How to Debate Robert Weston Babcock, John Henderson Powell (Jr.), 1923 The Principles of Effective Debating University of Wisconsin. University Extension Division. Department of Debating and Public Discussion, 1915 The Principles of Effective Debating University of Wisconsin. University Extension Division. Dept. of Debating and Public Discussion, 1915 Orality and Performance in Classical Attic Prose Alessandro Vatri, 2017-02-16 This study discusses the question of whether there is a linguistic difference between classical Attic prose texts intended for public oral delivery and those intended for written circulation and private performance Identifying such a difference which exclusively reflects these disparities in modes of reception has proven to be a difficult challenge for both literary scholars and cultural historians of the ancient world with answers not always satisfactory from a methodological and an analytical point of view The legitimacy of the question is first addressed through a definition of what such slippery notions as orality and oral performance mean in the context of classical Athens reconstruction of the situations in which the extant prose texts were meant to be received and an explanation of the grounds on which we may expect linguistic features of the texts to be related to such situations The idea that texts conceived for public delivery needed to be as clear as possible is substantiated by available cultural historical and anthropological facts however these do not imply that the opposite was required of texts conceived for private reception In establishing a rigorous methodology for the reconstruction of the native perception of clarity in the original contexts of textual reception this study offers a novel approach to assessing orality in classical Greek prose through examination of linguistic and grammatical features of style It builds upon the theoretical insights and current experimental findings of modern psycholinguistics providing scholars with a new key to the minds of ancient writers and audiences

Mapping the Academic Debate Johannes Duschka, Christoph Kleine, Monika Wohlrab-Sahr, Florian Zemmin, 2024-12-16 This volume maps the international academic debate on secularity It places seminal contributions from within Western academia alongside less well known texts from various parts of the world in several cases this is the first time that they have been translated into English The volume demonstrates that the academic debate on secularity was and is a global debate with contributions from many regions The collected texts relate to each other either directly or indirectly by referring to similar arguments whether reinforcing or criticising them and thus create a discourse When speaking of global secularity we therefore do not insinuate a uniform world secularity resulting from the alleged global diffusion of Western norms ideas and concepts It is rather a web of relations that is constituted via various different references These references are not evenly distributed the development in the West is often the point of reference to which positions from other regions relate to which they connect or from which they distance themselves But the references are not completely unidirectional We also present texts from Europe that underline the multidirectionality of the process even early on Thereby the volume offers the reader the material with which to trace these global exchanges and references

Gender in Debate From the Early Middle Ages to the Renaissance T. Fenster,C. Lees,2016-04-30 Modern scholarship generally treats the debate about women querelle des femmes as a late medieval phenomenon perhaps touched upon by canonic authors like Chaucer but truly begun by Christine de Pizan 1364 1429 and therefore primarily of English and French origin That emphasis has obscured the ways in which both writers were participating in a much wider much older cultural phenomenon with varied and intractable roots Articles in this collection explore how gender is put into debate in Anglo Saxon German Spanish and Italian cultures and they re examine French and Middle English debate literature The collection is carefully planned to be accessible to students seeking an idea of the debate s motifs and contours while maintaining the high level of issue involvement necessary to commanding a more seasoned audience Contributors include Pamela Benson Alcuin Blamires Margaret Franklin Roberta Krueger Clare Lees and Gillian Overing Ann Matter Karen Pratt Helen Solterer Julian Weiss and Barbara Weissberger
