Handbook of Research on Updating and Innovating Health Professions Education: Post-Pandemic Perspectives Ford, Channing R., Garza, Kimberly B., 2021-10-08 The outbreak of the

Coronavirus in early 2020 resulted in unprecedented changes to health professions education The pervasive stay at home orders resulted in faculty who were trained for preparing the next generation of health professionals in a traditional learning environment throwing out their lesson plans and starting anew New approaches to teaching and learning were created quickly and without the typical extensive planning which introduced several challenges However lessons learned from these approaches have also resulted in increased technology adoption innovative assessment strategies and increased creativity in the learning environment The Handbook of Research on Updating and Innovating Health Professions Education Post Pandemic Perspectives explores the various teaching and learning strategies utilized during the pandemic and the innovative approaches implemented to evaluate student learning outcomes and best practices in non traditional academic situations and environments The chapters focus specifically on lessons learned and best practices in health professions education and the innovative and exciting changes that occurred particularly with the adoption and implementation of technology It provides resources and strategies that can be implemented into the current educational environments and into the future This book is ideal for inservice and preservice teachers administrators teacher educators practitioners medical trainers medical professionals researchers academicians and students interested in curriculum course design development of policies and procedures within academic programs and the identification of best practices in health professions education Informal

Workplace Learning and Employee Development Malgorzata Rozkwitalska-Welenc, Beata A. Basinska, Alicja Dettlaff, 2024-06-03 The new paradigm in employee development assumes that employees should proactively direct their learning and growth Most workplace learning is basically informal and occurs through daily work routines peer to peer interactions and networking and typically brings about significant positive outcomes to both individuals and organizations Yet workplace learning always occurs in a predefined context and this context has recently changed Hereafter many people have been delegated to work from home or any other remote location Many employees would like to maintain remote or hybrid work design in the future as well In this research monograph the authors explore an unexplored topic in social science research concerning proactive employee development through informal learning in new ways of working NWW The monograph will be of interest to students and researchers in organizational studies organizational behavior organizational psychology and organizational learning as well as human resource professionals concerned with employee development and the changing nature of work Blackwell's Five-Minute Veterinary Practice Management Consult Lowell
