Creating Environmental Policy In The European Union

Jan Oosthoek, Barry K. Gills

Creating Environmental Policy In The European Union:

Creating Environmental Policy in the European Union A. Zito, 1999-10-28 Investigates the EU policy making process and why this process has taken major steps to advance environmental regulation in some areas and not others The book develops a framework emphasizing decision making modes which provide a more nuanced understanding compared to traditional EU theoretical approaches of how EU actors make decisions

Environmental Policy in the European Union Andrew Jordan, 2012 This second and fully revised edition brings together some of the most influential work on the theory and practice of contemporary EU environmental policy Comprising five comprehensive parts it includes in depth case studies of contemporary policy issues such as climate change genetically modified organisms and trans Atlantic relations as well as an assessment of how well the EU is responding to new challenges such as enlargement environmental policy integration and sustainability The book's aim is to look forward and ask whether the EU is prepared or even able to respond to the new governance challenges posed by the perceived need to use new policy instruments and processes to mainstream environmental thinking in all EU policy sectors

Environmental Policy in the EU Andrew Jordan, 2012-04-27 This second and fully revised edition brings together some of the most influential work on the theory and practice of contemporary EU environmental policy Comprising five comprehensive parts it includes in depth case studies of contemporary policy issues such as climate change genetically modified organisms and trans Atlantic relations as well as an assessment of how well the EU is responding to new challenges such as enlargement environmental policy integration and sustainability The book's aim is to look forward and ask whether the EU is prepared or even able to respond to the new governance challenges posed by the perceived need to use new policy instruments and processes to mainstream environmental thinking in all EU policy sectors

Environmental Regulation in a Federal System Tim Jeppesen, 2002-01-01 An imaginative book that contributes significantly to the debate on regulatory federalism The even handed approach should appeal to a broad audience including academics policymakers and the general reader interested in the optimal institutional arrangements for the provisioning of public goods John A List University of Maryland College Park US In this important book Tim Jeppesen investigates environmental regulation in a federal system and addresses the underlying question of whether regulation should be decided centrally by EU institutions or de centrally by individual member states Whilst simple economic reasoning presumes that transboundary externalities require central solutions and local externalities need local solutions the author finds that the real answer is much more complicated

Environmental politics in the European Union Christoph Knill, Duncan Liefferink, 2013-07-19 This book provides a comprehensive introduction to the development making and implementation of European Union environmental politics and identifies the central areas and instruments of EU environmental policy It analyses the factors influencing not only the formulation but also the implementation of environmental measures in the complex multi level setting of the EU On this basis it takes a critical look at the EU's effectiveness and problem solving capacity in the environmental field. Designed as a textbook at undergraduate and graduate level, the book employs a clear and insightful analytical perspective based on the theoretical state of the art of EU policy studies. Thus it provides an overview of the major theoretical approaches available in the field. At the same time, the discussion is illustrated by a broad range of empirical findings with regard to the formulation and implementation of EU environmental policy. This study is an ideal companion for anyone seeking a concise and accessible introduction into EU environmental politics.

The European Union as a Leader in International Climate Change

Politics Rüdiger Wurzel, James Connelly, 2010-11 Explaining the origins and key institutions, this book provides an assessment of the European Union's leadership role in international climate change politics with case studies on Britain, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Poland, Spain, businesses and environmental NGOs.

The Globalization of Environmental Crisis Jan Oosthoek, Barry K. Gills, 2013-10-31 Previously published as a special issue of Globalizations, this collection of essays addresses what is arguably the most pressing and urgent issue of our day: the continuing development of global environmental crises and the need for new and urgent responses to them by the world community. The contributors include social scientists, environmental historians, anthropologists, and science policy researchers, and together they give an overview of the history of the globalization of environmental crisis over the past several decades, both in terms of the science of measurement and the types of policy and public responses that have emerged to date. The specific issue areas addressed in the book cover a wide range of topics, including international environmental governance, North-South inequalities, climate change, global warming, tropical forests, air pollution, economic and paradigm shifts, sustainability, indigenous peoples, and eco-conservation. EU environmental policy, the United States, and politicized climate science and more. The Globalization of Environmental Crisis will be of particular interest to all those concerned with the on-going debate over the state of the global environment and what to do about it.

Environmental Policy in the EU Andrew Jordan, Viviane Gravey, 2021-05-06 The European Union (EU) has a hugely important effect on the way in which environmental policies are framed, designed, and implemented in many parts of the world, but especially Europe. The new edition of this leading textbook provides a state-of-the-art analysis of the EU's environmental policies. Comprising five parts, Environmental Policy in the EU covers the rapidly changing context in which EU environmental policies are made, the key actors who interact to co-produce them, and the most salient dynamics of policy-making, ranging from agenda setting and decision-making through to implementation and evaluation. Written by leading international experts, individual chapters examine how the EU is responding to a multitude of different challenges, including biodiversity loss, climate change, energy insecurity, and water and air pollution. They tease out the different ways in which the EU's policies on these topics co-evolve with national and international environmental policies. In this systematically updated fourth edition, a wider array of learning features are employed to ensure that readers fully understand how EU environmental policies have developed over the last 50 years and how they are currently adapting to the rapidly evolving challenges of the twenty first century including the COVID 19 pandemic It is an essential resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students studying environmental policy and politics climate change environmental law and EU politics more broadly The Open Access versions of chapters 19 and 20 available at <https://doi.org/10.4324/9780429402333> have been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The Effectiveness of European Union Environmental Policy W. Grant, D. Matthews, P. Newell, 2000-10-25 Several hundred directives on environmental policy have been produced by the European Union What impact has the output of the legislative factory had After considering how decisions on environmental policy in the EU are made and the balance of power between business and environmental interests this book draws on the specialist expertise of the authors to look in depth at the areas of global warming water pollution and air pollution

Spatial Planning and the European Union Eva Purkarthofer, 2024-07-19 European Union policies are intertwined with all sectors of public administration and governance in the member states including spatial urban and regional planning Legal regulations like the Natura 2000 Directives funding programmes associated with EU Cohesion Policy or strategies such as the Territorial Agenda 2030 all leave their mark on planning yet with considerably different effects in Europe's cities and regions This book serves as a guide to navigate the connection points between EU policies and spatial planning by introducing the logics of EU policymaking and European spatial planning outlining the most important EU policies with relevance for spatial planning and presenting examples from Austria and Finland of how EU policies are applied in domestic contexts By exploring the Europeanisation of spatial planning from within the book acknowledges how differential ideas about what spatial planning is and what role the EU plays therein shape the actualised impacts of EU policies By providing a comprehensive perspective on the relevance of the European Union for spatial planning this book is ideal for students academics and administrators who want to grasp how the EU shapes and affects planning practice in Europe's cities and regions

Policy-making in the European Union Helen S. Wallace, William Wallace, 2000 This new edition of the established standard text on policy making in the European Union has been extensively updated and rewritten to take into account all the most important recent developments in EU affairs The new edition is even more comprehensive than its predecessor It now includes 15 case studies of European Union policy making in a range of different fields In addition there are updated introductory chapters on EU institutions and policy processes and a new chapter explaining the various theoretical approaches to the making of policy in the EU Major recent developments examined include the move to a single European currency the expansion of common activities in justice and home affairs recent initiatives to strengthen common foreign and security policy negotiations on eastern enlargement and efforts to reform the Common Agricultural Policy Core policy fields covered include budgetary policy trade competition and the Single Market Case studies of environmental policy social policy and north south relations illustrate the range and diversity of EU policy making Two entirely new case studies examine the common fisheries policy and the struggle to develop a common approach to biotechnology The expert contributors come from six EU member states and from the US

Environmental Policy in the European Union Governing in Nested Institutions and the Case of Packaging Waste Thomas Gehring,1996

EU Environmental Policy Handbook Stefan Scheuer,2005 The publication of this handbook will be interesting for everyone who will learn what the EU has done to protect the environment and to improve the quality of life in Europe and what can be achieved in future Well structured concise and forward looking the handbook describes the history and current status of EU environmental law but also looks to the future by analysing the strengths and weaknesses of the actions taken so far

Greening the EU - Actors, strategies and instruments Silke Lachnit,2008-09-25 Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject Politics Topic European Union grade 1.0 Abo Akademi Turku Finland Abo Akademi Turku Finland Department of public administration course policy processes in the EU language English abstract This paper is an attempt to give a broad and systematic outline to environmental policy in the European Union EU without discussing explicit or specific problems Environment is just one policy field among various others within the EU legislation and the EU is itself not an isolated and closed legislative body but rather to view it as a sophisticated and highly complex framework at a supranational level into a broader setting of international organisations and institutions on the one hand and national influences on the other hand To catch its formal complexity it is important to look to its origins The first steps toward EU integration related to economic issues with the creation of the European Coal and Steel Community ECSC and the Treaties establishing the European Economic Community EEC and finally the European Atomic Energy Community EURATOM in 1957 These three together came to be referred to as the European Community EC The creation of the single European market during the 1970s and the early 1980s symbolises the beginning of the EU integration process The term EU was not used before 1992 where it was introduced by the Maastricht Treaty on the European Union TEU which marks a substantial shift from negative to positive integration of the Member States into the EU framework 1 I will argue during the analysis that the creation of an economic community as the first step of integration had strong and significant long standing effects to the field of environmental policy in the EU According to Weale I will show that issue linkage and spillover effects have been characteristic to the development of EU environmental policy Weale et al 2005 53 Furthermore I will point out that this issue dynamic can be explained by the institutional setting of the EU which provides the ground for multi level governance which is based on a high complex system of vertical and horizontal linkages secondly the issue itself because environmental issues call for horizontal integration of policy areas and thirdly because of the interdependence of economic and environmental policy paradigm within the EU to justify environmental policy making

The Origins of Energy and Environmental Policy in Europe Thomas Hoerber,2012-12-12 This book examines the development of a European environmental conscience through successive steps of European integration in energy policy In the 1960s 70s the world was slowly beginning to realise that environment degradation was not sustainable With phenomena such as acid rain it became clear that pollution did not stop at national boundaries and the European environmental conscience developed in parallel to such growing environmental concerns The oil crisis in 1973 was a turning point in the integration process for both energy policy and environment policy and while further integration towards the European energy policy failed the environmental policies took shape in measures such as energy saving The Commission incorporated both energy and environmental policies into the EU policy canon and built an institutional framework responding to the insufficiency of national policy answers and the developing environmental conscience of the European people This book will be of interest to students and scholars of European Integration European Union politics and history and environmental politics and policy

Environmental Policy: International environmental policy Wolfgang Rüdiger, 1999 Copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Environment and the Nation State Duncan Liefferink, 1996 With the European Union's increasing powers its environmental legislation has grown rapidly This study investigates the dynamics of the Europeanization of environmental policy and concludes that the domestic environmental policies of relatively green member States are actually hardly affected The text focuses on policy making in the field of air pollution and acidification between the former European Community and one Member State the Netherlands Included in the text is a concise history of EC environmental policy an explanation of the theories of sovereignty European integration and power dependence and final commentary on the future of environmental policy in the European Union

Europeanization of Environmental Policy in Lithuania Andreas Schmidt, 2006-08-29 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject Politics Region Eastern Europe grade 1.0 University of Applied Sciences Bremen Institute of International Relations and Political Science course Governments and Politics in Lithuania language English abstract Environmental policy in Lithuania emerged after regaining independence in the beginning of the 1990s The young democracy had to build up a completely new legal system and institutions At the same time this policy field has already matured on the EU level as well as in its member states This paper focuses on the adaptation of Lithuanian environmental policy to the requirements of the EU and employs the concept of Europeanisation to explain changes Europeanisation as the term is used in this paper is concerned with the consequences of European integration for the member and applicant states and politics within them It is found that especially through the accession process it was easy to export EU rules and principles firstly because the pressure to adopt EU legislation was high and secondly because local elites were ready to take EU templates After an introduction to the topic the second chapter presents an overview over EU environmental policy whereas the third chapter focuses on Lithuanian environmental policy and the adaptations through the EU accession process Chapter four then employs the concept of Europeanisation to explain the impact of EU environmental policy on Lithuanian domestic policy making and its institutions
