Work-Life Tango Kristel Bauer, 2024-11-19 The familiar concept of work life balance endures but does anyone actually boast of having a healthy ratio of work and personal time Very few do because our model for work life leads to burn out it asks individuals to chase a dream where work and life are both equal and distinct where the demands of one do not contradict the demands of another Simply giving 100% to the twin pillars of your life will not give you the work life balance you crave The good news is there's a much more intelligent holistic and effective way to live your life Life has never fit into tidy little boxes Family and social needs don't stop between 9 00 a.m. and 5 00 p.m. and work pressures bleed into the hours between 5 01 p.m. and 8 59 a.m. all the time And since the pandemic the lines have become even more blurred with remote workers bearing the brunt of the impact It's time to embrace new wellness strategies This book will show how taking a holistic and integrative approach to the complex demands of life and work will transform your happiness and productivity The book will contain three parts Part I will focus on strategies to thrive as an individual specifically maintaining a healthy mind and body by prioritizing oneself You'll learn how to integrate healthy lifestyle habits into and throughout your workday so that taking care of yourself won't compete with productivity but will support it Part II will focus on thriving at work You'll learn about checkpoints and how to use these moments to wake up and realign your well-being with your personal mission You'll learn how to create healthy boundaries work through the common challenges that remote workers face and provide approachable solutions that you can immediately start integrating into your work-life Team leaders will gain key insights for managing remote and flexible teams so that they can create the conditions for success Part III is about thriving in relationships While community and connection are vital to well-being many workers struggle to form and maintain these bonds This book will explain why connection is vital and show how to encourage it By identifying your personal mission and integrating the wellness strategies provided in The Work-Life Tango you'll be able to show up 100% in all aspects of life in your career for your family and friends and for yourself

Tech Naulsberry Jean Baptiste, 2023 Due to the continuous use and rise of social media sites among teens and worries about their safety while using these sites Human Computer Interaction HCI researchers have been working together with teenagers using methods such as participatory design co design to study their social media usage along with the risks they encounter and their behavior online However this comes with several constraints such as power imbalances conflicting schedules of teenagers and lack of attendance To work towards engaging teens in online safety research without being bound by these constraints we recruited 7 teens between the ages of 15 17 years old to be a part of a year long Youth Advisory Board YAB for the Socio Technical Interaction Research STIR Lab We conducted online activities with the teen participants in our YAB within an Asynchronous Remote Community ARC which is an online group where communication and activity participation occur asynchronously between researchers and participants To collect our data we first organized a synchronous Zoom meeting with the teens about the ARC research method discussed how the method relates to them and talked about the topics and activities that they would like to partake in within an ARC Then we conducted activities with the teens to discuss their social media usage and their perceptions of algorithms used to provide content on social media Our participants were interested in discussing topics that were related to safety on social media platforms and doing research activities that could best be implemented through the ARC research method such as giving feedback on research design suggesting solutions to online safety prompts and designing apps based on an online safety prompt We also found that our participants social media platform usage heavily depended on their goals as users and they were weighing the privacy affordances and risks that came with using the platforms to decide which platform is best for their goals Finally our teen participants were aware of the positive and negative impacts that algorithms on social media platforms have on their online safety They were skeptical of social platform algorithms due to their safety and privacy concerns though they understood the benefits and wanted to learn more about how these algorithms operate Overall our participants appreciated the ARC methodology for exploring online safety perspectives as it does allow them enough time to take part in activities and collaborate in discussions with each other Our findings suggest that ARC can be an effective method for co designing research studies to understand teens social media usage the risks they encounter online and ways to mitigate such risks on social media
