The Creation of Patriarchy: The creation of feminist consciousness Gerda Lerner, 1986 A major new work by a leading historian and pioneer in women s studies The Creation of Patriarchy is a radical reconceptualization of Western civilization that makes gender central to its analysis Gerda Lerner argues that male dominance over women is not natural or biological but the product of an historical development begun in the second millennium B C in the Ancient Near East As patriarchy as a system of organizing society was established historically she contends it can also be ended by the historical process Focusing on the contradiction between women s central role in creating society and their marginality in the meaning giving process of definition and interpretation Lerner explores such fascinating questions as What can account for women s exclusion from the historical process What could explain the long delay more than 3 500 years in women s coming to consciousness of their own subordinate position She goes back to the cultures of the earliest known civilizations those of the ancient Near East to discover the origins of the major gender metaphors of Western civilization Using historical literary archaeological and artistic evidence she then traces the development of these ideas symbols and metaphors and their incorporation into Western civilization as the basis of patriarchal gender relations Publisher description

All human beings are practicing historians, writes Gerda Lerner. We live our lives, we tell our stories. It is as natural as breathing. It is as important as breathing too. History shapes our self-definition and our relationship to community; it locates us in time and place and helps to give meaning to our lives. History can be the vital thread that holds a nation together, as demonstrated most strikingly in the case of Jewish history. Conversely, for women who have lived in a world in which they apparently had no history, its absence can be devastating. In Why History Matters, Lerner brings together her thinking and research of the last sixteen years, combining personal reminiscences with innovative theory that illuminates the importance of history and the vital role women have played in it. Why History Matters contains some of the most significant thinking and writing on history that Lerner has done in her entire career, a summation of her life and work. The chapters are divided into three sections, each widely different from the others, each revelatory of Lerner as a woman and a feminist. We read first of Lerner's coming to consciousness as a Jewish woman. There are moving accounts of her early life as a refugee in America, her return to Austria fifty years after fleeing the Nazis to discover a nation remarkable both for the absence of Jews and for the anti-Semitism just below the surface, her slow assimilation into American life and her decision to be a historian. If the first section is personal, the second focuses on more professional concerns. Included here is a fascinating essay on nonviolent resistance, tracing the idea from the Quakers such as Mary Dyer to abolitionists such as Theodore Dwight Weld, the most mobbed man in America, to Thoreau's essay Civil Disobedience, then across the sea to Tolstoy and Gandhi, before finally returning to America during the civil rights movement of the 1950s. There are insightful essays on American Values and on the tremendous advances women have made in the twentieth century, as well as Lerner's presidential address to the Organization of American Historians, which outlines the contributions of women to the field of history and the growing importance of women as a subject of history. The highlight of the final section of the book is Lerner's bold and innovative look at the issues of class and race as they relate to women, an essay that distills her thinking on these difficult subjects and offers a coherent conceptual framework that will prove of lasting interest to historians and intellectuals. A major figure in women's studies and long-term activist for women's issues, a founding member of NOW and a past president of the Organization of American Historians, Gerda Lerner is a pioneer in the field of Women's History and one of its leading practitioners. Why History Matters is the summation of the work and thinking of this distinguished historian. Masterplots II. Frank Northen Magill, 1995. Contains 536 essays that examine the most important books of fiction and nonfiction authored by women. Journal of Feminist Studies in Religion, 2004      The Routledge Global History of Feminism Bonnie G. later Protestant mystics and brings to life the many women of great literary talent from Christine de Pisan to Louise Labe to Emily Dickinson who simply bypassed patriarchal thought and created alternate worlds for themselves
