The Day Kadi Lost Part of Her Life Kim Manresa, Isabel Ramos Rioja, 1998 A moving photo story of four year old Kadi subjected to female genital mutilation in accordance with the traditions of her community The Day Kadi Lost Part of Her Life Kim Manresa, Isabel Ramos Rioja, 1998 A moving photo story of four year old Kadi subjected to female genital mutilation in accordance with the traditions of her community Eye to Eye Susan Perry, Celeste Marguerite Schenck, 2001 Focusing on seven crucial debates in the field of gender and development this compilation shows why development policy must respond to cultural differences and illustrates the rewards of doing so I Started Crying Monday Laurene Kelly, 1999-04-28 Laurene Kelly's first young adult novel introduces us to fourteen year old Julie who is struggling with a terrible home life but could never imagine the horror that is about to destroy her family forever She dreams of a new life away from her abusive father but when her mother doesn't arrive to meet Julie and her brother Toby after school as planned her hopes are shattered She is told there was an accident but something more is wrong The Wounded Breast Evelyne Accad, 2001 A moving journey through the experience of breast cancer including the different approaches and treatments

Female Circumcision and the Politics of Knowledge Obioma Nnaemeka, 2005-07-30 Heated debates about and insurgencies against female circumcision are symptoms of a disease emanating from a mindset that produced hierarchies of humans conquered colonies and built empires The loss of colonies and empires does not in any way mitigate the ideological underpinnings of empire building and the knowledge construction that subtends it The mindset finds its articulation at points of coalescence Female circumcision provided a point of coalescence and impetus for this articulation Insisting that the hierarchy on which the imperialist project rests is not bipolar but multi layered and more complex the contributions in this volume demonstrate how imperialist discourses complicate issues of gender race and history Nnaemeka gives voice to the silenced and marginalized and creates space for them to participate in knowledge construction and theory making The authors in this volume trace the travels of imperial and colonial discourses from antecedents in anthropology travel writings and missionary discourse to modern configurations in films literature and popular culture The contributors interrogate foreign or Western modus operandi and interventions in the so called Third World and show how the resistance they generate can impede development work and undermine the true collaboration and partnership necessary to promote a transnational feminist agenda With great clarity and in simple accessible language the contributors present complex ideas and arguments which hold significant implications for transnational feminism and development International Law and its Others Anne Orford, 2006-11-02 Institutional and political developments since the end of the Cold War have led to a revival of public interest in and anxiety about international law Liberal international law is appealed to as offering a means of constraining power and as representing universal values This book brings together scholars who draw on jurisprudence philosophy legal history and political theory to analyse the stakes of this turn towards international law Contributors explore the history of relations between international law and those it defines as other other traditions other logics other forces and other groups They explore the archive of international law as a record of attempts by scholars bureaucrats decision makers and legal professionals to think about what happens to law at the limits of modern political organisation The result is a rich array of responses to the question of what it means to speak and write about international law in our time Women's
