Creating A Learning School:

Creating a Learning School David Middlewood, Richard Parker, Jackie Beere OBE, 2005-05-19 Improving the quality of learning and teaching is the most important thing that school leaders do This book contains much that will help the reader in that enterprise It reflects the fact that much of what we know about effective high quality schools is already out there in schools across the country The book mines that gold It is full of good sense a treasure chest of helpful ideas which have the credibility of being grounded in case study material and in the experience of the authors two of whom are practising headteachers The book sets out the principles underpinning the Learning School but offers also a strong pragmatic focus and is organized so that it can be dipped into and something worthwhile easily found It sets out practical and specific steps to creating the Learning School and will support change and improvement in the professional practices involved in making a school a stimulating learning environment for adults as well as students Dr Martin J Coles Assistant Director National College for School Leadership Clearly set out passionately and well written covering much material full of interesting insights as one might expect from two head teachers and an acknowledged expert in the field Lots of interesting thoughts and ideas written in an accessible style I would certainly recommend this book to my students ESCalate The schools of the 21st century cannot continue to apply the techniques of the 20th century New Learning dispenses with outdated preoccupations with tests targets and leadership from above and focuses on independence of learning and structural flexibility within schools The authors give a complete overview of how schools can adapt to meet changing needs They look at the teacher as learner learning outside the classroom and the nature of leadership in learning schools and provide practical solutions to the problems of staffing resourcing and assessment This book is an invaluable resource for all mid to upper level managers in schools anyone aspiring to these positions or anyone who takes a longterm view of the future of educational practice

Building School 2.0 Chris Lehmann, Zac Chase, 2015-07-31 Ninety five propositions for creating more relevant more caring schools There is a growing desire to reexamine education and learning Educators use the phrase school 2.0 to think about what schools will look like in the future Moving beyond a basic examination of using technology for classroom instruction Building School 2.0 How to Create the Schools We Need is a larger discussion of how education learning and our physical school spaces can and should change because of the changing nature of our lives brought on by these technologies Well known for their work in creating Science Leadership Academy SLA a technology rich collaborative learner centric school in Philadelphia founding principal Chris Lehmann and former SLA teacher Zac Chase are uniquely qualified to write about changing how we educate The best strategies they contend enable networked learning that allows research creativity communication and collaboration to help prepare students to be functional citizens within a modern society Their model includes discussions of the following key concepts Technology must be ubiquitous necessary and invisible Classrooms must be learner centric and use backwards design principles Good technology can be better than new technology Teachers must serve as mentors and bring real world experiences to students Each section of Building School 2 0 presents a thesis designed to help educators and administrators to examine specific practices in their schools and to then take their conclusions from theory to practice Collectively the theses represent a new vision of school built off of the best of what has come before us but with an eye toward a future we cannot fully imagine Creating a Learning to Learn School Toby Greany,Jillian Rodd,2003-01-01 Creating a learning to learn school is a book for heads senior managers and teachers interested in developing better schools classrooms and learners It is based on two years of ground breaking research in 25 schools by over 100 teachers and many thousands of pupils The research explored a variety of approaches to teaching pupils how they learn and evaluated the impact on standards pupil motivation and teacher morale Creating a learning to learn school sets out what we mean by learning to learn why learning to learn is important today the implications of learning to learn for the government s educational reforms the Creating an Excellent School Hedley Beare,Brian Caldwell,Ross H. Millikan,1989

Creating the Schools Our Children Need Dylan Wiliam,2018-03-29 Research shows school improvement initiatives are most effective when they come from the district level rather than the state While there is no one solution to school improvement that holds true in every classroom every time there are two clearly identified aspects that improve the odds of school success implementing a curriculum focused on developing knowledge and supporting a culture where every teacher improves In Creating the Schools Our Children Need Dr Dylan Wiliam outlines a framework for evaluating new district initiatives and guides school boards administrators and district leaders through a breakdown of why what we re doing right now isn t working and what we need to be doing instead Creating Learning without Limits Mandy Swann,Alison Peacock,Susan Hart,Mary Jane Drummond,2012-04-16 This book tells the story of how one primary school community worked to build a learning environment that is inclusive humane and enabling for everybody a place free from the damaging effects of fixed ability thinking and practices Drawing on compelling accounts of everyday life in the school it describes how in just a few years the school once in special measures grew into a thriving community with distinctive views of learning curriculum and pedagogy monitoring and accountability that found expression in every aspect of school life The work of the school community was guided by the findings of a previous project Learning without Limits Hart Dixon Drummond and McIntyre 2004 an empirical study of the classroom practice of individual teachers who had rejected the concept of fixed ability Creating Learning without Limits explores what becomes possible when the same ideas and principles are used creatively to guide and inspire whole school improvement This book is not simply a celebration of the success of the school it engages with the struggles and difficulties encountered by the staff as they set about learning to reshape pedagogy and curriculum by reference to their shared values of inclusion social justice and human educability It gives a detailed analysis of how the headteacher harnessed the power of collective action The insights generated by this study have enduring relevance and applicability to people in other contexts for staff groups craving for more equitable school improvement for individual teachers wondering how best to foster children's learning capacity for school leaders and teacher educators who find their values increasingly compromised Creating Learning without Limits takes on one of the most important issues in education today This is a must read for educators policy makers and parents alike Jo Boaler Professor of Mathematics Education Stanford University California Formerly a teacher and researcher at the Universities of London and Sussex This will undoubtedly turn out to be amongst the most important educational books of the decade If you want to know why the standards agenda must inevitably fail and what we might do instead read this book Professor Michael Fielding Institute of Education University of London UK This is an inspiring and reviving book Anne Watson Professor of Mathematics Education University of Oxford UK This book provides a grounded demonstration of the importance of educational principles the most important of which is the understanding that each child's potential for learning is limitless I urge you to let it influence your thinking too Professor Andrew Pollard Institute of Education University of London UK The book deserves a really wide readership Professor Clyde Chitty Institute of Education University of London UK This book is slim in size but hefty in significance Barry Hymer Professor of Psychology in Education Education Faculty University of Cumbria UK A classic for our time it should be read by all who seek approaches to teaching and learning that are free from externally imposed views of ability and potential Professor Lani Florian School of Education University of Aberdeen UK This book could be the catalyst for the educational change that we are all praying for Julie Lilly Head Teacher UK

The Learning School Sue Davidoff, Sandy Lazarus, 2002 Addressing the challenge of developing effective schools in this daunting yet exciting period of transformation in South Africa this book aims to provide some insights and guidelines on how to proceed with school development The values at the heart of this book are those central to a democratic South Africa and include the exercise of basic human rights by all individuals a fair distribution of resources participative decision making access to necessary information on the part of people affected and accountability on the part of those in authority This is a handbook for principals teachers and other persons or groups interested in the holistic development of schools particularly within the context of a developing South Africa

Creating the Ideal School Albert Mamary, 2007-08-13 Creating the Ideal School is the only comprehensive guide available that provides all the tools necessary to create an ideal school There are many education books out there but most are specific to one aspect of school improvement and do not provide a systemic framework or a total approach This book does and it is based on expertise that was developed and implemented in a real school district with impressive results by author Albert Mamary Under the author's leadership an under achieving and troubled upstate New York school district was transformed into a nationally validated high performing school system and Dr Mamary was credited with creating the first and only comprehensive systemic framework for quality learning and school improvement This book will be of interest to teachers and administrators who are interested in making profound improvements in education
