Building Tomorrow's Biomedical Workforce: Evaluation of How Evidence-Based Training Programs Align Skill Development and Career Awareness with a Broad Array of Professions Adriana Bankston,Rebekah L. Layton,Audra Van Wart,2025-08-27 Building the future STEM workforce requires robust federal investments to support the next generation of innovators as well as systemic changes to enable graduate and postdoctoral researchers to transition with confidence into the biomedical workforce This effort involves the transformation of the biomedical research enterprise and training environment at all levels but especially at the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels Innovative initiatives in education and training as well as career and professional development of biomedical trainees are necessary to build upon the robust biomedical workforce of today and create and sustain a diverse innovative and highly trained biomedical workforce of tomorrow An important aspect of supporting the biomedical workforce relates to changes within training and the research enterprise with opportunities for re imagining what STEM education should look like at different levels including providing agency for junior scientists in the field The future of the field should focus on inclusivity supporting trainees from different backgrounds and with diverse perspectives including but not limited to intersectional identities in race ethnicity gender sexual orientation first generation status and international talent in STEM This requires critical policy changes in order to support the transition of biomedical research professionals into the labor market

Under New Public Management Alison I. Griffith,Dorothy E. Smith,2014-09-17 The institutional ethnographies collected in Under New Public Management explore how new managerial governance practices coordinate the work of people doing front line work in public sectors such as health education social services and international development and people management in the private sector In these fields organizations have increasingly adopted private sector management techniques such as standardized and quantitative measures of performance and an obsession with cost reductions and efficiency These practices of new public management are changing the ways in which front line workers engage with their clients students or patients Using research drawn from Canada the United States Australia and Denmark the contributors expose how standardized managerial requirements are created and applied and how they affect the practicalities of working with people whose lives and experiences are complex and unique Air Force Magazine ,2014-07 Most In-Demand Data Entry and Transcription Jobs for Remote Work Asha Moria,2023-05-13 This book explores the most sought after data entry and transcription jobs for individuals looking for flexible and work from home opportunities It covers the skills and qualifications required for these positions as well as the industries and companies that are hiring for remote workers The book also provides tips and strategies on how to succeed in the job search process and excel in remote data entry and transcription roles With the increasing trend of remote work this book is a valuable resource for those looking to embark on a rewarding and flexible career in data entry and transcription Data Entry Work From Home Shabbir
