Board of Standards and Appeals, 1929 The Cultivator & Country Gentleman, 1889 The farm the garden the fireside Perspectives, 2000 AHA Perspectives, 2000 Missionary Tidings, 1912 Political Keywords Roderick P. Hart, 2005 The Declaration of Independence states that all men are created equal in the United States but that statement does not hold true for words Some words carry more weight than others they seem to work harder get more done and demand more respect Political Keywords Using Language That Uses Us looks at eight dominant words that are crucial to American political discourse and how they have been employed during the last fifty years Based on an analysis of eleven separate studies of political language

Political Keywords helps readers to understand what these terms mean and how they are used For example the book tracks what politics now means to modern commentators how school teachers impress certain values upon the nation s children by invoking the office of the president and why an innocent word like government sometimes makes people so upset It details how the people are referenced in political talk and how the media portray themselves The book also considers the work done by political parties political promises and political consultants because together they shed special light on modern elections Combining social science with subtle forms of cultural interpretation Political Keywords Using Language That Uses Us provides a fresh look at both American politics and American language It is an ideal text for undergraduate and graduate courses in political communication political language political campaigns media and politics political psychology public opinion rhetorical criticism contemporary public address and presidential rhetoric Publisher Microsoft FrontPage 2003
