Craftsmen at Work John Norwood, Raymond Stark, 1977-01-01 Acts of Creation-Advance Copy Walt Harrington, 2014-04-11 For Acts of Creation award winning journalist Walt Harrington travels America searching for the magical nexus of craft talent and mastery that gives birth to a functional work of art and leaves its maker with a sense of satisfaction and achievement known well to fine craftsmen across the ages Acts of Creation Walt Harrington, 2014-04-11 This collection of profiles about great American craftsmen is itself the handiwork of a great American craftsman David Grogan This Old House Magazine For Acts of Creation award winning journalist Walt Harrington travels America searching for the magical nexus of craft talent and mastery that gives birth to a functional work of art and leaves its maker with a sense of satisfaction and achievement known well to fine craftsmen across the ages A builder of monumental fireplaces in Maine A cabinet maker in Maryland A millwright in Virginia A locksmith and a house framer in Ohio A hardwood floor man in Indiana A blacksmith in Illinois A stone carver in California Not one of the fourteen craftsmen and woman profiled believes he or she is working only to build a house to renovate a watermill to cast a plaster medallion Each imbues their work with grander purpose Michael Seward wants the people who buy his furniture to experience an emotional connection Chuck Crispin wants his clients lives to be evoked in his floor designs Charles Keller wants the highly educated world to appreciate the complicated genius of not only fine blacksmithing but all fine craftsmen The profiles in Acts of Creation help to reclaim the place of craftsmanship in a consumerist era that places higher value on profit and branding than it does on dedicated excellence These craftsmen offer not only lessons about craftsmanship but also about life Acts of Creation is a lovely collection of literary journalism written by a master of the form Walt Harrington s gracefully nuanced prose full of feeling and finely observed detail wonderfully conveys the world of craftsmen in all its artful integrity In the grand tradition of Tracy Kidder John McPhee and Joseph Mitchell Harrington offers us a fascinating and enduring homage to men at work Barry Siegel Pulitzer Prize winner director of the Literary Journalism Program University of California Irvine Acts of Creation is an example of what happens when a top notch writer laboring in solitude with purity of purpose puts the right words in the right order Madeleine Blais Pulitzer Prize winner author of Uphill Walkers Portrait of a Family A compelling tribute to Americans who work with their hands and hearts Pete Earley author Crazy A Father s Search Through America s Mental Health Madness The Virtual Workplace Magid Igbaria, Margaret Tan, 1998-01-01 The Virtual Workplace explores the forces that are driving the virtual workplace and the consequential issues and problems that will influence it social issues legal concerns and performance compensations The Craftsman Gustav Stickley, 1916 An illustrated monthly magazine in the interest of better art better work and a better more reasonable way of living Decisions and Orders of the National Labor Relations Board United States. National Labor Relations Board, 1974 The Craftsman Richard Sennett, 2009-02-05 Why do people work hard and take pride in what they do This book a philosophically minded enquiry into practical activity of many different kinds past and present is about what happens when people try to do a good job It asks us to think about the true meaning of skill in the skills society and argues that pure competition is a poor way to achieve quality work Sennett suggests instead that there is a craftsman in every human being which can sometimes be enormously motivating and inspiring and can also in other circumstances make individuals obsessive and frustrated The Craftsman shows how history has drawn fault lines between craftsman and artist maker and user technique and expression practice and theory and that individuals pride in their work as well as modern society in general suffers from these historical divisions But the past lives of crafts and craftsmen show us ways of working using tools acquiring skills thinking about materials which provide rewarding alternative ways for people to utilise their talents We need to recognise this if motivations are to be understood and lives made as fulfilling as possible

Berlanstein,2019-08-01 Originally published in 1984 In The Working People of Paris 1871 1914 Lenard Berlanstein examines how technological advances expanding industrialization bureaucratization and urban growth affected the lives of the working poor and near poor of one of the world s most influential cities during an era of intense social and cultural change

Berlanstein departs from other historians of the working classes in treating in a parallel manner not only craftsmen and factory laborers but also service workers and lower level white collar employees Avoiding the fallacy of letting the city limits set the boundaries of an urban study he deals also with the industrial suburbs with their considerable concentration of workers to examine the transformation of the work leisure and consumer experiences of the people who did not own property and who lived from one payday to the next during the Second Industrial Revolution The Working People of Paris describes a cycle of adaptation and resistance to the forces of economic maturation For several decades after 1871 Berlanstein argues working people and employees preserved accommodations with management about reciprocal rights in the workplace By the beginning of the twentieth century however these forms of adaptation had broken down under new economic pressures The result was a crisis of discipline in the workplace as wage earners and modest clerks began to challenge managerial authority Berlanstein s study confronts the widely accepted view that during this period workers became better integrated into a society of improving standards of living and mass leisure Instead he documents uneven patterns of material progress and growing conflict over work roles among all sorts of laboring people
