Causes And Prevention Of War:

The Causes and Prevention of War Seyom Brown, 1987      War and Democracy E. F. M. Durbin, John Bowlby, Ivor Thomas, D. P. T. Jay, R. B. Fraser, R. H. S. Crossman, George Catlin, 2019-07-08 Originally published in 1938 this book consists of a group of papers considering widely different subjects but all bearing upon one social problem the causation and prevention of war The authors all occupy the same general political position they are democratic socialists and active members of the Labour Party The book falls into three rough divisions although all the papers are self contained The first part of the book is psychological and attempts to summarise and analyse the non historical evidence ecological psychological and anthropological about the causes of fighting The second part is historical It surveys the different causes of international war in the nineteenth century and then discusses the relation between nationalism and capitalism during the same period The third part is political and first considers the relation of the use of force to the preservation of peace Then analyses the choices of foreign policy for a pacific power confronted by the threat of aggressive military dictatorship It concludes with a review and assessment of the various available policies for the prevention of war in general and under the specific contemporary conditions of the time      War and Democracy E F M Durbin, Taylor & Francis Group, John Bowlby, Ivor Thomas, D P T Jay, R B Fraser, R H S Crossman, George Catlin, 2021-07-12 Originally published in 1938 this book consists of a group of papers considering widely different subjects but all bearing upon one social problem the causation and prevention of war The authors all occupy the same general political position they are democratic socialists and active members of the Labour Party The book falls into three rough divisions although all the papers are self contained The first part of the book is psychological and attempts to summarise and analyse the non historical evidence ecological psychological and anthropological about the causes of fighting The second part is historical It surveys the different causes of international war in the nineteenth century and then discusses the relation between nationalism and capitalism during the same period The third part is political and first considers the relation of the use of force to the preservation of peace Then analyses the choices of foreign policy for a pacific power confronted by the threat of aggressive military dictatorship It concludes with a review and assessment of the various available policies for the prevention of war in general and under the specific contemporary conditions of the time      Paths to peace Victor Hugo Wallace, 1970      The Structural Prevention of Mass Atrocities Stephen McLoughlin, 2014-07-17 This book offers a different approach to the structural prevention of mass atrocities It investigates the conditions that enable vulnerable countries to prevent the perpetration of such violence Structural prevention is commonly framed as the identifying and ameliorating of the root causes of violent conflict a process which typically involves international actors determining what these root causes are and what the best courses of action are to deal with them This overlooks why mass atrocities do not occur in countries that contain the presence of root causes In fact very little research has been conducted on what the causes of peace and stability are particularly in relatively countries located in regions marred by civil war and mass atrocities To better understand how such vulnerable countries prevent the commission of mass atrocities this book proposes an analytical framework which enables not only an understanding of risk which arises from the presence of root causes but also of the factors that build resilience in countries and consequently mitigate and manage such risk Using this framework three countries Botswana Zambia and Tanzania are analysed to account for their long term stability despite their location in neighbourhoods characterised by decades of civil war ethnic repression and mass atrocities This work is a significant contribution to the field of genocide studies and crimes against humanity and will be of interest to students and scholars alike

On Causes and Prevention of War Lawrence LeShan,1992-02-01 LeShan explores the psychology of war why people follow their leaders into war despite the obvious danger to themselves and those they love how society makes war seem not only right but necessary how we transform others into the enemy On the Causes and Prevention of War illuminates both a tragic social process and the means by which we can avoid it

The International Interpreter Frederick Dixon,1924

Why Peace Fails Charles T. Call,2012-04-03 Why does peace fail More precisely why do some countries that show every sign of having successfully emerged from civil war fall once again into armed conflict What explains why peace sticks after some wars but not others In this illuminating study Charles T Call examines the factors behind fifteen cases of civil war recurrence in Africa Asia the Caucasus and Latin America He argues that widely touted explanations of civil war such as poverty conflict over natural resources and weak states are far less important than political exclusion Call s study shows that inclusion of former opponents in postwar governance plays a decisive role in sustained peace Why Peace Fails ultimately suggests that the international community should resist the temptation to prematurely withdraw resources and peacekeepers after a transition from war Instead international actors must remain fully engaged with postwar elected governments ensuring that they make room for former enemies
