

Save the Bees

The Facts

Bees are in decline on a global scale. They face many threats such as the destruction of their natural habitat, climate change, parasites and disease.

Most plants and crops depend on animal pollination. One third of our food crops depends on bees.

We depend so much on bees in our ecosystem that there would be serious consequences if they were to disappear.

How can I help?
If you can't help shopping, use a bag to carry out. It will be less friendly to bees.

If the bee is still partly after half an hour, give the bee a drop of sugar water (a half spoon half sugar water). This could give it enough of an energy boost to fly off.

Another way to help bees is to have lots of bee-friendly plants in your garden or on your balcony. Some examples of flowers that bees love are lavender, marigolds and wildflowers.
