De Havilland Vampire The Complete History:

De Havilland Vampire David Watkins, 1996 An illustrated history of the RAF's first generation post Second World War jet fighter

Arms Transfers, Neutrality and Britain's Role in the Cold War Marco Wyss, 2012-10-12 Great Britain was neutral Switzerland's main supplier of heavy weaponry during the early Cold War Marco Wyss analyses this armaments relationship against the background of Anglo Swiss relations between 1945 and 1958 and thereby assesses the role of arms transfers neutrality and Britain as well as the two countries political economic and military relations By using multi archival research the author discovers traits of specialness in the Anglo Swiss relationship analyses the incentives for Berne's weapons purchases and London's arms sales sheds new light on the Cold War arms transfer system and the motivations of the participating states and questions the sustainability of neutrality during the East West conflict as well as Britain's role from a western neutral and small power perspective

Making Jet Engines in World War II Hermione Giffard, 2016-10-10 Our stories of industrial innovation tend to focus on individual initiative and breakthroughs With Making Jet Engines in World War II Hermione Giffard uses the case of the development of jet engines to offer a different way of understanding technological innovation revealing the complicated mix of factors that go into any decision to pursue an innovative and therefore risky technology Giffard compares the approaches of Britain Germany and the United States Each approached jet engines in different ways because of its own war aims and industrial expertise Germany which produced more jet engines than the others did so largely as replacements for more expensive piston engines Britain on the other hand produced relatively few engines but by shifting emphasis to design rather than production found itself at war's end holding an unrivaled range of designs The US emphasis on development meanwhile built an institutional basis for postwar production Taken together Giffard's work makes a powerful case for a more nuanced understanding of technological innovation one that takes into account the influence of the many organizational factors that play a part in the journey from idea to finished product

Aircraft of the Royal Navy David Hobbs, 2024-11-30 This is a comprehensive study of every aircraft type ordered for the Royal Navy since 1908 It includes fixed and rotary wing aircraft rigid and non rigid airships unmanned aircraft and pilotless target aircraft together with many designs that were ordered but not built so that the importance placed on them by the Naval Staff or their potential technological impact on carrier design and operations can be explained Every type even unsuccessful single prototypes is described the majority are illustrated by photographs many of which come from the author's own collection and the fifty most significant aircraft have detailed drawings The Australian and Canadian Fleet Air Arms operated RN aircraft types for many years after their formation and these are included together with other types they have operated subsequently to give a more complete overview The book describes over 400 different types of aircraft built by over 100 different manufacturers to offer the most detailed coverage of RN aircraft ever produced Research for the book took over forty years and reference material included Admiralty Archives and an array of material in the public domain including manufacturers data individual aircraft pilot s notes and a wealth of published sources David Hobbs is uniquely well placed to write this book having served in the RN for thirty three years and retired with the rank of Commander He flew both fixed and rotary wing aircraft and his log book contains 2300 flying hours with 807 day and night deck landings He served in seven British aircraft carriers and spent four years within RN Director General Aircraft Department where he was closely involved with Sea Harrier carrier trials and introduced new visual landing aids for night recoveries and liaised with the USN on carrier operating techniques This is his eleventh book for Seaforth Publishing

Upward & Onward Bob Cossey,2009-04-21 John Howe started his flying career in the postwar South African Air Force learning to fly on Tiger Moths Harvards and Spitfires He was posted to No 2 Squadron SAAF and sent to Korea to fly with South Africa's contribution to the war in support of the UN forces There he flew the Mustang F 51D fighter bombers in front line action during his first tour A second tour saw him with the US Infantry as a Forward Air Controller operating on the ground As the political situation in South Africa became more extreme he resigned from the SAAF and came to England where he was asked by the RAF to fly their first jet fighters and later instruct on Vampires converting later to the Hunter and joined 222 Squadron at Leuchars During the Suez crisis he again operated as a Forward Ground Controller and landed on the beaches with 40 Commando He was appointed CO of 74 Tiger Squadron to introduce the supersonic Lightning into service with the RAF Traveling extensively demonstrating the remarkable capabilities of the new fighter His late career took him to Fighter Commands HQ RAF Staff College and the Joint Warfare School After a posting to the USA on an exchange tour flying most of the Century Series Fighters and the Phantom he returned to the UK to head up 228 OCU to introduce the Phantom FGR2 into operational service Towards the end of his 44 year service career he commanded the RAF base at Gutersloh on the front line of the Iron Curtain flying and his final posting was Commandant of the RAF Regiment Civil Airworthiness
