Cauldron Of Ethnicity In The Modern World:

The Cauldron of Ethnicity in the Modern World Manning Nash, 1989-06-15 The melting pot metaphor conveys an image of individuals from varied origins blending imperceptibly together But when such ingredients as inequality nationalism or perceived injustice are added to the mix the melting pot can become a seething cauldron Manning Nash's examination of ethnicity in the postcolonial world offers insights into the ways that ethnic tensions are engendered and sustained Ethnicity Nash suggests is formed by historical processes based on preexisting elements of society and culture Notions of ethnicity have at their core the recursive metaphor of blood bed and cult body substance kinship and religious belief When individuals who perceive themselves bound by these ties are threatened in some way ethnicity becomes a unifying call to action Nash identifies a number of concepts political self rule economic opportunity cultural identity religious freedom that have been rallying cries for ethnic struggles in the twentieth century He offers a novel analysis of the ways that ethnic groups identify themselves and maintain boundaries and he assesses the circumstances under which ethnicity may be relevant or nearly irrelevant to political economic and cultural dynamics Nash presents three case studies that highlight the multifaceted nature of ethnicity and that each demonstrate a particular mode of comparative method He compares a situation of conquest Ladino and Maya in Mexico and Guatemala a new excolonial nation with nearly equally sized groups Chinese and Malays in Malaysia and a small immigrant group in a large nation Jews in the United States pointing out the many possible combinations of political economic or cultural struggles in ethnic conflicts Even in nations where such conflict is minimal Nash warns ethnicity remains a reservoir of turbulence in a world where power wealth and dignity are unevenly and illegitimately distributed
