Transparent Leadership Alan T. Belasen, PhD,Ariel R. Belasen, PhD,2025-12-02 Establishing a culture of trust in organizations and strengthening the middle line are both critical for implementing innovation especially during major disruptions Work units and teams operate in environments that are largely influenced by broader organizational and institutional goals where middle managers are most needed for guiding and directing the staff to carry out change Recently however the value of middle managers has come under attack Despite their valuable contributions that often have gone unnoticed by senior executives middle managers have regularly been viewed as non value added practitioners who consume resources but do not add value to products or services Further as technology advances and social media allow executives to interact more directly with stakeholders it also removes middle management from the communication loops or the decision making process Conscious about the potential of being eliminated demoted or bypassed some middle managers attempt to prove their premium by working excessively hard thus becoming hyper effective working longer hours with a desire to perform their roles better Surprisingly however executives who react harshly to these attitudes and behaviors also typecast middle managers as being unmotivated and needed to be further bypassed or often incentivized monetarily to accomplish important tasks Neglecting middle managers strengths or focusing on negative attributes and weaknesses creates conditions of failure harmful to employees and organizations Transparent Leadership Bridging the Trust Gap Between Senior Executives and Middle Managers focuses on trustworthy relationships between senior executives and middle managers A proven framework of trustworthy leadership is presented as a practical guide for leaders and professionals wishing to gain skills for building and maintaining trust in the workplace It provides practical strategies and assessment tools for bridging the trust gap between executives and middle managers Data Analytics for Business Wolfgang Garn,2024-04-30 We are drowning in data but are starved for knowledge Data Analytics is the discipline of extracting actionable insights by structuring processing analysing and visualising data using methods and software tools Hence we gain knowledge by understanding the data A roadmap to achieve this is encapsulated in the knowledge discovery in databases KDD process Databases help us store data in a structured way The structure query language SQL allows us to gain first insights about business opportunities Visualising the data using business intelligence tools and data science languages deepens our understanding of the key performance indicators and business characteristics This can be used to create relevant classification and prediction models for instance to provide customers with the appropriate products or predict the eruption time of geysers Machine learning algorithms help us in this endeavour Moreover we can create new classes using unsupervised learning methods which can be used to define new market segments or group customers with similar characteristics Finally artificial intelligence allows us to reason under uncertainty and find optimal solutions for business challenges All these topics are covered in this book with a hands on process which means we use numerous examples to introduce the concepts and several software tools to assist us Several interactive exercises support us in deepening the understanding and keep us engaged with the material This book is appropriate for master students but can be used for undergraduate students Practitioners will also benefit from the readily available tools The material was especially designed for Business Analytics degrees with a focus on Data Science and can also be used for machine learning or artificial intelligence classes This entry level book is ideally suited for a wide range of disciplines wishing to gain actionable data insights in a practical manner Newspaperdom ,1900 Contemporary Business Louis E.
