Craving And Salvation A Study In Buddhist Soteriology:

Craving and Salvation Bruce Matthews, 1983 Is there any escape from the awareness of pain and the bonds of an unending cycle of life Why are humans subject to craving What is the nature of human beings The Buddhist understanding of salvation is based upon such queries A thorough grasp of the function of craving in religious life is strategic to an understanding of Buddhism yet its role in the Buddhist plan of salvation is easy to oversimplify and misinterpret Matthews examines the concept of craving in Buddhism from both a phenomenological and religious perspective He brings to the task a critical examination of key canonical texts of the Sutta Pitaka Nikayas as well as extensive travel in research of the meaning of craving for contemporary Buddhists from learned monks to lay villagers Having established the Buddhist perspective on how craving arises how it affects the mind and how it can be redirected the volume concludes with spiritual implications of craving crucial to awareness and freedom emancipation is the engagement and harnessing rather than suppression of craving The volume will be of interest to students of Buddhism historians of religion and persons interested in basic human questions Prometheus Rebound Joseph C. McLelland, Canadian Corporation for Studies in Religion, 1988 Modern atheism is a further act in the ancient drama of Prometheus vs Zeus This book argues that the antagonism is false as proved by the irony in which atheism turns into antitheism transferring divine qualities to Humanity The drama is framed by the classical dilemma a conflict of wills Tyrant and Rebel The Unbinding of Prometheus is traced through Western history to the Enlightenment death of God both speculative Hegel and practical Marx Finally four types of idols are examined in which Prometheus is rebound Freud's Oedipus Nietzsche's Dionysus Camus Sisyphus and Sartre's Orestes The revision of both theism and atheism demands recasting Zeus and Prometheus breaking the impasse of heteronomy autonomy and omnipotence free will Only thus may we affirm Humanity without denying God Faith and Fiction Barbara

Pell, 2006-01-01 Is it possible to write an artistically respectable and theoretically convincing religious novel in a non religious age Up to now there has been no substantial application of theological criticism to the works of Hugh MacLennan and Morley Callaghan the two most important Canadian novelists before 1960 Yet both were religious writers during the period when Canada entered the modern non religious era and both greatly influenced the development of our literature MacLennan's journey from Calvinism to Christian existentialism is documented in his essays and seven novels most fully in The Watch that Ends the Night Callaghan's fourteen novels are marked by tensions in his theology of Catholic humanism with his later novels defining his theological themes in increasingly secular terms This tension between narrative and metanarrative has produced both the artistic strengths and the moral ambiguities that characterize his work Faith and Fiction A Theological Critique of the Narrative Strategies of Hugh MacLennan and Morley Callaghan is a significant contribution to the relatively new field studying the relation between religion and literature in Canada Obedience,

Suspicion and the Gospel of Mark Lydia Neufeld Harder, 2006-01-01 How do our social political and religious commitments influence our interpretation of biblical texts Are obedience and suspicion necessarily opposite ways to respond to the authority of the Bible Can one criticize and be transformed at the same time Lydia Neufeld Harder explores these questions from the vantage point of a scholar a feminist and a member of a faith community A hermeneutics of obedience rising out of the Mennonite theological tradition and a hermeneutics of suspicion advocated by many feminist theologians seem to represent opposite approaches to the Bible s authority The resulting polarization could easily have led to static definitions of authority and the subtle domination of those who differ from the majority However by focusing on the common theological concept of discipleship Harder has constructed a critical dialogue beginning a process of creative change in her own view of authority This new view opens the way for an interpretation of the Gospel of Mark A new appreciation of both the power and the vulnerability of the biblical text leads to a view of authority that embraces both suspicion and obedience in a dynamic interpretative process Collected Wheel Publications Volume 15: NUMBERS 216 - 230 various,2025-04-03 Collected

Fraser,2006-01-01

The Study of Religion in British Columbia is a story of enterprise innovation and isolation In this unique survey Brian J Fraser examines the history and development of the institutions of higher education where religion is taught and describes the methods used to understand the religious dimension of human endeavour in Canada s westernmost province Fraser analyzes the sources development and persistence of two distinct approaches to the study of religion in British Columbia theological studies and religious studies He traces the early strength and recent expansion of theological studies especially among conservative evangelical Christians and sets the creation of British Columbia s only department of religious studies at the University of British Columbia in this context He also describes the innovative curricula designed by several of the institutions for the study of religion in the province Finally he contends that the differing views on the nature of religion held by these institutions and their constituencies have led to a continuing isolation from each other The Study of Religion in British Columbia is the latest volume in the Canadian Corporation for the Study of Religion s series on the study of religion in Canada Readers interested in the rich diversity of personalities and perspectives that have shaped religious studies in British Columbia will find here a concise description of its evolution and a thought provoking examination of its significance A

moves against the grain of both traditional allegories and contemporary critical theory The study is culturally far reaching and takes issue with the relatively truncated theories of allegory in our time By scrutinizing other texts than the usual it discloses new possibilities for investigation The Journal of Japanese Studies ,1988 A multidisciplinary forum for communicating new information new interpretations and recent research results concerning Japan to the English reading world The Christ and the Faiths Kenneth Cragg,1987 The Ālayavijñāna in the Context of Indian Buddhist Thought William Stone Waldron,1990 A Salvation Audit Colin Grant,1994 The gospel of salvation will not be restored because it is promoted as a means of addressing social injustice or environmental devastation but only insofar as its own intrinsic significance is recognized Although the current promotion of social salvation identifies neglected dimensions of the gospel on its own this direction could further submerge the gospel in the anthropocentric technological horizon whereby God becomes another resource for people whose predicament so largely derives from a resource mentality Reactions against privatistic distortions of the gospel must not be permitted to obscure the importance of personal appreciation and appropriation The social thrust of the gospel and its personal impact depend upon the reality of the theological basis of salvation in the being and activity of God The significance of the Christian gospel of salvation is not primarily a matter of its usefulness but of its truth That truth is more a matter of otherness than other worldliness of directive than determinism of destiny than finality BOOK JACKET Buddhism Klaus K.
