Creative Crafts and Miniatures, 1985 Finding Caspicara Susan Verdi Webster, 2024 Caspicara was the most renowned sculptor of the eighteenth century Andean world Yet many works that are attributed to this Indigenous artist cannot be firmly documented as he is nearly absent in traditional archival records Susan Webster seeks to analyze not only the visual imagery and material culture of his many works but she also seeks to lay the foundation for understanding how scholars can revive the life and records of artists and other historical figures many of whom were Indigenous in this period with different methodologies By cultivating artistic theory popular religious devotion and specific styles of sculpture Webster s examination of the labor and workshop practices of this period contextualize the extensive commercial networks that existed within Quito and emanated beyond it Webster explores the reason why authors constructed an almost completely fictional life story and canon for this artist that continued for two centuries how this story fueled the agendas and goals of these authors in melding the colonial past with a newly independent country that could measure itself against western

European culture and as a potent story for tourists She then considers the ways in which Caspicara's work was at the center of debates of sculpture versus painting in Quito These debates and their development in the city also add context to notions of authorship and how it was documented or not By exploring the professional world where he worked Webster's analysis of Indigenous sculptors and their family networks of labor and apprenticeship in the arts allow us to understand the changing workforce and materials for sculptures This analysis also reveals what day to day life may have been for Caspicara and how this routine informed the artistic choices available to him Archival materials indirectly offer glimpses into how patrons regarded Caspicara and his work and how the work of others later embellished or altered his original vision Throughout the chapters' visuality materials and reception challenge the typical obsession of art historians museum curators and auction houses in their hunger to attribute authorship in ways that increase the value both for prestige and monetary reasons and in ways that end up obscuring authorship and intent
