Creating Economic Order Recordkeeping Standardization And The Development Of Accounting In The A:

Creating Economic Order Michael Hudson, Cornelia Wunsch, Institute for the Study of Long-Term Economic Trends, 2004-01-01 The fourth volume in a series sponsored by the International Scholars Conference of Ancient Near Eastern Economies ISCANEE and the Institute for the Study of Long Term Economic Trends ISLET addresses the extent to which accounting practices actively shaped economic life This volume traces the aims and functions of accounting practices from early Uruk c 3300 B C down through the Neo Babylonian period as well as Egyptian practice Described are the accounting techniques that diffused from Sumer eastward to the Iranian plateau and to the northwest up the Euphrates through Syria and across the Mediterranean to Crete and Mycenaean Greece BOOK JACKET Handbook of Accounting in Society Hendrik Vollmer, 2024-05-02 The Handbook of Accounting in Society invites readers to consider the ways in which accounting affects organizations institutions communities professions and everyday life Diverse in its reach this Handbook campaigns for the need to reconsider our understanding of what accounting is and crucially what it can become The Sacred Economy of Ancient Israel Roland Boer, 2015-04-20 The Sacred Economy of Ancient Israel offers a new reconstruction of the economic context of the Bible and of ancient Israel It argues that the key to ancient economies is with those who worked on the land rather than in intermittent and relatively weak kingdoms and empires Drawing on sophisticated economic theory especially the Regulation School and textual and archaeological resources Roland Boer makes it clear that economic crisis was the norm and that economics is always socially determined He examines three economic layers the building blocks five institutional forms periods of relative stability three regimes and the overarching mode of production Ultimately the most resilient of all the regimes was subsistence survival for which the regular collapse of kingdoms and empires was a blessing rather than a curse Students will come away with a clear understanding of the dynamics of the economy of ancient Israel Boer's volume should become a new benchmark for future studies Introducing Money Mark Peacock, 2013-10-28 This book provides a theoretical and historical examination of the evolution of money It is distinct from the majority of economic approaches for it does not see money as an outgrowth of market exchange via barter Instead the social political legal and religious origins of money are examined The methodological and theoretical underpinning of the work is that the study of money be historically informed and that there exists a state theory of money that provides an alternative framework to the orthodox view of money's origins The contexts for analysing the introduction of money at various historical junctures include ancient Greece British colonial dependencies in the nineteenth and early twentieth century and local communities which introduce alternative currencies The book argues that although money is not primarily an economic phenomenon associated with market exchange it has profound implications amongst others economic implications for societies and habits of human thought and action Remaking Money for a Sustainable Future Ester Barinaga Martín, 2025-09-16 Engaging imaginatively with the future of money this book examines the real life efforts of grassroots movements and activists from across the world who are reclaiming power by designing organising and implementing complementary currencies

The Ancient Egyptian Economy Brian Muhs, 2016-08-02 This book is the first economic history of ancient Egypt covering the entire pharaonic period 3000-30 BCE and employing a New Institutional Economics approach. It argues that the ancient Egyptian state encouraged an increasingly widespread and sophisticated use of writing through time primarily in order to better document and more efficiently exact taxes for redistribution. The increased use of writing however also resulted in increased documentation and enforcement of private property titles and transfers gradually lowering their transaction costs relative to redistribution. The book also argues that the increasing use of silver as a unified measure of value medium of exchange and store of wealth also lowered transaction costs for high value exchanges. The increasing use of silver in turn allowed the state to exact transfer taxes in silver providing it with an economic incentive to further document and enforce private property titles and transfers.

Orientalia, 2005 An Enquiring Mind Paul G. Bahn, 2009 Alexander Marshack single handedly revolutionized the field of Paleolithic art research. His astounding photographs of portable art objects caused us to see them with fresh eyes to ask new questions and to understand their technology and production far more precisely and his pioneering use of infrared and ultraviolet light in the caves revealed startling new facts about the paintings. In addition he carried out important provocative and challenging work on archaeoastronomy, calendar sticks, female imagery and other topics. Alexander Marshack was able to do what nobody else ever had before or perhaps ever will again i.e. travel all over Europe visiting not only many decorated caves but also all the portable art objects scattered throughout the continent including Russia. This unique experience and knowledge together with his unrivalled and amazing documentation of all this material made him by far the USA's foremost specialist in Paleolithic imagery. To honor his memory in this book scholars from many parts of the world contribute papers about some of the many problems that interested him and to which he made such a massive contribution.

Aegaeum, 1987 Economics of Religion in the Mycenaean World Lisa Maria Bendall, 2007 The Mycenaean Linear B tablets include numerous references to religion such as details of offerings, banqueting foodstuffs or land tenure relating to cult personnel. While contributing significantly to our understanding of early Greek religion, the documents are exclusively economic and administrative records and the limitations of such sources have long been recognised. Few attempts have been made however to analyse the purely economic information about religion we do have in Linear B. Such analysis is essential to understanding the place of religion in Mycenaean palace society. This book asks a simple but important question: What proportion of the resources available to the palaces was directed towards support for religion? Price approx.

The Collapse of Palatial Society in LBA Greece and the Postpalatial Period Guy D. Middleton, 2010 The collapse of palatial society at the end of the Greek Bronze Age in c. 1200 BC has long been a subject of fascination and contention.

The Other Gods who are Wouter Henkelman, 2008 The Other Gods Who Are presents four larger case studies in Elamite/Iranian acculturation more specifically in the realm of religion and does so largely on the basis of the Persepolis Fortification Archive the richnesses of which had not been fully explored for this important subject Treating the debated lam sacrifice the Elamite Iranian background of the pantheon the role of the god Humban and the older background of Persian paradise the monograph aims to pave the way for a different understanding of Persian identity as a cultural construct that emerged in the Iranian highlands from a large scale dynamic in which the Elamite state as well as the Elamites of eastern Khuzestan and of the highlands played a pivotal part The four case studies are preceded by a survey and discussion of recent developments in Neo Elamite history and by a long introduction into the Persepolis Fortification Archive which can be used separately by scholars interested in this material Annotated translations of relevant Fortification texts are given in an appendix Indices of proper names text passages and Elamite and other ancient words complete the volume

The Indus Civilization Dharma Pal Agrawal, 2007 American Journal of Archaeology, 2006 Credit and State Theories of Money Alfred Mitchell Innes, 2004 In 1913 and 1914 A Mitchell Innes published a pair of articles that stand as two of the best pieces written in the twentieth century on the nature of money Only recently rediscovered these articles are reprinted and analyzed here for the first time In addition five new contributions analyze and extend the approach of Innes in a number of directions by including historical anthropological sociological archeological and economic analyses of the nature of money The original articles by Innes contained two quite different approaches to money what might be called the credit approach later developed in a much less satisfactory manner by J A Schumpeter and the state money approach also called Chartalist and adopted by J M Keynes and by G F Knapp This volume shows how the credit and state money approaches can be integrated to shed light on the origins of money but more importantly how they can be used to understand the way the modern money system operates In addition to the articles by Innes the volume contains chapters by John Henry Geoffrey Ingham Michael Hudson Geoffrey Gardiner and L Randall Wray An introduction by L Randall Wray and Stephanie Bell provides an overview and a short biography of Innes This authoritative collection of papers is a must read for economists policymakers and students interested in the history of economic thought monetary policy and economic theory Between the Aegean and Baltic Seas Ioanna Galanaki, 2007 Archiv Für Orientforschung, 2003 Actes de la Session International Statistical Institute, 1995 United States Naval Institute Proceedings United States Naval Institute, 1911 Bulletin de L'Institut International de Statistique, 1995 V 1 5 v 7 10 include Bulletin bibliographique
