Professional Practice 101 Andrew Pressman, 2021-05-30

Professional practice courses often suffer from a boring reputation but there's nothing dull about this updated cornerstone edition of Professional Practice 101 which renders accessible the art and science of contemporary architectural practice. With its unique focus on links between design thinking and practice, this third edition brings an inspiring and fresh perspective to the myriad issues involved in successful architectural practice. The process of providing architectural services in today's constantly evolving practice environment must be just as creative, intellectually rigorous and compelling as wrestling with design problems. In this new edition packed with invaluable advice from leading experts, Andrew Pressman bridges the knowledge and experience gap between school and practice, covering topics such as Ethics, social responsibilities and obligations to the environment, Design firm types, culture and leadership, Financial project and time management, Service and project delivery, leveraging emerging technologies, Entrepreneurial business models and business development, Legal issues including AIA contract document analysis, Collaboration and negotiating with clients and stakeholders, Practice based research. Students and early career professionals will discover the fundamentals they need to launch their careers as well as more sophisticated strategies that will allow them to thrive as their roles evolve and they assume increasing responsibilities. This engaging comprehensive primer debunks the myth that recent architecture graduates have little or no guidance to prepare them for business. Professional Practice 101 is a learning tool that will readily deliver the knowledge and background for success in current architectural practice. The Business of Architectural Practice D. Sharp, 1992-04-15. This book provides a practical and readable guide for architects keen to improve the running of their practice. The new edition includes details of recent developments including mergers and acquisitions, collateral warranties and the European single market.

Starting a Practice Simon Foxell, 2019-07-26. The second edition of the popular Starting a Practice: A Plan of Work is a fully revised and updated guide to planning, setting up and running your architectural practice. Mapped to the RIBA Plan of Work 2013, it approaches starting a business as if it were a design project, complete with briefing, sketch layouts and delivery. Comprehensive, accessible and easy to use, Starting a Practice provides essential guidance on the many issues involved in establishing a successful business, including preparing a business plan, choosing the right company structure, seeking advice, monitoring finances, getting noticed and securing work, and much more. The book is full of practical advice gained from the author's 30 years in practice but is aimed at starting up now in the second decade of the 21st century with its particular challenges and opportunities. It is invaluable reading for Part 3 students, young practitioners and those considering starting up on their own or wanting to consolidate an existing business. The Architect's Handbook of Professional Practice The American Institute of Architects, 2003. Get the latest information on issues affecting your profession. This annual update of the Handbook offers up to the minute tools and practical guidance that you can put to work in your practice today. The Business of Research Deborah Saunt, Tom Greenall, Roberta Marcaccio, 2019-06-17 Architectural research is being redefined in practice Whereas once the value of a piece of research was solely measured by the number of citations it received by fellow academics shifting funding models and new societal concerns are forcing academia to question its structure and this mode of evaluation At the same time a wave of practitioners and new types of institutions such as RMIT in Melbourne and the London School of Architecture LSA have been recasting architectural education and theoretical speculation within practice turning the traditional architectural studio into a learning environment that adopts and adapts academic models and starts to use architectural research as a potential source of business intelligence as a means for self generating future commissions and speculative opportunities that sometimes even shift the terrain of practice This new focus on research in practice is indicative of a profession redefining its relevance and scope This is destabilising the traditional roles of academia and practice by questioning their deep rooted separation and demanding a new definition of the term research with one that is relevant to both parties This issue features contributions from architectural thinkers researchers and a number of practitioners who are recasting academic speculation within their own studios This not only redefines what is meant by research and what forms it takes but also how it creates value for them their clients for the discipline as a whole and for the ultimate users of their designs This helps us to understand how research might be deemed valuable beyond a purely academic context Moreover it raises significant questions in terms of opportunities and risks that arise when research is recast into the less regimented realm of practice Contributors Daniel Davis Lionel Devlieger David Green Harriet Harris Rory Hyde Lara Kinneir James Soane Ziona Strelitz Leon van Schaik John Zhang Featured architects Assemble DSDHA Foster Partners Iredale Pedersen Hook OMA Public Practice and Superflux

Starting a Practice Simon Foxell, 2006 A guide to the myriad issues and key steps to take in the process It explains the different forms of practice where to set up your office how to draw up your business plan what professional advice to seek and the hurdles to clear to incorporate the firm Written by a highly respected architect who has made a success of starting his own architecture business Guide to Starting a Practice is a comprehensive straightforward and completely up to date guide to the myriad issues and key steps to take in the process As with any new business the decision to go it alone is laden with uncertainty risk that can be countered in part by being properly informed Fundamental advice for business success that asks realistic questions of you and your plan precedes the more practical aspects of starting a practice The book explains the different forms of practice where to set up your office how to draw up your business plan what professional advice to seek and the hurdles to clear to incorporate the firm Once properly set up the book considers how to run the business look after your finances deal with staff get noticed and win work Starting a Practice is an essential first point of reference for all architects considering setting up their own business
