explores the relationship between architecture and philosophy through a discussion on threshold spaces linking public space with publicly accessible buildings It explores the connection between exterior and interior and how this creates and affects interactions between people and the social dynamics of the city Building on an existing body of literature the book engages with critical philosophy and discusses how it can be applied to architecture In a similar vein to Walter Benjamin s descriptions of the Parisian Arcades in the nineteenth century the book identifies the conditions under which thresholds reveal and impact social life It utilises a wide range of illustrated international case studies from architects in Japan Norway Finland France Portugal Italy the USA Australia Mexico and Brazil Within the examples thresholds become enhancers of social interactions and highlight broader socio political contexts in public and private space Architecture of Threshold Spaces perception emotion and affect in architecture how and why we feel the way that we do and the ways in which our surroundings and bodies contribute to this Our experience of architecture is an embodied one with all our senses acting in concert as we move through time and space The book picks up where much of the critique of architectural aestheticism at the end of the twentieth century left off illustrating the limitations and potential consequences of attending to architecture as the visually biased practice which has steadily become the status quo within both industry and education It draws upon interdisciplinary research to elucidate the reasons why this is counter productive to the creation of meaningful places and to articulate the embodied richness of our touching encounters A felt phenomenology is introduced as a more than visual alternative capable of sustaining our physical emotional and psychological well being By recognising the reciprocal and participatory relationship that exists between atmospheric affect and our phenomenological bodies we begin to appreciate the manifold ways in which we touch and are touched by our built environment As such Touching Architecture will appeal to those with an interest in architectural history and theory as well as those interested in the topic of atmospheres affect and embodied perception

The Practice of Narrative: Storytelling in a Global Context Michael Heitkemper-Yates, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Interdisciplinary Press in 2016 Story can have a power and presence that stretches beyond the vast unspeakable boundaries of time and space and yet story can also have a delicate impermanence that lasts no longer than a moment before it flashes back into the void Some stories can bring people together other stories can tear entire civilisations apart Stories express and enliven experience stories project and describe the desires and anxieties of existence Stories can be narrated through written word and physical gesture through graphic illustration and musical orchestration through the spatial dynamics of architecture and the abstract poetics of conjecture For these and myriad other reasons storytelling and narrative are central to humanity and the study of these practices is central to an understanding of what it means to be human In this volume the many narrative dimensions media and critical approaches to storytelling are explored with the common intention of comprehending and appreciating the global role that story plays in the articulation of human experience
