Not My Barista Rachelle Ayala, 2024-03-04 The cute barista is a wannabe writer and Gina Griffin doesn't date wannabe writers She's a bestselling women's fiction author and doesn't need to take a clueless beginner under her wing especially a handsome one who's so awkward with words that she finds endearing But Henry Archer is no ordinary barista He's a tech billionaire in disguise and the mastermind behind an AI chatbot designed to write like humans Henry is captivated by Gina's talent and determined to learn from her What Gina doesn't know is that he's also using her word choices to fine tune the very technology that she fears might render her craft obsolete As they grow closer Henry finds himself in a moral quandary torn between his growing feelings for Gina and the innovative technology that could change the writing industry forever Gina in turn is drawn to the charming barista with a passion for words warning him against using AI and teaching him to write from the heart Love is the last thing either one of them expects As Gina grows curious about Henry's identity and Henry frets over his newest breakthrough a hidden enemy forces his hand Will the exploding truth destroy Henry and Gina's budding romance or inspire the greatest love story ever written

The Routledge Handbook of Translation Technology and Society Stefan Baumgarten, Michael Tieber, 2025-10-08 The Routledge Handbook of Translation Technology and Society offers the first comprehensive and critical exploration of translation technologies in the context of globalised multilingual societies within an increasingly AI dominated world This handbook calls for a fundamental rethinking of traditional approaches to translation examining the ethical ideological socioeconomic and environmental implications of digital tools and practices such as professional AI driven translation everyday machine translation crowdsourcing translation or platform based translation work It provides deep insights into pressing issues such as the commodification of language inclusivity in so called low resource languages data colonialism and labour exploitation By questioning conventional science narratives and advocating for sustainable inclusive and equitable applications of translation technologies this handbook empowers readers to engage critically with current trends and challenges in the digital age

Readers will benefit from an interdisciplinary approach that combines novel theoretical foundations with empirical research and practical case studies. It serves as a foundational reference and a springboard for critical future research in an evolving sociotechnical translation ecosystem where the blurring boundaries between human and machinic agents foster new modes of translator machine interaction. This handbook is an essential resource for academics, researchers, and professionals in translation studies, digital humanities, science and technology studies, or digital discourse studies. The De Gruyter Handbook of Automated Futures Vaike Fors, Martin Berg, Meike Brodersen, 2024-09-23. How does automation affect us, our environment, and our imaginations? What actions should we take in response to automation? Beyond grand narratives and technology-driven visions of the future, what more can automation offer? With these questions in mind, The De Gruyter Handbook of Automated Futures provides a framework for thinking about and implementing automation differently. It consolidates automated futures as an inter- and transdisciplinary research field, embedding the imaginaries, interactions, and impacts of automation technology within their social, historical, societal, cultural, and political contexts. Promoting a critical yet constructive and engaging agenda, the handbook invites readers to collaborate with rather than resist automation agendas. It does so by pushing the agenda for social science, humanities, and design beyond merely assessing and evaluating existing technologies. Instead, the handbook demonstrates how the humanities and social sciences are essential to the design and governance of sustainable sociotechnical systems. Methodologically, the handbook is underpinned by a pedagogical approach to staging co-learning and co-creation of automated futures with rather than simply for people. In this way, the handbook encourages readers to explore new and alternative modes of research, fostering a deeper engagement with the evolving landscape of automation.
