Defeat Of Solidarity Anger And Politics In Postcommunist Europe:

The Defeat of Solidarity David Ost, 2006 How did the fall of communism and the transition to capitalism in Eastern Europe affect the people who experienced it Informed by years of fieldwork in Polish towns interviews with workers and politicians and reading of primary sources Ost s book gives voice to those who have not been heard and Postcommunist States Gerald M. Easter, 2012-09-18 The postcommunist transitions produced two very different types of states The contractual state is associated with the countries of Eastern Europe which moved toward democratic regimes consensual relations with society and clear boundaries between political power and economic wealth The predatory state is associated with the successors to the USSR which instead developed authoritarian regimes coercive relations with society and poorly defined boundaries between the political and economic realms In Capital Coercion and Postcommunist States Gerald M Easter shows how the cumulative result of the many battles between state coercion and societal capital over taxation gave rise to these distinctive transition outcomes Easter's fiscal sociology of the postcommunist state highlights the interconnected paths that led from the fiscal crisis of the old regime through the revenue bargains of transitional tax regimes to the eventual reconfiguration of state society relations His focused comparison of Poland and Russia exemplifies postcommunism's divergent institutional forms. The Polish case shows how conflicts over taxation influenced the emergence of a rule of law contractual state social market capitalism and civil society The Russian case reveals how revenue imperatives reinforced the emergence of a rule by law predatory state concessions style capitalism and dependent society with Social Change Adam Mrozowicki, 2011 Manual workers tend to be represented as disoriented victims of post socialist transformation but how can such an approach explain the diversity of the actual ways of coping with social change adopted by workers in the new capitalist reality To address this question the author turns to workers themselves to their life strategies and personal experiences He reconstructs the processes of adapting to and resisting structural changes in working class milieus in one of the industrial regions of Poland Silesia The Transformation of State Socialism D. Lane, 2007-09-12 This book considers aspects of transformation of former state socialist countries social and economic outcomes forces in the transformation process problems of consolidation of the new regimes and other scenarios It also looks at alternative types of society that might replace state socialism particularly state capitalism and market socialism Social Movements in Post-Communist Europe and Russia Kerstin Jacobsson, Steven Saxonberg, 2015-12-22 This volume provides a much needed update on the state of civil society in post communist Europe and Russia more than two decades after the fall of the communist regimes The chapters offer new perspectives on social movement strategies in post communist Central Eastern Europe and Russia The chapters illustrate how social movements develop particular repertoires of action and contention which are better suited for their specific local contexts in the post communist setting In Russia and Poland the most popular and effective choices are using domestic and transnational legal opportunities judicial activism and litigation that complement the traditional lobbying and mass mobilization Human rights framing has become important in Hungary and the Czech Republic The chapters analyse various types of rights based activism that operate in otherwise prohibitive social and political environments thereby raising highly contentious issues such as animal rights environment and sustainability human rights women's rights and gay rights activism. The contributions richly illustrate the often surprising and multiple ways in which transnational discourses and norm pressure are received translated or resisted in the local contexts Finally the volume provides a novel reconceptualisation and offers new understandings of the relationships between the state and civil society in the post communist context This book is based on a special issue of East European Politics Elites and Identities in Post-Soviet Space David Lane, 2013-09-13 The dissolution of the communist system led to the creation of new states and the formation of new concepts of citizenship in the post Soviet states of Central and Eastern Europe The formation of national identity also occurred in the context of the process of increasing economic and political globalisation particularly the widening of the European Union to include the central European post socialist and Baltic States Internationally Russia sought to establish a new identity either as a European or as a Eurasian society and had to accommodate the interests of a wider Russian Diaspora in the near abroad This book addresses how domestic elites regional political and economic influenced the formation of national identities and the ways in which citizenship has been defined A second component considers the external dimensions the ways in which foreign elites influenced either directly or indirectly the concept of identity and the interaction with internal elites The essays consider the role of the European Union in attempting to form a European identity Moreover the growing internationalisation of economies privatisation monetary harmonisation dependence on trade also had effects on the kind of national identity sought by the new nation states as well as the defining by them of the other The collection focuses on the interrelations between social identity state and citizenship formation and the role of elites in defining the content of concepts in different post communist societies This book was originally published as a special issue of Europe Asia Studies Radical Left Parties in Europe Luke March, 2012-03-12 What has happened to the European radical left after the collapse of the USSR How has it reacted reformed even revived This new volume is one of the first to provide an overview of the main developments in contemporary European radical left parties those defining themselves as to the left of and not merely on the left of social democracy which are now an increasingly visible phenomenon in European party politics Unlike many of the existing studies it focuses on communist and non communist parties addresses their non parliamentary and international activity and takes a pan European perspective focusing on both Eastern and Western Europe March focuses on key contemporary left parties the nature of their radicalism and their ideological and strategic positions and overall addresses their current dynamics and immediate electoral prospects. The book argues that radical left parties are still afflicted by existential crises about the nature of socialism and the future of communist parties in particular is under threat The most successful left parties are no longer extremist but present themselves as defending values and policies that social democrats have allegedly abandoned focus on pragmatism rather than ideology and increasingly orientate themselves towards government Providing a significant contribution to existing literature in the field this book will be of interest to students and scholars of comparative politics political parties and radical politics Goodbye to All That? Dan Stone, 2014 Shows how the anti fascist consensus prevalent throughout Europe following World War II has been crumbling since the 1970s and how globalization deregulation the erosion of social democratic welfare capitalism in the West and the collapse of the Communist alternative in the East are leading to a social divisive politically dangerous rise of fascism that could threaten European Politics in Transition Mark Kesselman, 2006 Written by six prominent scholars European the peace of Europe Politics in Transition presents a stimulating and comprehensive introduction to the political systems of post World War II Great Britain France Italy Germany Eastern Europe and the European Union Four key themes economic management relationships between countries the challenges of democracy and the political impact of social diversity are used to illustrate the concept of politics in transition within each country and on a global level Democratic Transition and Democratic Consolidation in Slovenia Jure Vidmar, 2008 The study examines the democratization in Slovenia and compares it to democratization processes elsewhere drawing patterns upon not only other post communist democratizations but also upon general patterns in other third wave democratizations. The book begins with a theoretical overview the problem of defining democracy democratic transition and democratic consolidation It proceeds to an examination of the historical political and economic factors relevant for the democratization The transition is explained from Yugoslav Slovenian and external aspects where foundations for patterns in Slovenian democratization are sought The consolidation is examined on the institutional level and on the level of the actors In the concluding analysis the indicators of democratic consolidation are examined in a comparative perspective and applied to Slovenia Continuity and Change in Social Life Kazimierz M. Słomczyński, Sandra T. Marguart-Pyatt, 2007 Capital & Class ,2007 Trade Unionism Since 1945 Craig Phelan, 2009 Overview This book offers the detailed historical background required for a holistic appreciation of current problems faced and the possibilities for revitalisation In two volumes it provides introductory overviews of trade union development since the end of World War II in 26 countries from every corner of the globe Each chapter explains the main contours of trade union growth and development in one country from the pivotal year 1945 to the present Each chapter assesses the often dynamic expansion of trade unionism in the 1950s and 1960s the role of trade unionism in the movements for national liberation in the Global South and the erection of social welfare systems in the developed North the economic shocks that resulted in membership decline and loss of political influence from the late 1970s onward the economic restructuring and growing labour market diversity of the 1980s and 1990s that undercut the traditional bases of trade union membership and the historical roots of the contemporary political and economic context in which revitalisation efforts are taking place Performing the 'New' Europe Karen Fricker, Milija Gluhovic, 2013-05-13 Bringing together the voices of scholars from Europe and North America with those of key contest stakeholders Performing the New Europe Identities Feelings and Politics in the Eurovision Song Contest argues that this popular music competition is a symbolic contact zone between European cultures an arena for European identification in which both national solidarity and participation in a European identity are confirmed and a site where cultural struggles over the meanings frontiers and limits of Europe are enacted This exciting collection explores the ways in which European artists perform disavow and contest their racial national and sexual identities in the Eurovision Song Contest ESC and asks difficult questions about European inclusions and exclusions the contest reflects It suggests the ESC as an ever evolving network of peoples and places transcending both historical and geographical boundaries of Europe that brings into being new understandings of the relationship between culture space and identities New Left Review ,2005 Slavic Review ,2005 Transnational Actors in Central and East European Transitions Mitchell Alexander Orenstein, Stephen R. Bloom, Nicole Lindstrom, 2008 The editors of this volume contend that transnational actors have exerted a powerful influence in postcommunist transitions They demonstrate that transitions to democracy capitalism and nation statehood which scholars thought were likely to undermine one another were facilitated by the integration of Central and East European states into an international system of complex interdependence Transnational actors turn out to be the dark matter that held the various aspects of the transition together Leading scholars debate the role and impact of transnational actors and present a promising new research program for the study of this rapidly transforming region Between State and Nation Myra A. Waterbury, 2010-11-15 This book investigates the relationship between states and transborder ethnic groups in Eastern Europe It uses the case of Hungary which has long standing ties to the nearly three million ethnic Hungarians in neighboring countries to address why and how kin states take action on behalf of their ethnic diasporas and the consequences of that engagement for regional relations and domestic politics The book argues that it is not ethnic affiliation but elite political competition within a newly liberalized post communist party system together with European Union integration that both drives increased engagement with ethnic kin abroad and constrains its most dangerous forms Choice ,2005 The Nation, 2005
