Decision Making In Mental Health Review Tribunals:

Decision-making in Mental Health Review Tribunals Elizabeth Perkins, 2003 This study undertaken in 1997 and commissioned by the Department of Health examines how Mental Health Review Tribunals make decisions about whether or not to discharge patients detained under sections 2 and 3 of the Mental Health Act 1983 Disputes and Dilemmas in

Health Law Ian R. Freckelton, 2006 This book replaces the successful Controversies in Health Law Under the same editorship and much the same authorship it is substantially larger 30 chapters instead of 18 and correspondingly more comprehensive It retains the lively analysis and the focus on controversial and cutting edge problems The chapters are broken up into parts covering Litigation and Liability Reproductive Technologies The Sequelae of the End of Life Public Health Ethical Frameworks and Dilemmas Regulation Human Rights and Therapeutic Jurisprudence Research and Vulnerability and Information Privacy and Confidentiality They consider issues raised by new technologies changing legislation and altering community expectations by new regulatory processes for medicine and all of the health professions by the fundamental changes to civil liability for medical negligence by the fierce debate over the role of coroners Disputes and Dilemmas in Health Law covers questions on property in human tissue and on the ethical and legal aspects of the genetics revolution provides a modern take on old issues such as reproductive law takes account of changes relating to expert evidence and discusses how difficult cases in relation to psychiatric injury and wrongful life are pushing compensability to its edges Mental Health Review Tribunals , 1980 Rethinking Rights-Based Mental Health Laws

Bernadette McSherry, Penny Weller, 2010-08-16 Mental health laws exist in many countries to regulate the involuntary detention and treatment of individuals with serious mental illnesses Rights based legalism is a term used to describe mental health laws that refer to the rights of individuals with mental illnesses somewhere in their provisions The advent of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities makes it timely to rethink the way in which the rights of individuals to autonomy and liberty are balanced against state interests in protecting individuals from harm to self or others This collection addresses some of the current issues and problems arising from rights based mental health laws The chapters have been grouped in five parts as follows Historical Foundations The International Human Rights Framework and the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Gaps Between Law and Practice Review Processes and the Role of Tribunals Access to Mental Health Services Many of the chapters in this collection emphasise the importance of moving away from the limitations of a negative rights approach to mental health laws towards more positive rights of social participation While the law may not always be the best way through which to alleviate social and personal predicaments legislation is paramount for the functioning of the mental health system The aim of this collection is to encourage the enactment of legal provisions governing treatment detention and care that are workable and conform to international human rights documents Text and Materials on the Criminal Justice Process Nicola Padfield, Jonathan Bild, 2015-12-14

Highlighting key issues in Criminal Justice that students need to consider the Fifth Edition of this popular text contains a wide and varied selection of materials which help to explain the evolution of the criminal justice process in England and Wales since the early 1990s Statutes case law empirical research and official and unofficial reports as well as theoretical perspectives and academic comment are woven together and contextualized by the accompanying narrative to provide an authoritative account of the recent development of the criminal justice system Fully updated this Fifth Edition explores the issues around the introduction of Police and Crime Commissioners the contracting out of probation services the significant reforms to legal aid funding the challenges to trial by jury posed by the internet This book also helpfully directs students to further reading by chapter to provide next steps for research Written in an accessible style Text and Materials on the Criminal Justice Process is a valuable resource for students of criminal justice Exercising Discretion Loraine Gelsthorpe, Nicola Padfield, 2012-12-06 Although the exercise of discretion often plays a key part in decisions which are made within the criminal justice system definitions of discretion are not clear and despite widespread recognition of its importance there is much controversy on its nature and legitimacy This book focuses on the core elements and contexts of discretion looking at the power ability authority and duties of individuals officials and organisations to decide select or interpret vague standards requirements or statutory uncertainties Reconstructing Mental Health Law and Policy Nicola Glover-Thomas, 2002-07 A critical in depth analysis of the development of contemporary mental health law in its social and political contexts Judging Social Rights Jeff King, 2012-05-10 Countries that now contemplate constitutional reform often grapple with the question of whether to constitutionalise social rights This book presents an argument for why under the right conditions doing so can be a good way to advance social justice In making such a case the author considers the nature of the social minimum the role of courts among other institutions the empirical record of judicial impact and the role of constitutional text He argues however that when enforcing such rights judges ought to adopt a theory of judicial restraint structured around four principles democratic legitimacy polycentricity expertise and flexibility These four principles when taken collectively commend an incrementalist approach to adjudication The book combines theoretical doctrinal empirical and comparative analysis and is written to be accessible to lawyers social scientists political theorists and human rights advocates Tribunals on Trial Jill Peay, 1989 Based on an empirical enquiry into the operation of the tribunal system this study explains how decisions are made under the Mental Health Act 1983 from the initial application by a patient through descriptions of tribunal hearings to an examination of their deliberations Tribunals ,1999 Mentally Incapacitated Adults and Decision-making Great Britain. Law Commission, 1993 Criminology & Penology Abstracts ,1983 An international abstracting service covering etiology of crime and juvenile delinquency the control and treatment of offenders criminal procedures and the administration of justice Abstracts of journal articles and monographs Covermaterial from psychiatric literature as well as from criminological sources The Law Reports. Queen's Bench Division ,1995

Contemporary Issues in Law, 2001 Managing Anorexia Nervosa Terry Carney, 2006 Eating disorders comprise a diverse group which include anorexia nervosa bulimia nervosa binge eating disorder and other non specific eating disorders Recently the rising incidence of obesity in the population and in particular childhood obesity has attracted attention in western countries This book concentrates mainly on anorexia nervosa not in a vain attempt to find a representative eating disorder but because it encapsulates wider medico legal and socio ethical dilemmas around the use of coercion in the management of an often chronic and unresponsive condition especially in adulthood Mental Health Law Brenda Hale, 1990 The law is stated as at July 31 1990 but reference is made to forthcoming changes under the Children Act 1989 and the National Health Service and Community Care Act 1990 P v International Legal Books in Print, 1990-1991 Bowker-Saur, 1990 Mental Health Law Peter Bartlett, Ralph Sandland, 2000 Examining the legal structure of the mental health system this book explains the legal principles It places them in the context of their practical application the realities of patient life and the complexities of organising care Australian Current Law Reporter, 2004 Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 2005
