Cataloging Nonbook Materials Problems In Theory And Practice:

Cataloging Nonbook Materials Carolyn O. Frost, Arlene G. Taylor, 1983      Education and Training for Catalogers and Classifiers Ruth C. Carter, 1987 Education and Training for Catalogers and Classifiers discusses the education of librarians particularly the teaching of cataloging as part of that education It argues that relevant high quality library education and on the job training programs are necessary in preparing librarians to meet the challenges of understanding the issues of bibliographic control and relating a library's catalog to regional national and international bibliographic databases      Bibliographic Control of Music, 1897-2000 Richard P. Smiraglia, Bradford J. Young, 2006-06-15 A retrospective bibliography of the literature of the bibliographic control of music in libraries with author title and topical indexes A bibliographic review essay setting the historical and philosophical context is included      Nonbook Media John William Ellison, Patricia Ann Coty, 1987      The Intellectual Foundation of Information Organization Elaine Svenonius, 2009-01-30 Integrating the disparate disciplines of descriptive cataloging subject cataloging indexing and classification the book adopts a conceptual framework that views the process of organizing information as the use of a special language of description called a bibliographic language Instant electronic access to digital information is the single most distinguishing attribute of the information age The elaborate retrieval mechanisms that support such access are a product of technology But technology is not enough The effectiveness of a system for accessing information is a direct function of the intelligence put into organizing it Just as the practical field of engineering has theoretical physics as its underlying base the design of systems for organizing information rests on an intellectual foundation The subject of this book is the systematized body of knowledge that constitutes this foundation Integrating the disparate disciplines of descriptive cataloging subject cataloging indexing and classification the book adopts a conceptual framework that views the process of organizing information as the use of a special language of description called a bibliographic language The book is divided into two parts The first part is an analytic discussion of the intellectual foundation of information organization The second part moves from generalities to particulars presenting an overview of three bibliographic languages work languages document languages and subject languages It looks at these languages in terms of their vocabulary semantics and syntax The book is written in an exceptionally clear style at a level that makes it understandable to those outside the discipline of library and information science      Nonbook Materials Jean Weihs, Shirley Lewis, Joint Advisory Committee on Nonbook Materials, 1989      ARBA Guide to Library Science Literature, 1970-1983 Donald G.
