
