The Fiction of 'State Contract' in the Energy Industry Darya Shirokova, 2025-09-23 International Arbitration Law Library Contracts designed expressly to accommodate foreign energy investment and protect companies rights underlie most investor State arbitrations when disputes over energy exploration facilities or distribution arise But do the parties really use such state contracts as a protection tool This book analyses whether signing of a state contract can be deemed the safest and most predictable way for a private party to protect its interests vis vis a host state in the energy field The author shows that because the actual level of protection is ultimately measured by how the contract is interpreted and by the outcome of a dispute the state contract concept has become obsolete Drawing on recent historical and contemporary sources primarily an empirical analysis of 501 energy contracts concluded between 1990 and 2020 between States and private parties the book approaches the topic in the following sequence the notion of state contract and its theoretical background the frequency of use of the concept in energy contracts and the circumstances under which these contracts tend to be concluded and the interpretation of the concept by arbitrators trained in different legal traditions and applying different laws The contracts are examined via their regional economic and political characteristics revealing notably distinctive interpretations among the Middle East and North Africa MENA region the Latin American States and the countries of the former Soviet Union as well as according to each private party s characteristics and the legal tradition relied upon in the arbitrations that ensue Despite today s much desired energy transition there is little doubt that the continuing use of conventional energy sources in the mid term future means that energy companies will keep looking for new oil and gas deposits For this reason this systematic and informative study will serve as a practical guide for energy contract drafters in house counsel arbitrators government officials and other professionals concerned with energy related disputes arising between states and private parties today Journal of Northwest Atlantic Fishery Science ,1980      Universities and Innovation Economies Peter Murphy,2016-02-24 Students drop out of universities in large numbers many graduate to jobs that do not require a degree and a large number learn little at university whilst graduate salaries have shrunk over time and student loan debt and default have grown University research achievements have declined while university administration has expanded massively The contemporary university is mired in auditing regulation waste and aimlessness and its contribution to serious social innovation has deteriorated markedly The miserable state of the universities reflects a larger social reality as bureaucratic capitalism has replaced creative capitalism Universities and Innovation Economies examines the rise and fall of the mass university and post industrial society considering how we might revitalize economic and intellectual creativity Looking to a much more inventive social and economic paradigm to drive long term growth the author argues for a smaller leaner more effective university model one capable of delivering a greater degree of high level discovery and creative power A potent critique of the post industrial mass university that urges a reimagination of universities as places of discovery and invention this book will appeal to readers interested in higher education creativity social theory the sociology of work and organisations political economy pedagogy and public policy      Giant Oil and Gas Fields of the Decade, 1990-1999 Michel Thomas Halbouty,2003 Accompanying CD ROM contains a table of 877 giant fields and statistical and geologic information on sedimentary province settings of giant fields Page 4 of cover      The World's Water 2002-2003 Peter H. Wong,2002-06      Junior High School Library Catalog ,2007      Climate Change Muhammad Jameel,2004      Iowa's Counties ,2001      The Death of Management Jack Buffington,2009-06-22 Management as we know it has been the driver of business growth in U S economies for a couple of centuries Yet the practice of management is no longer focused on creating real value Instead it is now all about using sophisticated financial techniques and practices like outsourcing and downsizing among others to improve profitability Such addition through subtraction results in higher profits in the short term but puts the corporation and its employees at risk in the long term not to mention the entire U S economy Innovation and productivity improvement corporate manager Jack Buffington argues are lost arts in American business So is getting back to basics the answer Buffington s provocative thesis Management as we know it probably can t be repaired It must be replaced Asian economies meanwhile are growing by leaps and bounds thanks in part to short term ill advised decisions made by U S managers Local companies and divisions of multinational organizations in emerging countries are on track to eventually overtake those of the West putting our job base and prosperity at peril If we want to bring manufacturing jobs back here to the U S corporate managers must seek productivity and innovation improvements in U S operations Jack Buffington knows all too well how quickly things can go downhill for U S businesses Turned into a relentless cost cutter by the forces of globalization and Wall Street s expectations for short term gains he like thousands of other U S executives has watched some of the companies he s worked for disappear for want of real value Whereas America once prized managers who displayed skill in optimizing the interplay of capital labor and technology to grow a company today s professional manager is rewarded more often for being a cost cutter than an innovator Fortunately this book not only outlines the problem it outlines the solution as well by establishing a 21st century definition of management that will succeed in today s global economy Rather than angling to produce a penny more of earnings per share to please the financiers corporate managers will see once again how to use their ingenuity to produce products services and business processes that not only provide generous profits but sustain a business and its jobs for years to come By heeding Buffington s call the U S can rekindle its zeal for innovation leading to an era in which consumers workers investors and managers all prosper Review of International Affairs ,1986 Report on World Affairs ,1986 International Directory of Company Histories Jay P.
