Creation Christology Pb 2002:

PB Handbook for the Study of the Historical Jesus (4 vols) Tom Holmén, Stanley E. Porter, 2010-12-24 A hundred years after A Schweitzer's Von Reimarus zu Wrede the study of the historical Jesus is again experiencing a renaissance. Ongoing since the beginning of the 1980s this renaissance has produced an abundance of Jesus studies that also display a welcome diversity of methods, approaches and hypotheses. The Handbook of the Study of the Historical Jesus is designed to handle this diversity and abundance. Drawing from first class scholarship throughout the world the four large volumes of the Handbook offer a unique assembly of leading experts presenting their approaches to the historical Jesus as well as a thought out compilation of original studies on a large variety of topics pertaining to Jesus research and adjacent areas.

Providence Made Flesh Terry J. Wright, 2009-11-01 Traditional discussions of the Christian doctrine of providence often center on the relation between divine agency and human freedom seeking to offer an account of the extent to which a person is free before God the first cause of all things. Terry J. Wright argues that such riddles of causation cannot determine the content of providence and suggests a unique and alternative framework that depicts God's activity in terms of divine faithfulness to that which God has made. Providence is not God as first cause acting through creaturely secondary causation rather providence is God's sovereign mediation of the divine presence across the whole world achieved through creaturely faithfulness made possible and guaranteed by his own faithful action in Jesus Christ. Theology Is for Preaching (Studies in Historical and Systematic Theology) Chase R. Kuhn, Paul Grimmond, 2021-03-10 Is it right to just preach the text? Why do we preach and do theology? How do we relate them? And how do they relate to God's word? Theology Is for Preaching helps preachers with theology and theologians with preaching. Though diverse in contexts and disciplines the contributors share a commitment to equipping the saints to rightly handle the word of truth. Through essays on foundations, methods employing theology for preaching and preaching for theology this volume will equip preachers and theologians to engage deeply with the text of the Bible and communicate its meaning with clarity. Silhouettes of the Soul Otto Von Busch, Jeanine Viau, 2022-02-10 What is the relationship between the soul or inner life and what we wear in the making of identity and belief? What bearing do religious and political belonging, respectability and resistance have on the way in which we dress? Why have more traditional religious practices been so prescriptive about body adornment? Historically fashionable dress and religion have been positioned as polar opposites. Silhouettes of the Soul brings them together placing them in conversation with each other. By moving beyond traditional social scientific and historical analysis of religious attire and adornment the book presents a variety of disciplinary approaches from across regional, social and religious locations. Contentious and challenging as well as academically rigorous the book's diverse range of contributors from fashion and religious studies scholars to designers, activists, monastics and journalists explore the relationship between religion and fashion extending the meanings and possibilities of both dress and spirituality. Combining interviews and personal stories with more traditional theoretical analysis Silhouettes of the Soul offers new ways of looking at the relationship between religion personal convictions and self expression our sense of self and our sense of fashion

Paul Among the Gentiles: A "Radical" Reading of Romans Jacob P. B. Mortensen,2018-08-13 This exciting new interpretation of Paul s Letter to the Romans approaches Paul s most famous letter from one of the newest scholarly positions within Pauline Studies The Radical New Perspective on Paul also known as Paul within Judaism As a point of departure the author takes Paul s self designation in 11 13 as apostle to the gentiles as so determining for Paul s mission that the audience of the letter is perceived to be exclusively gentile The study finds confirmation of this reading strategy in the letter s construction of the interlocutor from chapter 2 onwards Even in 2 17 where Paul describes the interlocutor as someone who calls himself a Jew it requests to perceive this person as a gentile who presents himself as a Jew and not an ethnic Jew If the interlocutor is perceived in this way throughout the letter the dialogue between Paul and the interlocutor can be perceived as a continuous unified and developing dialogue In this way this interpretation of Romans sketches out a position against a more disparate and fragmentary interpretation of Romans

Christ and Creation Noel O'Sullivan,2009 This book sets out to interpret Henri de Lubac s theology of creation from a christological perspective

The challenge of this research has been the absence of a systematic christology in the writings of de Lubac Yet it is possible to posit a Lubacian christology by sifting through the author's work on a myriad of subjects The point of entry is the patristic distinction between image and likeness whereby image is understood as an inamissible seal which bestows the divine prerogatives of reason freedom immortality and dominion over nature Likeness is a potential given at creation and realised in the course of the economy of salvation De Lubac describes it variously as divinisation divine union the supernatural dignity of the human being and participation in the internal movement of the Trinity The originality of this book consists in the gradual emergence of the role of Christ in the process whereby image becomes likeness De Lubac records his intention to publish a book on Jesus Christ an ambition he never realised The present book does not just illustrate the omnipresence of Christ in the writings of de Lubac but dares to delineate what a Lubacian christology would look like Forthcoming Books Rose

Army,2002 Creation and Christ Angela Costley,2020-11-09 The Epistle to the Hebrews is usually associated with its theology of Christ the High Priest However the term high priest is not so common in the first four chapters of Hebrews occurring only four times with a further reference to sacrifice in 1:3 Rather than emphasising the priestly or sacrificial activity of Christ these opening sections contain a number of references to creation 1:2 3:10 12:2 5:9 10:3 1:6 4:3 4:4 and 4:9 10 In this volume Angela Costley uses discourse analysis to explore the importance of the topic of creation to the discourse of the Epistle to the Hebrews uncovering a close link between creation and salvation She highlights the interaction of the topic of creation with the topic of salvation in the discourse to uncover a depiction of Christ as the creator who descends to take on human flesh God who becomes human in order to lead humanity heavenward Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001

Creation and Christology Masanobu Endō,2019 Since previous scholarship has searched for figures equivalent to the personified Logos in the Johannine Prologue scholars have often ignored the context of which the Genesis creation account is the center Masanobu Endo examines that reference to the Genesis creation account as it appears in contexts where the unique identity of God is maintained In eschatological contexts the realization of eschatological salvation is strongly expected on the grounds of the sovereignty of God which is known in his work of creation This observation of the theological function of the Genesis creation account in the Second Temple period may shed light on the question of why reference is made to the Genesis creation account in the Johannine prologue What this means is that the descriptions of the identity of the Word the Son in the Johannine prologue were made on the grounds of Jewish monotheistic speculation about the identity of God the Creator Christ, Creation and the Cosmic Goal of Redemption J.J. Johnson Leese,2018-05-17 J J Johnson Leese discusses how the apostle Paul's writing on Christ's relationship to creation read alongside the interpretations of Irenaeus of Lyon provide a meaningful contribution to contemporary debates on the interrelationship between religion and nature Leese draws upon the integration of three related scholarly trends the increased importance placed on biblical creation themes the emergence of ecotheology and the history of reception while focusing on the Pauline corpus and readings of Paul by Irenaeus thus uncovering a robust creation and ecotheological theology Irenaeus approach provides the possibility for Paul to contribute to ecotheology by way of a theological vision where the whole of reality in relationship to Christ and creation and by extension to soteriology and ecclesiology are central components of Paul's theology

Christ and the Created Order Zondervan, 2018-05-08

According to the Christian faith Jesus Christ is the ultimate revelation not only of the nature of God the Creator but also of how God the Creator relates to the created order The New Testament explicitly relates the act of creation to the person of Jesus Christ who is also a participant within creation and who is said by his acts of participation to have secured creation's ultimate redemption from the problems which presently afflict it Christian theology proposes that Jesus Christ the incarnate Word and Wisdom of God the agent in whom the Spirit of God is supremely present among us is the rationale and the telos of all things time space as we experience and explore it nature and all its enigmas matter itself Christology is thus utterly fundamental to a theology of creation as this is unfolded both in Scripture and in early Christian theology For all this the contemporary conversation about science and faith tends to a remarkable degree to neglect the significance of Jesus Christ focusing instead on a generic God of wonder or God of natural theology Such general theism is problematic from the perspective of Christian theology on many levels and has at times led to a more or less deistic theology the impression that God has created the world then largely left it to itself Such a theology is far removed from classical Christian renderings of creation providence redemption and eschatology According to these the theology of creation is not just about remote beginnings or the distant acts of a divine originator Rather the incarnate Jesus Christ is himself remarkably the means and the end for which creation itself exists If we would think aright about our world study it and live within it wisely we must reckon centrally with his significance What might such a bold claim possibly mean and why is Jesus Christ said by Christian theology to be so important for understanding God's overall relationship to the created order What does this importance mean for science Christ and the Created Order addresses these questions by gathering insights from biblical scholars theologians historians philosophers and scientists This interdisciplinary collection of essays reflects on the significance of Jesus Christ for understanding the created world particularly as that world is observed by the natural sciences Contributors to Christ and the Created Order include Marilyn McCord Adams Richard Bauckham Deborah Haarsma Paul Moser Murray Rae James K A Smith Norman Wirzba N T Wright and more

Christ as Creator Sean M. McDonough, 2009-11-26 This book examines the New Testament teaching that Christ was the one through whom God made the world While scholars usually interpret this doctrine as arising from the equation of Jesus and the Wisdom of God Sean McDonough argues that it had its roots in the church's memories of Jesus' miracles These memories coupled with the experience of spiritual renewal in the early church established Jesus as the definitive agent of God's new creation in the New Testament writings and the teachings of the Early Church. Following the logic that the end is like the beginning, Christ was taken to be the agent of primal creation. This insight was developed in light of Old Testament creation texts viewed from within a messianic matrix of interpretation. God gives his Word, his Spirit, and his Wisdom to his Messiah from the very beginning, and the Messiah, the radiance of God's glory, establishes the cosmos in accordance with God's purposes. Creation is the beginning of messianic dominion; he rules the world he made. McDonough carefully substantiates his thesis through a detailed exegesis of the relevant New Testament texts in the context of related texts in Judaism and Greco-Roman philosophy. He concludes with a survey of the doctrine of Christ as Creator in the work of six theologians: Justin Martyr, Irenaeus, Athanasius, Karl Barth, Jürgen Moltmann, and Wolfhart Pannenberg.
