Girls & Sex Peggy Orenstein, 2017-03-07 A generation gap has emerged between parents and their girls. The mothers and fathers of tomorrow's women have little idea what their daughters are up to sexually or how they feel about it. Drawing on in-depth interviews with more than seventy young women and a wide range of psychologists, academics and experts, renowned journalist Peggy Orenstein goes where most others fear to tread, pulling back the curtain on the hidden truths, hard lessons and important possibilities of girls' sex lives in the modern world. #artselfie

Simon Castets, DIS (Organization), 2014 artselfie opens with an incisive remark by Douglas Coupland who warns us that 'Selfies are mirrors we can freeze. Selfies allow us to see how others look at themselves in a mirror, making their modeling face when nobody's around except these days everybody's around everywhere all the time.' artselfie emerged in 2012, right as the recent photographic phenomenon known as the selfie reached its tipping point. It was subsequently activated by New York-based collective DIS as an aggregated mode of art, tourism and documentation. These selfies and their dialogue with art are an opportunity to revisit fundamental questions such as: if art is a mirror, what happens when we place ourselves between it and the camera? The traditional trajectory from photographer to subject via the camera has been subverted, and with it the nature of images and our perception of them. The artselfie makes every participant both protagonist and collaborator, consumer and producer. Including an introduction by Douglas Coupland, author of Generation X: Tales for an Accelerated Culture, and a ruthless observer of contemporary society, and a discussion between Simon Castets, director of the Swiss Institute in New York, and co-founder of the 89 project, and DIS, artselfie allows us to experience how significant and seductive this viral phenomenon is.
