Deconstructing The Nation Immigration Racism And Citizenship In Modern France:

Deconstructing the Nation Maxim Silverman, 1992 Maxim Silverman analyzes the connection between racism and the development of the nation state in modern France He raises important questions about the nature of French society and contributes to the European debate on citizenship The Oxford Handbook of the Ends of Empire Martin Thomas, Andrew Thompson, 2018-12-06 The Oxford Handbook of the Ends of Empire offers the most comprehensive treatment of the causes course and consequences of the ends of empire in the twentieth century The volume s contributors convey the global reach of decolonization with chapters analysing the empires of Western Europe Eastern Europe China and Japan The Handbook combines broad regional treatments of decolonization with chapter contributions constructed around particular themes or social issues It considers how the history of decolonization is being rethought as a result of the rise of the new imperial history and its emphasis on race gender and culture as well as the more recent growth of interest in histories of globalization transnational history and histories of migration and diaspora humanitarianism and development and human rights The Handbook in other words seeks to identify the processes and commonalities of experience that make decolonization a unique historical phenomenon with a lasting resonance In light of decades of historical and social scientific scholarship on modernization dependency neo colonialism failed state architectures and post colonial conflict the obvious question that begs itself is when did empires actually end In seeking to unravel this most basic dilemma the Handbook explores the relationship between the study of decolonization and the study of globalization It connects histories of the late colonial and post colonial worlds and considers the legacies of empire in European and formerly colonised societies The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe Rita Chin, 2019-06-11 From the influx of immigrants in the 1950s to contemporary worries about refugees and terrorism The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe examines the historical development of multiculturalism on the Continent Rita Chin argues that there were few efforts to institute state sponsored policies of multiculturalism and those that emerged were pronounced failures virtually from their inception She shows that today s crisis of support for cultural pluralism isn t new but actually has its roots in the 1980s Chin looks at the touchstones of European multiculturalism from the urgent need for laborers after World War II to the public furor over the publication of The Satanic Verses and the question of French girls wearing headscarves to school While many Muslim immigrants had lived in Europe for decades in the 1980s they came to be defined by their religion and the public s preoccupation with gender relations Acceptance of sexual equality became the critical gauge of Muslims compatibility with Western values The convergence of left and right around the defense of such personal freedoms against a putatively illiberal Islam has threatened to undermine commitment to pluralism as a core ideal Chin contends that renouncing the principles of diversity brings social costs particularly for the left and she considers how Europe might construct an effective political engagement with its varied population Publisher web site Nation and Identity in Contemporary Europe Brian Jenkins, Spyros A.

Sofos,2003-09-02 The resilience of nationalism in contemporary Europe may seem paradoxical at a time when the nation state is widely seen as being in decline The contributors of this book see the resurgence of nationalism as symptomatic of the quest for identity and meaning in the complex modern world Challenged from above by the supranational imperatives of globalism and from below by the complex pluralism of modern societies the nation state in the absence of alternatives to market consumerism remains a focus for social identity Nation and Identity in Contemporary Europe takes a fully interdisciplinary and comparative approach to the national question Individual chapters consider the specifics of national identity in France Germany Britain Italy Iberia Russia the former Yugoslavia and Poland while looking also at external forces such as economic globalisation European supranationalism and the end of the Cold War Setting current issues and conflicts in their broad historical context the book reaffirms that nations are not natural phenomena but constructed forms of social identity whose future will be determined in the social arena Cinema and the Republic Jonathan Ervine,2013-05-15 This book analyses contemporary French films by focussing closely on cinematic representations of immigrants and residents of suburban housing estates known as banlieues It begins by examining how these groups are conceived of within France s Republican political model before analysing films that focus on four key issues Firstly it will assess representations of undocumented migrants known as sans papiers before then analysing depictions of deportations made possible by the controversial double peine law Next it will examine films about relations between young people and the police in suburban France before exploring films that challenge clichés about these areas The conclusion assesses what these films show about contemporary French political cinema Introduction Chapter One Cinema and the Republic Chapter Two The Sans papiers on Screen Contextualising Immigrant Experiences in Film Chapter Three Double peine The Challenges of Mobilising Support for Foreign Criminals via Cinema Chapter Four Challenging or Perpetuating Clichés Young People and the Police in France s Banlieues Chapter Five Challenging Stereotypes about France s Banlieues by Shifting the Focus Conclusion Notes Filmography and Bibliography Index Postcolonial Thought in the French Speaking World Charles Forsdick,David Murphy,2022-04-01 In the late 1990 s Postcolonial Studies risked imploding as a credible area of academic enquiry Repeated anthologization and an overemphasis on the English language literatures led to sustained critiques of the field and to an active search for alternative approaches to the globalized and transnational formations of the post colonial world In the early twenty first century however postcolonial began to reveal a new openness to its comparative dimensions French language contributors to postcolonial debate such as Edouard Glissant and Abdelkebir Khatibi have recently risen to greater prominence in the English speaking world and there have also appeared an increasing number of important critical and theoretical texts on postcolonial issues written by scholars working principally on French language material It is to such a context that this book responds Acknowledging these shifts this volume provides an essential tool for students and scholars outside French departments seeking a way into the study of Francophone colonial postcolonial debates At the same time it supplies scholars in French with a comprehensive overview of essential ideas and key intellectuals in this area

Transnational French Studies Charles Forsdick, Claire Launchbury, 2023-10-01 The contributors to Transnational French Studies situate this disciplinary subfield of Modern Languages in actively transnational frameworks The key objective of the volume is to define the core set of skills and methodologies that constitute the study of French culture as a transnational transcultural and translingual phenomenon Written by leading scholars within the field chapters demonstrate the type of inquiry that can be pursued into the transnational realities both material and non material that are integral to what is referred to as French culture The book considers the transnational dimensions of being human in the world by focussing on four key practices which constitute the object of study for students of French language and multilingualism the construction of transcultural places and the corresponding sense of space the experience of time and transnational subjectivities The underlying premise of the volume is that the transnational is present and has long been present throughout what we define as French history and culture Chapters address instances and phenomena associated with the transnational from prehistory to the present opening up the geopolitical map of French studies beyond France and including sites where communities identified as French have formed

Shaping Race Policy Robert Lieberman, 2011-06-27 Shaping Race Policy investigates one of the most serious policy challenges facing the United States today the stubborn persistence of racial inequality in the post civil rights era Unlike other books on the topic it is comparative examining American developments alongside parallel histories of race policy in Great Britain and France Focusing on two key policy areas welfare and employment the book asks why America has had such uneven success at incorporating African Americans and other minorities into the full benefits of citizenship Robert Lieberman explores the historical roots of racial incorporation in these policy areas over the course of the twentieth century and explains both the relative success of antidiscrimination policy and the failure of the American welfare state to address racial inequality He chronicles the rise and resilience of affirmative action including commentary on the recent University of Michigan affirmative action cases decided by the Supreme Court He also shows how nominally color blind policies can have racially biased effects and challenges the common wisdom that color blind policies are morally and politically superior and that race conscious policies are merely second best Shaping Race Policy has two innovative features that distinguish it from other works in the area First it is comparative examining American developments alongside parallel histories of race policy in Great Britain and France Second its argument merges ideas and institutions which are usually considered separate and competing factors into a comprehensive and integrated explanatory approach The book highlights the importance of two factors America's distinctive political institutions and the characteristic American tension between race consciousness and color blindness in accounting for the curious pattern of success and failure in American race policy

Reproducing the French Race Elisa Camiscioli, 2000

of Difference Suzanne Shanahan,1997 Re-imagining the Nation Mette Zølner,2000 Why are national identities imagined in one way rather than in another The book analyses national imaginations as an on going reconstruction process in a political and social context in which several imaginations of the nation struggle to impose their conception Focusing on a fundamental element of any collective identity namely the Other the book looks at the reconstruction of national identities by actors in political debates on immigration in the late 1980s and 1990s particularly associations and political clubs which were in favour of and against the presence of immigrant minorities in their respective countries Thus the book investigates different ways of imagining the same nation in two old European nation states namely France and Denmark which differ with regard to their nation building processes their Second World War history their memory of colonialism and their experience of immigration It is thus possible to illustrate that existing ideas of the nation and memories of historical events shape the way in which the nation could be re imagined in the 1980s and 1990s The Construction of Minority Identities in France and Britain Gino G. Raymond,Tariq Modood,2007-11-09 Britain and France have divergent attitudes to the issue of minority identities Whilst the British emphasise multiculturalism allowing that it is possible to combine race or faith with a British identity the French view such a combination of religion and nationality as unacceptable However recent events have challenged these traditional approaches to minorities The London bombings of July 2005 and the fact that the perpetrators were British threw into question the assumption that the elevation of difference could lead to community cohesion whilst riots in Birmingham in October 2005 between black and Asian communities further highlighted tensions Similarly French certainties about their proactive attitude to the integration of minorities into a national community unified by common value were profoundly shaken by rioting in urban areas Race and War in France Richard Standish Fogarty,2002 Becoming Secular? Naomi Davidson,2007 European Integration and Immigration from Third Countries Grete Brochmann,1996 With the advent of a unified European market immigration issues have become a high priority on the political agenda Formerly a marginal topic immigration has developed into one of the most central and complicated issues of the European Union EU The immigration quandary typifies a general dilemma facing the EU countries as they struggle to reconcile national and international interests The EU countries want to establish a common internal market removing internal borders to promote competition and growth This book provides a thorough description and analysis of the dynamics between the EU member states and the Union and the preconditions for the development of a common immigration policy within the EU

Shaping the Public Sphere Rodney Dean Benson,2000 Indigeneity Patricia M. Sant,1999 Papers of Australian relevance by Pugliese Martiniello and Muecke annotated separately Mistaken Identities Cyril Levitt,Scott Davies,Neil McLaughlin,1999 Political Correctness refers to the initiatives of feminists multiculturalists and postmodernists to promote cultural sensitivity social inclusion and protections against harassment Though the media has covered its more salacious incidences over the past decade the dominant understanding of this controversy as a political war between a stodgy Right and a united Left is misleading In the past five years a new second wave of controversy over political correctness has presented a distinctive set of issues which has unveiled a core of enduring problems that strike at the heart of liberal democracy This book collects the work of seventeen authors all of whom situate themselves somewhere from the center to the left of the political spectrum and who challenge the view of political correctness as a simple square off between leftists and neo conservatives They examine the challenges posed by political correctness to individual rights universalism and equality and science and reason White City on the Red River Michael G.
