D-Day Plus One Frank Holland,Adam Wilkins,2014-10-19 A World War II RAF veteran tells the dramatic story of D Day his survival after being shot down by the Germans and his journey back to Allied lines The day after D Day the most momentous day of the Second World War Frank

Holland was an RAF pilot whose Typhoon aircraft had just been hit by German anti-aircraft fire during a low flying attack on a marshaling yard in Normandy. He managed to take the aircraft up to 1200 feet but then the engine went dead and his Typhoon soon began heading towards the earth at an accelerating and frightening speed. Struggling frantically he just barely got free of the cockpit and baled out four or five seconds before the crash. His parachute didn't open but he fell into a wood crashing through the branches of an oak to dangle precariously fifteen feet up. Breathing hard he experienced a few seconds of relief at survival. But then he realized German troops would be swarming around within minutes. He had to get away and fast. So begins Frank's tremendous adventure as he evaded capture for months sometimes by barely a whisker to make it back home to the city of his birth Cambridge. A riveting true story told in a masterly fashion.

Countdown to D-Day: The German Perspective Peter Margaritis, 2019-01-04 A WWII historian takes readers inside the day to day drama of Nazi military commanders in occupied Europe as they brace for the Allied invasion. In December of 1943 with Allied forces planning to invade Fortress Europe Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is named General Inspector of the Atlantic Wall. His mission is to assess their readiness and what he finds disgusts him. The famed Atlantikwall is nothing but a paper tiger woefully unprepared for the forces being massed across the English Channel. His task to turn back the Allied invasion already seems hopeless. The crust old theater commander Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt awaits the inevitable defeat from a plush villa outside Paris. The corps commander on the ground in Normandy attempts to fulfill Rommel's demands but supplies are woefully inadequate. Meanwhile all focus is on defending the coastline at Calais the area that High Command believes to be the Allies most likely objective. All of the Western Theater commanders are subject to the whims of Adolf Hitler hundreds of miles away and issuing orders that are increasingly divorced from the reality of the war. Countdown to D Day takes a detailed day to day journal approach tracing the daily activities and machinations of the German High Command as they try to prepare for the Allied invasion.

D-Day Bombers Stephen Darlow, 2014-07-19 This book is largely an eye witness account of the heavy bomber contribution to the success of the D Day landings and therefore to the winning of the war in Europe. It is told using considerable first hand experience from the veterans of the campaign something not really covered in any other books on the subject together with background information from primary source documents on the tactics and strategy employed. Eight different aircrews five RAF and three USAAF tell widely differing stories of operations before during and after D Day. Their vivid and dramatic accounts are supplemented by numerous contributions from other aircrew and ground crew veterans army personnel and French civilians which have been carefully gathered by Stephen Darlow from interviews with veterans and their relatives through correspondence and contemporary diaries. Certain raids have been selected and described in detail and there are numerous previously unpublished photographs. As Winston Churchill wrote This is no war of chieftains or of princes of dynasties or national ambition it is a war of peoples and of causes.
