Chronic Vigour Darwin Anglicans Catholics And The Development Of A Doctrine Of Providential Evolution:

Chronic Vigour Gregory P. Elder, 1996 Chronic Vigour is a study of the development of Christian thought and the doctrine of Providential Evolution. The author argues that the renovation of Anglican theology as a response to Darwin's evolutionary theory actually began at the moment of Darwin's first publication of The Origin of Species. Chronic Vigour is unique because it examines a school of clergymen who knew Darwin and corresponded with him. The book demonstrates how these clergymen came to endorse Darwinian biology as early as 1884 in Britain. It places the history of the principle of providential evolution squarely in its English context. The book consists of five chapters. The first chapter is devoted to Edward Bouverie Pusey (1800-1882), the Professor of Hebrew at Oxford and the leader of the Tractarian movement. The second chapter evaluates the religious proposals which were offered within the Church itself as a direct reaction to biological evolution. In the third chapter, the author investigates St George Jackson Mivart (1827-1900), the key person to generate the doctrine of Providential evolution. The subject of the fourth chapter is the Reverend Charles Kingsley (1819-1875), who was the model of the progressive Victorian parson and the first Anglican priest to be an evolutionist. Finally, chapter five brings together many of the book's themes by examining Bishop Frederick Temple's (1821-1902) contributions to the providential evolution cause.

The Reception of Darwinian Evolution in Britain, 1859-1909 Martin Hewitt, 2024-10-20 The Reception of Darwinian Evolution in Britain 1859-1909 Darwinism's Generations uses the impact of Charles Darwin's On the Origin of Species (1859) in the 50 years after its publication to demonstrate the effectiveness of a generational framework for understanding the cultural and intellectual history of Britain in the nineteenth century. It challenges conventional notions of the Darwinian Revolution by examining how people from across all sections of society actually responded to Darwin's writings. Drawing on the opinions and interventions of over 2,000 Victorians drawn from an exceptionally wide range of archival and printed sources, it argues that the spread of Darwinian belief was slower, more complicated, more stratified by age, and ultimately shaped far more powerfully by divergent generational responses than has previously been recognised. In doing so, it makes a number of important contributions. It offers by far the richest and most comprehensive account to date of how contemporaries came to terms with the intellectual and emotional shocks of evolutionary theory. It makes a compelling case for taking proper account of age as a fundamental historical dynamic and for the powerful generational patternings of the effects that age produced. It demonstrates the extent to which the most common sub-periodisation of the Victorian period are best understood not merely as constituted by the exigencies of events but are also formed by the shifting balance of generational influence. Taken together, these insights present a significant challenge to the ways historians currently approach the task of describing the nature and experience of historical change and have fundamental implications for our current conceptions of the shape and pace of historical time.

The Oxford History of Anglicanism, Volume III Rowan Strong, 2017-01-26 The Oxford History of Anglicanism is a major new and unprecedented international study of the identity and historical influence of one of the world's largest versions of Christianity. This global study of Anglicanism from the sixteenth century looks at how Anglican identity was constructed and contested at various periods since the sixteenth century and what was its historical influence during the past six centuries. It explores not just the ecclesiastical and theological aspects of global Anglicanism but also the political, social, economic, and cultural influences of this form of Christianity that has been historically significant in western culture and a burgeoning force in non-western societies today. The chapters are written by international experts in their various historical fields, which includes the most recent research in their areas as well as original research. The series forms an invaluable reference for both scholars and interested non-specialists.

Volume three of The Oxford History of Anglicanism explores the nineteenth century when Anglicanism developed into a world-wide Christian communion, largely but not solely due to the expansion of the British Empire. By the end of this period, an Anglican Communion had come into existence as a diverse conglomerate of often competing Anglican identities with their often unresolved tensions and contradictions but also with some measure of genuine unity. The volume examines the ways the various Anglican identities of the nineteenth century are both metropolitan and colonial constructs and how they influenced the wider societies in which they formed Anglican Churches.

The Metaphysical Society (1869-1880) Catherine Marshall, Bernard V. Lightman, Richard England, 2019. This book contains essays by important scholars on the historical significance of the Metaphysical Society, 1869-1880. The contributors examine the innermost thoughts of the leading intellectuals of the period as they grappled with the changes around them.

A New History of the Sermon Robert Ellison, 2010-07-12. The latest installment in Brill's A New History of the Sermon series offers innovative studies of sacred rhetoric in the nineteenth century. The three sections, Theory and Theology, Sermon and Society in the British Empire, and Sermon and Society in America, contain a total of sixteen essays on such topics as biblical criticism, Charles Darwin, the Oxford Movement, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU), English Catholicism, sermon novels, and the slave trade on both sides of the Atlantic. Multiple traditions are represented, including the Anglican and Presbyterian churches, English nonconformity, Judaism, and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, making this a compilation that will appeal to a wide range of preachers, historians, literary scholars, and students of the rhetorical tradition. Contributors are Miriam Elizabeth Burstein, Thomas J. Carmody, Dawn Coleman, Robert H. Ellison, Joseph Evans, Keith A. Francis, Brian Jackson, Dorothy Lander, Thomas H. Olbricht, Carol Poster, Mirela Saim, Jessica Sheetz, Nguyen Bob Tennant, David M. Timmerman, Tamara S. Wagner, and John Wolffe.

Creation, Catastrophe & Calvary John Templeton Baldwin, 2000. In this scientific age, what difference does it make whether I believe the world was created in six literal days and that the world was destroyed by a global flood? In answering these questions, Creation, Catastrophe and Calvary shows how these beliefs are related to key issues such as the forgiveness of our sins and Sabbath observance.
