selling book Blogs Wikis Podcasts and Other Powerful Web Tools for Classrooms provides real examples from K 12 teachers around the world who are at the forefront of bringing today's Web tools into their schools and to their students. This book is filled with practical advice on how teachers and students can use the Web to learn more, create more, and communicate better. This fully updated resource opens up a new technology toolbox for both novice and tech-savvy educators. Will Richardson provides clear explanations of specific teaching applications with how-to steps for teaching with Weblogs, Wikis, Really Simple Syndication (RSS) feeds, and aggregators, Social bookmarking, Online photo galleries, Facebook, MySpace, and Twitter. Updated with materials on Web publishing and information literacy, this invaluable handbook helps students and teachers use Web tools within the classroom to enhance student learning and achievement. Blogs, Wikis, and Podcasts, Oh My! Electronic Media in the Classroom Jeffrey Piontek, 2009-05-12 Offers teachers and school administrators practical suggestions for using blogs, wikis, and podcasts to organize and manage classrooms, aid in professional development, and help students achieve. Making the Most of the Web in Your Classroom Timothy D. Green, Abbie Brown, LeAnne Robinson, 2008 I have not seen a more teacher-friendly resource for using the Web in the classroom. The authors took both novices and experts into consideration. A must-have in every school. Elizabeth Alvarez, Math and Science Coach, Chicago Public Schools, IL. A user-friendly tool on many levels. I would recommend this book to media specialists, instructional technology teachers, and district coordinators for both content and technology. April DeGennaro, Gifted Education Teacher, Peeples Elementary School, Fayetteville, GA. Translate Web technology into practical applications for the daily curriculum. Designed for novices and experienced users, this comprehensive guide includes all the need-to-know aspects of using the World Wide Web to support student learning. Making the Most of the Web in Your Classroom covers the language of the Web, describes Web editing software, and shows how to use Web tools that offer unique learning opportunities for students. This book examines issues of student safety, appropriate netiquette, and copyright and other legal considerations, and provides field-tested strategies, examples, and reproducibles to help teachers create powerful learning opportunities. Educators will be able to meet ISTE, NETS technology and content standards as they design and build Web sites. Help students develop their own Internet projects. Evaluate and manage Web projects. Featuring a list of key terms in each chapter, this timely resource will motivate your students and help make technology a seamless part of your classroom instruction. Blogs and Wikis David Kent, 2018-05-29 Blogs and wikis are different to other websites because they demand interaction. They revolve around information sharing and allow students to produce content rather than consume it and react to existing content and influence it. The authorship process gives students a sense of ownership and responsibility to the content that they develop for an audience as they work together as part of a learning community. They also teach students about personal learning environments and lend themselves easily to socio-constructivist models of teaching and learning while providing an avenue for differentiation and the tailoring of instruction to student needs. Throughout this book, the manner in which blogs and wikis are developed is considered while taking into account their pedagogical promise when teaching English to speakers of other languages TESOL An overview of instructional strategies tasks and activities is provided along with considerations necessary for applying these tools successfully Also included are tutorials photocopiable material evaluation techniques and a comprehensive list of resources Student Blogs Anne Davis,Ewa McGrail,2017-01-10 How do students become successful writers and excited about writing Blogging or other online writing in your classroom can build literacies in all content areas by giving students the frequent writing practice that is missing in classrooms today Students have to write to get better at writing They need to write to an authentic audience real people who are interested in what they have to say and are willing to comment back and engage in further conversation Simply put they need practice time in interactive writing How might teachers do this This book is the answer to this question The book investigates blogs as digital spaces where students can practice writing and converse with an authentic audience It focuses on idea development and gives students voice Today s students already occupy or will inhabit new online spaces in the future Schools and teachers must move forward with the students and embrace this world across the curriculum in purposeful and creative ways This will transform schools and teacher classrooms Educational Blogs and Their Effects on Pupils' Writing Myra Barrs,Sarah Horrocks,2014

Using Blogging to Impact Students' and Teachers' Attitudes Toward Writing in the Elementary Classroom Carol Lindley,2016 The purpose of this project was to introduce technology into my journal writing curriculum This project involved 26 third grade students in an elementary school setting I engaged my students in the writing process by introducing them to blogging with the Kidblog website I observed to see the ways blogging has the potential to increase my students desire to write and in turn become better writers Furthermore I hoped it would create a more positive outlook on writing for me as the teacher My goal was to show that using a new tool incorporating technology for a journal writing curriculum can be a fun process for students The studied showed through quantitative and qualitative data that blogging does have a positive impact on my students journal writing curriculum Additionally it was determined that through blogging I also experienced a positive writing curriculum experience I was more involved with the monitoring by viewing their entries online which allowed me to increase my own enjoyment of their writing by using this specific technology It was a beneficial study that demonstrated technology impacts a writing curriculum in the classroom for student and teacher alike Learning on the Blog Will Richardson,2011-08-17 The author integrates expertise in law and education to provide a collaborative and positive process for teaching secondary students media literacy safety and etiquette
