Interprofessional Approaches for the Management of Chronic Diseases Alberto Marcos Heredia-Rizo, Maria Jesus Casuso-Holgado, Javier Martinez-Calderon, Emma K. Ho, 2024-09-30 Chronic diseases represent the leading causes of death and disability worldwide with a subsequent enormous socioeconomic burden The clinical management of these conditions often requires a multidisciplinary approach to treat the complex symptoms related to the disease and the associated problems Different healthcare systems have been experimenting with interprofessional collaboration to enhance professional effectiveness and quality of practice among professionals in an environment often constrained by resources The optimum use of resources is made possible by interprofessional collaboration which is described as an integrative cooperation of many health professions in different health disciplines including medicine nursing physical therapy psychology and occupational therapy It has been demonstrated that interprofessional care improves patient outcomes by lowering the rate of preventable adverse drug reactions morbidity and mortality and optimising prescription

dosages However despite the increasing evidence on the positive impact of integrative multidisciplinary programs for people with chronic diseases there are still gaps and challenges in how to translate evidence based knowledge into well informed clinical practice The aim of this Research Topic is to explore the current status and future direction of interprofessional care teams We are open to receiving articles that explore interprofessional collaboration in the context of various clinical diagnoses including chronic pain cancer neurological ailments psychiatric problems or cardiorespiratory conditions Also the effects of new health technologies on interprofessional collaboration such as virtual reality mobile health apps or telecare
