Wooten, Parnell, 1997 Skills for Living is a comprehensive text designed to help you meet the challenges of daily life with confidence. It provides you with the basic information you need to balance work and family life in today's world. It will help you develop a range of skills related to interpersonal and family relationships, getting and keeping a job, management, healthy living, foods and nutrition, clothing, and housing. Introduction Leaving the Enchanted Forest Stephanie S. Covington, Liana Beckett, 2024-05-21 Advice and step by step guidelines for those seeking to recover from addictive relationships Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002 Creating Equitable Classrooms Through Action Research Cathy Caro-Bruce, 2007-08 Recognizing the importance of race, class, gender, culture, and ability, the authors provide a window into the difficulties that professional educators grapple with as they face the challenge of teaching all children. This text is both authentic and practical and it demystifies the issues of equity that pervade today's classrooms. Diane Yendol Hoppey, Associate Professor, University of Florida, Gainesville. Action research of this caliber on the subject of equity is critically needed for all children to have access to the same level of rigor and high standards. This is a must read for districts that really want to turn action research into action that affects student learning. Terry Morganti Fisher, Director of Professional Development, Austin Independent School District, TX. Utilize the power of action research to narrow the achievement gap. Despite the best intentions of reform efforts, educational inequity continues to exist in public schools. Creating Equitable Classrooms Through Action Research confronts this challenge head on and shows educators how they can use action research to both raise student achievement and strengthen instructional leadership. Ideal for both a first time action research endeavor or one already in progress, this practical guidebook helps practitioners formulate specific research questions, collect and analyze data, and communicate their findings. Educators will discover ten action research studies on narrowing the achievement gap. Guidelines for implementing an action research project that supports culturally relevant instruction. Authentic examples for discussion and reflection. Invaluable for school district leaders, teachers, professional development schools, and preservice teachers, this resource for systemwide improvement efforts helps schools provide more equitable learning environments for all children. Home-school Relations Mary Lou Fuller, Glenn William Olsen, 1998 In order for educators to have positive working relationships with the students they teach, they must understand the families from which their students come. This edited volume examines the nature of the contemporary family and its relationship to the school. It provides practical advice for developing strong home-school relationships. Initially, this text paints the various pictures of the modern family. In addition to covering the traditional topics of ethnic families, change in families, and parent-teacher communication, Fuller and Olsen and their contributors delve further into the issues facing families today: poverty, advocacy, fathering, and domestic violence, and their effect on families are discussed, opening new paths of understanding for educators. Diversity, cultural, racial, religious, and sexual orientation is discussed not only in a separate chapter but throughout the text to promote understanding of all students and their families. Unlike other texts in this field, Home School Relations confronts the alarming statistics on poverty and how it affects children and ultimately their performance in schools Home School Relations is the best text available to prepare educators for all the forms of diversity they will encounter in the field Beyond its in depth look at ever evolving families this text provides solid practical examples of building good home school partnerships and fostering familial involvement in schools Specific examples of activities and strategies are presented offering the educator and pre service student a valuable professional resource
