De Industrialization Socail Cultural And Political Aspects:

De-Industrialization Bert Altena, Marcel van der Linden, 2002 De industrialization processes have accompanied industrialization from the start both regionally and globally Most historical studies of de industrialization focus on economic issues including structural causes and forms of unemployment Much less attention is usually paid to the social and cultural aspects What are the consequences of de industrialization for working class families and their communities How does de industrialization affect working class culture trade unions traditional labour parties and the regional social educational and cultural infrastructure Are gender relations changed by de industrialization The essays here propose a wide scope for the study of industrial devolution A Cultural History of Work in the Modern Age Daniel J. Walkowitz, 2020-09-17 Winner of the 2020 PROSE Award for Multivolume Reference Humanities Changes in production and consumption fundamentally transformed the culture of work in the industrial world during the century after World War I In the aftermath of the war the drive to create new markets and rationalize work management engaged new strategies of advertising and scientific management deploying new workforces increasingly tied to consumption rather than production These changes affected both the culture of the workplace and the home as the gendered family economy of the modern worker struggled with the vagaries of a changing gendered labour market and the inequalities that accompanied them This volume draws on illustrative cases to highlight the uneven development of the modern culture of work over the course of the long 20th century A Cultural History of Work in the Modern Age presents an overview of the period with essays on economies representations of work workplaces work cultures technology mobility society politics and leisure After Industry - The Economic and Social Consequences of Deindustrialization Jon Warren, Carol Stephenson, Jonathan Wistow, 2021-05-07 Deindustrialisation in Twentieth-Century Europe Stefan Berger, Stefano Musso, Christian Wicke, 2022-11-14 Exploring two large economies which were heavily affected by deindustrialisation in the late twentieth century this book provides insights into the social movements that brought about and also challenged industrial reduction in Europe Both the Ruhr region in Germany and the Northwest of Italy experienced major structural transformation from the 1960s as a result of deindustrialisation With contributions from experts in the field this collection provides a comparative overview of each region examining policy implementation class relations the changing political economy and environmental impact Analysing industrial and post industrial landscapes urban developments and labour relations the authors place their transnational findings within the context of the wider literature on deindustrialisation in the global North A much needed contribution to deindustrialisation studies which have traditionally focused on North America and the UK this book is a useful read for those researching deindustrialisation and the social history of Europe Uncovering Labour in Information Revolutions, 1750-2000: Volume 11 Aad Blok, Greg Downey, 2003-12-15 Discussion of the current Information Revolution tends to focus on technological developments in information and communication and overlooks both the human labour involved in the development maintenance and daily use of information and communication technologies ICTs and the consequences of the implementation of these ICTs for the position and divisions of labour This volume aims to redress this imbalance by exploring the role position and divisions of information and communication labour in the broadest sense through periods of revolutionary technological change Cultural Heritage in Transition Bart Zwegers, 2022-02-26 This book introduces the multilevel perspective to analyze how local national and international actors and institutions in the heritage field interact More specifically a comparative study is made of controversies regarding six UNESCO World Heritage sites in Germany and the United Kingdom The six cases involve traditional monuments the cathedral of Aachen and the castle and cathedral of Durham industrial heritage the Zollverein Coal Mine in Essen and the former tin and copper mines in Cornwall and cities Dresden and Liverpool Studying how long term landscape developments interact with local actors and nationally organized regimes reveals important differences between the decentralized German and the centralized British approach to heritage preservation These differences not only have consequences for the governance of heritage preservation in the two countries but also for their relations with international organizations such as UNESCO We shall not be moved Brian Marren, 2016-05-01 The city of Liverpool had frequently been prone to industrial unrest for most of its recent history but it was the dawn of Thatcher and the sanctioning of neoliberal economic strategies which made Liverpool a nucleus of resistance against the encroaching tide of right wing politics and sweeping de industrialisation This critique explores six case studies which will illustrate how elements of a highly politicised local working class fought against the rapid rise in forced redundancies and industrial closures Some of their responses included strikes factory occupations the organisation and politicisation of the unemployed consent to radical left wing municipal politics as well as tacit endorsement a period of violent civil unrest This critique concludes that in the range intensity and use of innovative tactics deployed during these conflicts Liverpool was distinctive Social Culture and Regional Governance M. V. Strezhneva, 1999 Compares the EU and CIS governance systems from the point of view of a cultural analyst The author begins with the assumption that political institutions cannot be understood without exposing the social orientations they are tuned to She reveals that the EU allows member states as well as domestic social groups to pursue their often contrasting interests and preferences in a consensual manner She contrasts this with the post Soviet regime of regional governance the overall aim of which is to disintegrate the former Soviet economy and society along national lines Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Handbook of Research in the Social Foundations of Education Steven Tozer, Bernardo P.
