Competition As A Dynamic Process:

Competition as a Dynamic Process John Maurice Clark, 1963 Competition as a Dynamic Process. (Second Printing.).

John Maurice Clark, 1963 Virtual Plants: Modeling Plant Architecture in Changing Environments Katrin

Kahlen, Hartmut Stützel, 2017-02-07 Plant architecture is a major determinant of the resource use efficiency of crops. The architecture of a plant shows ontogenetic structural changes which are modified by multiple environmental factors. Plant canopies are exposed to natural fluctuations in light quantity and the dynamically changing canopy architecture induces local variations in light quality. Changing temperature conditions or water availability during growth additionally affect plant architecture and thus crop productivity because plants have various options to adapt their architecture to the available resources. Meeting the challenge of ensuring food security we must understand the plant's mechanisms for integrating and responding to an orchestra of environmental factors. Virtual plants describe plant architecture in silico. Virtual plants have the potential to help us understand the complex feedback processes between canopy architecture, multiple environmental factors, and crop productivity. As a research tool, they have become increasingly popular within the last decade due to their great power of realistically visualizing the plant's architecture. This Research Topic highlights current research carried out on modeling plant architecture in changing environments. The Service-Dominant Logic of Marketing Robert F.

Lusch, Stephen L. Vargo, 2014-12-18 Expanding on the editors' award-winning article "Evolving to a New Dominant Logic for Marketing," this book presents a challenging new paradigm for the marketing discipline. This new paradigm is service-oriented, customer-oriented, relationship-focused, and knowledge-based and places marketing, once viewed as a support function central to overall business strategy, as the application of competencies for the benefit of another entity and sees mutual service provision rather than the exchange of goods as the proper subject of marketing. It moves the orientation of marketing from a market to philosophy where customers are promoted, targeted, and captured to a market with philosophy where the customer and supply chain partners are collaborators in the entire marketing process. The editors elaborate on this model through an historical analysis, clarification, and extension of service-dominant logic and distinguished marketing thinkers then provide further insight and commentary. The result is a more comprehensive and inclusive marketing theory that will challenge both current thinking and marketing practice. The Social Science Encyclopedia Adam Kuper, 2004-10-14 The Social Science Encyclopedia first published in 1985 to acclaim from social scientists, librarians, and students was thoroughly revised in 1996 when reviewers began to describe it as a classic. This third edition has been radically recast. Over half the entries are new or have been entirely rewritten, and most of the balance have been substantially revised. Written by an international team of contributors, the Encyclopedia offers a global perspective on key issues within the social sciences. Some 500 entries cover a variety of enduring and newly vital areas of study and research methods. Experts review theoretical debates from neo-evolutionism and rational choice theory to poststructuralism.

and address the great questions that cut across the social sciences What is the influence of genes on behaviour What is the nature of consciousness and cognition What are the causes of poverty and wealth What are the roots of conflict wars revolutions and genocidal violence This authoritative reference work is aimed at anyone with a serious interest in contemporary academic thinking about the individual in society Dynamics of the United States Automobile Industry Charles Edward Edwards,1965 Account of the economic struggles of the industry during the two decades after World War II

Economic Evolution and Structural Adjustment David Batten,John L. Casti,Börje Johansson,2013-06-29 Since the beginning of the fifties the ruling paradigm in the discipline of economics has been that of a competitive general equilibrium Associated dynamic analyses have therefore been preoccupied with the stability of this equilibrium state corresponding simply to studies of comparative statics The need to permeate the boundaries of this paradigm in order to open up new pathways for genuine dynamic analysis is now pressing The contributions contained in this volume spring from this very ambition A growing circle of economists have recently been inspired by two distinct but complementary sources i the pathbreaking work of Joseph Schumpeter and ii recent contributions to physics chemistry and theoretical biology It turns out that problems which are firmly rooted in the economic discipline such as innovation technological change business cycles and economic development contain many clear parallels with phenomena from the natural sciences such as the slaving principle adiabatic elimination and self organization In such dynamic worlds adjustment processes and adaptive behaviour are modelled with the aid of the mathematical theory of nonlinear dynamical systems The dynamics is defined for a much wider set of conditions or states than simply a set of competitive equilibria A common objective is to study and classify ways in which the qualitative properties of each system change as the parameters describing the system vary An Analysis of Perceived Competitive Advantages Within Selected Manufacturer-distributor Alignments Parker Martin Worthing,1968
