architecture and may have provided transformative frameworks to understand this entangled reality. However, design still entails a sense of intentionality and an urge to control. How do we then address the tension between the designer's intentionality and the co-produced reality of more than human agents in the cybernetic environment? Is posthumanism enough to develop a framework to think beyond our all too human ways of thinking? For researchers, scholars, practitioners, and students in environmental design and engineering disciplines, this book maps out a paradigm of environmentalism and ecological design rooted in non-communication and uncontrollability and puts a speculative turn on cybernetics.
