sciences we sought to bring together contributions that reflect on the different strategies that art market scholars employ to navigate and negotiate digital techniques and resources The essays in this issue cover a wide range of topics and research questions Taken together the essays offer a reflection on what takes to research art markets which includes addressing difficult topics such as the nature of the research questions and the data available to us and the conceptual aspects of art markets in order to define and operationalize variables and to interpret visual and statistical patterns for scholarship In our view this discussion is enriched when also taking into account how to use shared or interoperable ontologies and vocabularies to define concepts and relationships that facilitate the use and exchange of linked open data for cultural heritage and historical research
