force in religious England of the fourteenth century was John Wycliffe 1325-1384 and there is in the library of Trinity College Dublin a MS reputed to be by him on the Seven Deadly Sins. It is of parchment six and a half by four and a half inches in diameter in small handwriting containing thirty-two lines to a page. It is catalogued as Wycliffe's Tracts: The Creed and the Seven Deadly Sins and the evidence as to its authorship was sufficient to satisfy Dr Thomas Arnold and to cause him to include it in his Select English Works of Wycliffe. But Wycliffe had all the qualities and literary methods of a successful journalist and if he lived to day would almost certainly be a leader writer for the popular press whereas this treatise especially if it is read by the side of the prose treatise of Chaucer is deadly dull. Even Wycliffe's name supposing it to be by him could hardly have made it popular and we have to look elsewhere to trace the influence of the Sins in common life. In the year 1493 there was published in Paris a remarkable volume entitled Le Compost et kalendrier des bergiers which ten years later 1503 was translated into English at the cost of Richard Pynson by the title of The Kalendar of Shepherds. It was a most popular book in France and it speedily became popular in England and there is no wonder in this for it is perhaps one of the most interesting books which the fifteenth century produced. The name of its author or authors is unknown but they

Excerpt from The Seven Deadly Sins: The business of literature is the presentation of life; all true literature resolves itself into that. No presentation of life is complete without its sins and every master of literary art has known it from the poet King of Israel to Robert Browning. The imagination of the Middle Ages in many ways more virile and expansive than our own had a strong grasp of this fact and realised that it is the sense of fault or error that lies at the root of every forward movement; that there is no real progress unless it is accompanied by a sense of sin. Other terms may be used to describe the dynamic power which has moved societies or individuals from lower ideals to higher but if we get beyond words to things we see the sense of the defective character, the unrealised ideal always and everywhere as the moving force. To the Catholic Church touched as it often has been and not always to its detriment with pagan mysticism the problem of evil was associated with a mystical number and the succeeding pages are an endeavour to trace the various presentations of the Seven Deadly Sins as they have been given by men of powerful imagination or profound insight at different periods in our literary history.

Vandergrout, 2018-06-07 Seven titles in one book All the seven deadly sins explained and analyzed Book 1 Envy Envy is often something we point out in others but if we face the facts and admit to being imperfect finding it in ourselves can actually improve our lives our attitude and our happiness When we figure out where our feelings are wrong we can take action and change our mindset So many people think of envy as a sin against others but actually we are doing this to ourselves We create our own misery by looking at others and comparing ourselves to them Book 2 Gluttony Gluttony has been mistaken for many things in the past Some people judge others for being fat Some are confused as to how far to go when indulging themselves in delicious foods And others wonder if self discipline in general is the underlying commandment that is related to the sin of gluttony Understanding the sin and the essence of it can be life changing It can mean the difference between a constant nagging feeling or urge to have more and on the other hand a divine feeling of contentment and a smile on your face Book 3 Greed We've heard it before The love of money is the root of all evil Greed or avarice has caused many to err from the faith according to Paul who wrote to Timothy Flee these things he said urging him and all of us to concentrate on Christlike qualities instead of worldly possessions and on treasures in heaven not on earth Greed is everywhere It is almost unavoidable If we let go of the possessions that so easily possess us we can focus more on God and His purposes Book 4 Lust Lust has caused so much grief so much heartbreak and so many broken homes We cannot underestimate the consequences of infidelity or rushing into a passion without self control Not only do our actions have an impact on ourselves but also on many others around us As you read through the examples and the immensity of sexual immorality and its consequences you will see things from a different light The seriousness of this topic will be impressed on your soul as you read through shocking stories ironic consequences and logical yet spiritual theories you will feel are true Book 5 Pride Many people don't see it this way but pride is truly the most important thing we need to control and eliminate We all have something to work on We all need to realize better who we are If we do we won't look down on others and less conflict more equality and more tolerance will follow Learn how to make the world a better place by overcoming your own ego and instead of blowing up your self image submitting to God's will and allowing Him to make you the best you can be Start seeing things from His perspective not our own narrow minded vision See your potential and forget the world's judgment of superficial matters Book 6 Sloth Sloth or laziness is not something we do rather it's NOT doing something we should that makes it so sinful The Latin words tristitia or acedia mean without care When we stop caring things go wrong How come laziness is so destructive especially when we are not actually doing something wrong In holy writ life is sometimes referred to as a spiritual war Book 7 Wrath Regarded as one of the seven deadly sins wrath can lead to serious consequences such as violence aggression saying things we regret later or making decisions that go contrary to what benefits us The world is filled with anger rage and frustration The difference between passive and aggressive anger will be explained as well as neurological connections that are made each
