Handbook of Research on Inclusive Development for Remote Adjunct Faculty in Higher Education Dailey-Hebert, Amber, Mandernach, B. Jean, Donnelly-Sallee, Emily, 2020-10-16 As the number of adjunct faculty teaching online courses remotely for their institutions continues to increase so do the unique challenges they face including issues of distance and isolation as well as problems pertaining to motivation time and compensation Not only are these higher education faculty geographically isolated from each other and their colleagues at flagship campuses but they also lack adequate institutional support and resources necessary to perform their roles As institutions continue to rely heavily on this group of under supported and undertrained instructors who teach the majority of online courses offered across the country institutions need models and strategies to tap the expertise and perspectives of this group not only to improve teaching and learning in online programs but also to retain this critical talent pool More consideration is needed to create institutional affinity and organizational commitment build community and create opportunities for remote adjunct faculty to be included as an integral component to their academic departments The Handbook of Research on Inclusive Development for Remote Adjunct Faculty in Higher Education is a comprehensive reference work that presents research theoretical frameworks instructor perspectives and program models that highlight effective strategies innovative approaches and unique considerations for creating professional development opportunities for remote adjunct faculty teaching online This book provides concrete practices that foster inclusivity among contingent faculty teaching online as well as tangible practices that have been successfully implemented from faculty developers and academic leaders at institutions who have a large population of and heavy reliance on remote adjunct instructors While addressing topics that include faculty engagement mentoring programs and instructor resources this book intends to support remote instructors in the post pandemic world It is also beneficial for faculty development professionals academic administrative leaders higher education stakeholders and higher education faculty researchers and students

Workplace Learning in Teacher Education Olwen McNamara, Jean Murray, Marion Jones, 2013-11-19 This book explores teacher workplace learning from four different perspectives social policy international comparators multi professional stances perspectives and socio cultural theory First it considers the policy and practice context of professional learning in teacher education in England and the rest of the UK with particular reference to professional masters level provision The importance of teachers and schools perceptions of improvement development and learning and the inherent tensions between individual school and government priorities is explored Second the book considers models of teacher workplace learning to be found in international research and practice to explore what perspective they can bring to understanding policy and practice relating to workplace learning in the UK Third it draws on cross professional analysis to get an intellectual and theoretical purchase on workplace learning by examining how insights from across the professions can provide us with useful perspectives on policy and practice The analysis draws particularly on insights from medicine and educational psychology Fourth the book cross fertilises research and practice across the field of education by drawing on insights from perspectives such as socio cultural and activity theory and situated learning cognition to discover what they can offer in analysing the theoretical and pedagogic underpinnings of teacher workplace learning In short the book offers a number of contexts for exploring how best to conceptualise and theorise learning in the workplace in order to generate evidence to inform policy and practice and facilitates the development of a more theoretically informed and robust model of workplace learning and teaching
