Documents Illustrative of the Continental Reformation B. J. Kidd, 2004-01-27 In the early twentieth century B J Kidd put together a fully representative collection of continental Reformation writings in French Latin and English translation Kidd's work was a standard in classrooms for years The work offers representative source documents for the Lutheran and Reformed reformations on continental Europe Included are documents predating the Lutheran reformation through the Ninety five Theses to the Peace of Augsburg 1555 The Reformed Party is represented by Zwingli Farel and Calvin including the disputes with Anabaptists Kidd closes the collection with a section on Calvinism beyond Geneva with representative documents from France the Netherlands and Scotland Scholarly Book Collecting in Restoration Scotland Murray C.T. Simpson, 2020-07-13 The wide scholarly interests of Scots in the Restoration period are analysed by Murray Simpson through this in depth study of the library of James Nairn 1629 1678 a Scottish parish minister Nairn's collection demonstrates a remarkable receptivity to new intellectual ideas At some two thousand titles Nairn's is the biggest library formed in this period for which we have detailed and accurate records The collection is analysed by subject In addition there is a biographical study and chapters investigating aspects of the Scottish book market and comparing other contemporary Scottish clerical libraries A short title catalogue of the collection giving references to relevant online bibliographies and catalogues a select provenance index and a subject index complete the work Catalogus bibliothecae selectissimae, continens libros ex omni theologia, philologia, philosophia, historia, praesertim ecclesiastica et literaria selectos, quos collegit et reliquit Georg. Headley, 1983-02-24 This study examines a significant development within late medieval and early modern European government set in the context of the tense relations between the young Emperor Charles V and his ageing chancellor Mercurino de Gattorna It focuses upon an important transformation in the administrative reorganisation of European monarchies the shift in the political centre of gravity from the medieval institution of the chancellery as the secretariat for all government business and authentication to a small group of secretaries the minister of a later age acting directly in collaboration with the prince In the collision between the traditional judicial and administrative pre eminence of the late medieval chancellor and the new secretaries as expeditors of the Renaissance prince's will Charles gave his support to the latter thus associating himself with the previous work of Ferdinand the Catholic Against the background of this struggle with the state secretaries the imperial chancellery is analysed in its relations to the individual chancelleries of Charles V's disparate lands Post Scripta Giuseppe Forchielli, Alphonso Maria Stickler, 1972 Johann Sleidan and the Protestant Vision of History Alexandra Kess, 2017-03-02 One of the major challenges faced by the emergent Protestant faith was how to establish itself in a hitherto Catholic world. A key way it found to achieve this was to create a common identity through the fashioning of history emphasising Protestantism's legitimacy and authority. In this study the life and works of one of the earliest and most influential Protestant historians Johann Sleidan 1506-1556 are explored to reveal how history could be used to consolidate the new confession and the states which adopted it. Sleidan was commissioned by leading intellectuals from the Schmalkadic League to write the official history of the German Protestant movement resulting in the publication in 1555 of De statu religionis et reipublicae Carolo Quinto Caesare Commentarii. Overnight his work became the standard account of the early Reformation referenced by Catholics and Protestants alike in subsequent histories and polemical debates for the next three centuries. Providing the first comprehensive account of Sleidan's life based almost entirely on primary sources, this book offers a convincing background and context for his writings. It also shows how Sleidan's political role as a diplomat impacted on his work as a historian and how in turn his monumental work influenced political debate in France and Germany. As a moderate who sought to promote accommodation between the rival confessions, Sleidan provides a fascinating subject of study for modern historians seeking to better understand the complex and multi-faceted nature of the early Reformation.

The Patristic Text in the Confessional Age (16th-17th Centuries) Jean-Louis Quantin, 2024-12-16 This volume follows the paradoxical trajectory of patristic studies in early modern Europe from their full confessionalization in the mid-sixteenth century to the emergence of fringe patristics within minority groups in the early eighteenth century. The appeal to the Fathers which was meant to buttress established orthodoxies powerfully contributed to their dissolution in the internal strifes of seventeenth-century churches especially on grace and predestination. An ample English introduction with rich notes surveys the flourishing field of patristic reception and advocates for a historical rather than theological or literary approach.

Fehrenbach, 1992 In the thousands of inventories on deceased compiled for the purpose of probate during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in England, books are often among the items listed. They are also recorded in a variety of other documents associated with men and women of this period including wills, account ledgers, receipts, and inventories of goods distrained. Private Libraries in Renaissance England PLRE transcribes and annotates such book lists produced between the beginning of the sixteenth century and the mid-seventeenth century; it also reconstructs private library holdings of that period based on extant books. The information

thus derived is then entered into a uniform database which can be searched and from which material about those books and their owners is retrieved and published Publisher s website Die Bibliothek des Dichters Nicolaus Zrinyi ,1893
