Goetzmann, K. Geert Rouwenhorst, 2005 The analysis of original documents is a means for economists to focus on the primary text to analyze and interpret the object and to move to interpretation and

L. Cripps, 2007 The research is concerned with the city states of the area known for the latter part of this period as ki en gi the limits of which regularly varied with the shifting channels of the Tigris to the east and the Euphrates to the west The texts which are the database of this study originate from Souruppak towards the south and Nippur and Isin in the north of Sumer The primary evidence for types of land tenure in third millennium Sumer is adduced from cuneiform text archives from Early Dynastic Souruppak Fara pre or early Sargonic Isin and Nippur of the classical Sargonic period These archives are arguably administrative and economic records from palace temple and private households The study incorporates and emphasises transactions concerning real property from the genre of texts usually represented as sale documents or sale contracts

Minos ,2001 Zeitschrift für Assyriologie und vorderasiatische Archäologie ,2001 Economics of Religion in the Mycenaean World Lisa Maria Bendall, 2007 The Mycenaean Linear B tablets include numerous references to religion such as details of offerings banqueting foodstuffs or land tenure relating to cult personnel While contributing significantly to our understanding of early Greek religion the documents are exclusively economic and administrative records and the limitations of such sources have long been recognised Few attempts have been made however to analyse the purely economic information about religion we do have in Linear B Such analysis is essential to understanding the place of religion in Mycenaean palace society This book asks a simple but important question What proportion of the resources available to the palaces was directed towards support for religion Price approx Rocznik Papirologii Prawniczej ,2006 Israel Exploration Journal ,2010 An Enquiring Mind Paul G. Bahn, 2009 Alexander Marshack single handedly revolutionized the field of Paleolithic art research His astounding photographs of portable art objects caused us to see them with fresh eyes to ask new questions and to understand their technology and production far more precisely and his pioneering use of infrared and ultraviolet light in the caves revealed startling new facts about the paintings In addition he carried out important provocative and challenging work on archaeoastronomy calendar sticks female imagery and other topics Alexander Marshack was able to do what nobody else ever had before or perhaps ever will again i e travel all over Europe visiting not only many decorated caves but also all the portable art objects scattered throughout the continent including Russia This unique experience and knowledge together with his unrivalled and amazing documentation of all this material made him by far the USA s foremost specialist in Paleolithic imagery To honor his memory in this book scholars from many parts of the world contribute papers about some of the many problems that interested him and to which he made such a massive contribution

Babel und Bibel 3 Leonid Kogan, Natalia Koslova, Sergey Loesov, Serguei Tishchenko, 2006 This is the third volume of Babel Bibel an annual of ancient Near Eastern Old Testament and Semitic studies The principal goal of the annual is to reveal the inherent relationship between Assyriology Semitics and biblical studies a relationship that our predecessors comprehended and fruitfully explored but that is often neglected today The title Babel Bibel is intended to point to the possibility of fruitful collaboration among the three disciplines in an effort to explore the various civilizations of the ancient Near East The tripartite division of Babel Bibel corresponds to its three principal spheres of interest ancient Near Eastern Old Testament and Semitic studies Contributions are further subdivided into articles short notes and reviews Elenchus of Biblica ,2002 Orientalia ,2003 General Studies and Excavations at Nuzi 11/1 David I. Owen,Gernot Wilhelm,2005 Monographs and collections of essays on the history religion social life and literature of northern Mesopotamia during the second millennium B C when the Hurrians a people with their own language and culture dominated much of northern Mesopotamia Tradition and the Poetics of Innovation Nicole Maria Brisch,2007 N Brisch examines the literary legacy of the dynasty of Larsa terminated by Hammurabi of Babylon in 1763 B C E The dynasties of Isin and Larsa fierce rivals in contending for hegemony over Babylonia rarely or never acknowledged their Amorite origins openly but instead affiliated themselves with Sumerian traditions of royal legitimization This becomes apparent in the literary texts of the Isin and Larsa rulers which in all but a few cases were composed in Sumerian a language that to the best of our knowledge was no longer spoken by this time Thus the choice of Sumerian for these compositions is in itself significant It is only with the rulers of the first dynasty of Babylon that we see the beginnings of a movement away from the Sumerian tradition and the replacement by Akkadian as the language of choice in literary texts The Larsa dynasty or more precisely its literary heritage is positioned at the brink of this change from a certain tradition for example visible in the heroic literature on Sumerian kings to certain new developments Because of these innovations the Larsa royal literature occupies a unique position within the corpus of Sumerian royal literature which is often perceived as particularly traditional The study of the literary historical and linguistic contexts of the Larsa Court Poetry is supplemented by the editions of 14 royal hymns and royal letters mainly of Sin iddinam and Rim Sin The State, the Market, and the Euro Stephanie Kelton,Edward J. Nell,2003 Is the theory of money that underlies most modern macroeconomics well grounded What determines the value of a currency and how is the state's power over its currency related to its ability to stabilize prices and employment Charles Goodhart's classic paper The Two Concepts of Money Implications for the Analysis of Optimal Currency Areas which first raised these questions is reprinted here and the distinguished authors expand its line of argument and comment on its central themes The issues discussed are of fundamental importance in contemporary monetary theory and policy The State the Market and the Euro presents two sharply contrasting theories of money Chartalist and Metallist and the resulting equally sharply contrasting approaches to macroeconomic policy Academic monetary financial and political economists will find this book of great interest as will policymakers financial analysts and journalists Directory of Published Proceedings ,2003 Aegaeum ,1987
