Cedric Price The Square:

Cedric Price - The Square Book Cedric Price, 2003-09-19 Cedric Price Architects was established in 1960 and this book features works from its early years iconic projects such as The Fun Palace and Potteries Thinkbelt built projects such as London Zoo's Aviary and many less well known schemes and writings Additional essays are contributed by eminent architectural historians Reyner Banham Royston Landau and Robin Middleton and colleague critics such as David Allford Peter Cook and Warren Chalk The Square Book is a faithful reprinting of an original book entitled Cedric Price Works II published in 1984 by the Architectural Association AA Ron Herron and AA Chairman Alvin Boyarsky had invited Price to make the book to coincide with an exhibition of the work of his office at the AA in June the same year Price complied as a favour to his dear friends although he has always been resistant to the crystallisation of his work in book form being more inclined towards the immediate and ephemeral nature of magazines and journals Price states that there is a point reached where if too much time is required to produce something its operational integrity is marred This remark is central to Price's thesis that Time is the fourth dimension in architecture and that Change is its champion It is timely that such a book should be reprinted Its purpose is not to provide material upon which to reflect but to serve as fuel to students and practitioners of architecture a profession that continues to institutionally resist change at the beginning of a new millennium We are reminded as Peter Cook writes that Cedric is our reference Our conscience Cedric Price Samantha

Hardingham, 2003-06-13 Charting works from 1984 to the present this book features Price's original drawings for some 45 projects many of which are annotated with incisive observations on the subject of architecture and its impact on human beings and the environment Alongside Price's own writings the book includes texts by ten invited contributors from the fields of architecture architectural history and research theatre film and politics and shorter comments from others including Will Alsop Paul Hyett and Frei Otto whose lives have been touched by Price Highly influential and imaginative architect of interest both within and outside the field of architecture Comprehensively illustrated with plans drawings and photographs Includes opinion from other architects architectural writers politicians and theatre and film professionals Cedric Price Cedric Price, 1984 Architectural Intelligence Molly Wright Steenson, 2017-12-22 Architects who engaged with cybernetics artificial intelligence and other technologies poured the foundation for digital interactivity In Architectural Intelligence Molly Wright Steenson explores the work of four architects in the 1960s and 1970s who incorporated elements of interactivity into their work Christopher Alexander Richard Saul Wurman Cedric Price and Nicholas Negroponte and the MIT Architecture Machine Group all incorporated technologies including cybernetics and artificial intelligence into their work and influenced digital design practices from the late 1980s to the present day Alexander long before his famous 1977 book A Pattern Language used computation and structure to visualize design problems Wurman popularized the notion of information architecture Price designed some of the first intelligent buildings and Negroponte experimented with the ways people experience artificial intelligence even at architectural scale Steenson investigates how these architects pushed the boundaries of architecture and how their technological experiments pushed the boundaries of technology What did computational cybernetic and artificial intelligence researchers have to gain by engaging with architects and architectural problems And what was this new space that emerged within these collaborations At times Steenson writes the architects in this book characterized themselves as anti architects and their work as anti architecture The projects Steenson examines mostly did not result in constructed buildings but rather in design processes and tools computer programs interfaces digital environments Alexander Wurman Price and Negroponte laid the foundation for many of our contemporary interactive practices from information architecture to interaction design from machine learning to smart cities Non-Plan: Essays on Freedom, Participation and Change in Modern Architecture and Urbanism Jonathan Hughes, Simon Sadler, 2013-01-11 Non Plan explores ways of involving people in the design of their environments a goal which transgresses political categories of right and left Attempts to circumvent planning bureaucracy and architectural inertia have ranged from free market enterprise zones to self build housing and from squatting to sophisticated technologies of prefabrication Yet all have shared in a desire to let people shape the built environment they want to live and work in How can buildings better reflect the needs of their inhabitants How can cities better facilitate the work and recreation of their many populaces Modernism had promised a functionalist approach to resolving the architectural needs of the twentieth century yet the design of cities and buildings often appears to confound the needs of those who use them their design and layout being highly regulated by restrictive legislation planning controls and bureaucracy Non Plan considers the theoretical and conceptual frameworks within which architecture and urbanism have sought to challenge entrenched boundaries of control focusing on the architectural history of the post war period to the present day This provocative book will be of interest to architects planners and students of architecture design town planning and architectural history Its contributors include architects critics and historians including many whose work helped shape the Non Plan debate during the period List of contributors Cedric Price Benjamin Franks Elizabeth Lebas Eleonore Kofman Ben Highmore Yona Friedman Paul Barker Clara Greed Barry Curtis Colin Ward Ian Horton John Beck Chinedu Umenyilora and Malcolm Miles Architecture and Ritual Peter Blundell Jones, 2016-08-25 Architecture and Ritual explores how the varied rituals of everyday life are framed and defined in space by the buildings which we inhabit It penetrates beyond traditional assumptions about architectural style aesthetics and utility to deal with something more implicit how buildings shape and reflect our experience in ways of which we remain unconscious Whether designed to house a grand ceremony or provide shelter for a daily meal all buildings coordinate and consolidate social relations by giving orientation and focus to the spatial practices of those who use them Peter Blundell Jones investigates these connections between the social and the spatial providing critical insights into the capacity for architecture to structure human ritual from the grand and formal to the mundane This is achieved through deep readings of individual pieces of architecture each with a detailed description of its particular social setting and use The case studies are drawn from throughout architectural history and from around the globe each enabling a distinct theoretical theme to emerge and showing how social conventions vary with time and place as well as what they have in common Case studies range from the Nuremberg Rally to the Centre Pompidou and from the Palace of Westminster to Dogon dwellings in Africa and a Modernist hospital In considering how all architecture has to mesh with the habits beliefs rituals and expectations of the society that created it the book presents deep implications for our understanding of architectural history and theory It also highlights the importance for architects of understanding how buildings frame social space before they prescribe new architectural designs of their own The book ends with a recent example of user participation showing how contemporary user interest and commitment to a building can be as strong as ever
