The Church Lads' Brigade in the Great War Jean Morris, 2015-09-30 It is estimated that around 50 000 Brigade Lads served in the First World War during which many honors and distinctions were awarded The Brigade contributed two Service Battalions of the King's Royal Rifle Corps whose members were comprised entirely of past and present members of the Church Lads Brigade These were known as Pals Battalions The story of the battalion centers around the experiences of eight men who served and some who died in the Battles of The Somme Arras and The Lys In the latter half of the nineteenth century influential Christians were worried about the poor spiritual and physical development of young people It was at that time that Brigade groups began to spring up all over the UK Walter Mallock Gee who was Secretary of the Junior Branch of the Church of England Temperance Society and a Volunteer Army Officer founded the Church Lads Brigade in 1891 By 1908 the membership of the brigade stood at about 70 000 in 1 300 companies When the Call to Arms came from Field Marshal Horatio Herbert Kitchener in 1914 thousands of Britain's youth flocked to join the armed forces Members of the Church Lads Brigade joined up in their droves at recruiting stations all over Great Britain Two Battalions were formed entirely from serving and ex members of the Church Lads Brigade

The 16th Service Battalion and later the 19th Service Battalion both sponsored by the Church Lads Brigade became known as The Churchmen's Battalion. In 1914 no one could have imagined the horrendous stories that would unfold from the bloody massacre at so many notorious battles across Belgium and the fields of Flanders Ypres Passchendaele Somme Arras Lys and the brutal decimation of the battalion during the hell of the fighting at High Wood. No one could have imagined the discomfort and disease brought on by living in a trench full of water for days on end or over the top through acres of knee high mud. More than 24 of the Church Lads Brigade were awarded a Victoria Cross for their bravery but by 1918 many of those gallant young Lads would not return home. This is their story. The Rifles Are There David Orr, David Truesdale, 2005-11-19 Told by the men who lived it this is a military history of two British Army battalions who landed at Normandy and fought in Europe during World War II. This is the long overdue history of the two Royal Ulster Rifles battalions during the Second World War. Although there was a healthy rivalry between the battalions both reserved their fighting skills for the luckless enemy. At the outbreak of the war the 1st Battalion was garrisoned in India whereas the 2nd went to France with the BEF. Indeed the title of this book is credited to Major General Bernard Montgomery who was commanding 3rd Division during the retreat to Dunkirk. On hearing that the RUR were in the line he reputedly exclaimed it's alright then the Rifles are there. After arduous training both battalions landed in Normandy on D Day the 1st by gliders as part of 6th Airlanding Brigade and the 2nd with 9th Brigade of 3rd Division on Sword Beach. Indeed the RUR have the unique distinction of being the only British regiment to be represented on D Day by both regular battalions. In addition numerous Riflemen were in 9th Parachute Battalion commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Terence Otway himself a Rifles Officer and there is a full description of the legendary assault on the Merville Battery. This well researched work goes on to describe the long slog through North West Europe to the heart of Germany. Of the many fierce engagements that the battalions fought those in the Ardennes during the German counterattack and the massive Rhine Crossing Operation VARSITY deserve special mention. There were numerous battles both major and minor where the Rifles' legendary fighting skills and courage were put to the test.
