Speaking in Tongues and Dancing Diaspora Mae G. Henderson, 2014-05-07 The oral tradition has always played an important role in African American literature ranging from works such as Zora Neale Hurston s Their Eyes Were Watching God to Toni Morrison s Beloved These and countless other novels affirm the power of sonance and sound in the African American literary canon Considering the wide swath of work in this powerful lineage in addition to its shared heritage with performance Mae G Henderson deploys her trope of speaking in tongues to theorize the preeminence of voice and narration in black women s literary performance through her reconstruction of a fundamentally spiritual practice as a critical concept for reading black women s writing dialogically and intertextually The first half of the book is devoted to influential works of fiction as Henderson offers a series of spirited attentive readings of works by Zora Neale Hurston Alice Walker Sherley Anne Williams Toni Morrison Gayl Jones and Nella Larsen The second half shifts gears to consider the world of female African American performance most notably in the figures of Josephine Baker and the video dancer Drawing on the trope of dancing diaspora Henderson proposes a model of theorizing based on performing testimony and critical witnessing Throughout the book Henderson draws on a history of black women not only in the Pentecostal Holiness Church but also within the traditions of classical Christian African and black diasporic spirituality and performance Ultimately Speaking in Tongues and Dancing Diaspora provides a deeply felt reflection on race and gender and their effects within the discourses of speaker listener and audience performer

Cultural Migrations and Gendered Subjects Silvia Castro-Borrego, Maria Isabel Romero Ruiz, 2011-01-18 The present volume explores through cultural and literary representations the contributions of women to the construction of knowledge in an ever changing global world as migrant subjects The essays contained in this book also focus on the female body as a site of physical violence and abuse fighting prevalent stereotypes about women s representations and identities This collection intends to enter a forum of discussion in which the colonial past serves as a point of reference for the analysis of contemporary issues Women s strategies for building possible identities are seen to be based on their own experiences seeking the ways in which the public marking and marketing of the female body within the western male imaginary contributes to the making of women s social and personal identities The different articles contained in this volume examine issues of gender and boundaries the realities of women as colonial and postcolonial subjects and darker realities such as alienation and discrimination as a result of migration racism and colonization analysed through a variety of critical perspectives The gendered raced classed dimensions and mixed heritages not only of white women but also of women of the African Diaspora these are important issues for the construction of knowledge and identity in our present multicultural societies and can potentially change the ways we conceptualize situate and engage the humanities in our scholarly work and in our social and cultural policies These women their presumed sexuality and their capacity to produce hybrid subjects as well as their supposed irrationality make them a singularly disruptive figure in our contemporary world this interpretation has its roots in the treatment of women in colonial times especially when they were out of the margins of respectable society The volume is addressed to a wide readership both scholarly and those interested in investigating the dynamics of the social and cultural conceptualizations of our multicultural and multiethnic contemporary societies marked by the intercultural exchanges of migratory subjects from a gender perspective The Life of Language Sol Steinmetz, Barbara Ann
