All Y'all Heidi Siegrist,2024-11-11 The South is often perceived as a haunted place in its region s literature one that is strange deviant or queer The peculiar often sexually charged literary worlds of contemporary writers like Fannie Flagg Monique Truong and Randall Kenan speak to this connection between queerness and the South Heidi Siegrist explores the boundaries of negotiating place and sexuality by using the concept of Southernness a purposefully fluid idea of the South that extends beyond simple geography eschewing familiar ideas of the Southern canon When the connection between queerness and Southernness becomes apparent Siegrist shows a Southern branded queer deviance can not only change the way we think about literature but can also change Southern queer people s lived experiences Siegrist gathers a bevy of undertheorized writers from Kenan and Truong to Dorothy Allison and even George R R Martin showing that there are many queer Souths Siegrist offers these multiverses as a way to appreciate a place that is often unfriendly even deadly to queer people But as Siegrist argues none of these Souths from the terrestrial to the imaginary would be what they are without the influence and power of queer literature

The Crimson Path of Honor M.B. Tosi, 2013-01-29 In The Crimson Path of Honor the Civil War is over and a violent period known as the Indian Wars is erupting. Ignoring the danger a feisty young woman from Boston rebels against her tyrannical father's plans to marry her off to a family friend and she seizes an opportunity to go west to teach. On the way to the Oregon Territory her stagecoach is attacked and she is captured by a marauding band of Lakota Sioux Indians who call the Rocky Mountains home. Accepting her perilous situation the young woman courageously confronts the daily hardships inherent in early Native American life. At first treated like an outcast she eventually adapts to her circumstances and comes to respect the camaraderie of the Indians even falling in love with her captor. Over time she begins to challenge her abductor's traditional views on bloodletting and violence as the path of honor. Torn by her inability to justify her growing feelings for her captor in a culture of violence she continually wonders why God has abandoned her in such a desolate place. M. B. Tosi has done it again. This is the historical novel at its best, realistic, filled with tough issues against a background of conflict and unrest.

Americanisms Old and New John Stephen Farmer, 1889

SIREN Margaret Buckhanon, 2000-12-27 Detective Norelle Phillips is the first African American woman to serve on the police force in Nyack New York, a small upstate village. A twenty year veteran she postpones retirement to investigate the murder of a young man found dead in the town park. Detective Phillips and her partner Detective Henry Stark dig into what she assumes is her last homicide. At first it appears to be an isolated case but a month later a second stabbing victim is found. She links the murders together when a third man is also found stabbed to death in the park. All three young men had been in the company of an exotic long haired beauty just hours before their deaths. The investigation takes a twist when evidence reveals an unsolved crime committed twenty five years earlier may be connected to the murders. Her resolve to find the killers or killers leads her to a long list of suspects: an elusive drug dealer, an ex con, an unwed addict, runaway, a wealthy tycoon with powerful political ties to village government and a judge with a deadly secret. Norelle's unique combination of spunk and intuition come through in the end. Her determination is fueled by her anger and surprise at the heinous crime committed in her tranquil village of Nyack, a small town north of New York City that relies on tourism for its revenue. The town is unique with its combination of old world charm and big city attitudes.
