Defect Control in Semiconductors Kōji Sumino, 1990 Defect control in semiconductors is a key technology for realizing the ultimate possibilities of modern electronics The basis of such control lies in an integrated knowledge of a variety of defect properties From this viewpoint the volume discusses defect related problems in connection with defect control in semiconducting materials such as silicon III V II VI compounds organic semiconductors heterostructure etc The conference brought together scientists in the field of fundamental research and engineers involved in application related to electronic devices in order to promote future research activity in both fields and establish a fundamental knowledge of defect control The main emphasis of the 254 papers presented in this volume is on the control of the concentration distribution structural and electronic states of any types of defects including impurities as well as control of the electrical optical and other activities of defects Due to the extensive length of the contents only the number of papers presented per session is listed
