Early Daoist Scriptures:

Early Daoist Scriptures Stephen R. Bokenkamp, 2023-11-15 For centuries Daoism Taoism has played a central role in the development of Chinese thought and civilization yet to this day only a few of its sacred texts have been translated into English Now Stephen R Bokenkamp introduces the reader to ancient scriptures never before published in the West providing a systematic and easily accessible introduction to early Daoism c 2nd 6th C E Representative works from each of the principal Daoist traditions comprise the basic structure of the book with each chapter accompanied by an introduction that places the material within a historical and cultural context Included are translations of the earliest Daoist commentary to Laozi's Daode jing Tao Te Ching historical documents relating the history of the early Daoist church a petitioning ritual used to free believers from complaints brought against them by the dead and two complete scriptures one on individual meditation practice and another designed to rescue humanity from the terrors of hell through recitation of its powerful charms In addition Bokenkamp elucidates the connections Daoism holds with other schools of thought particularly Confucianism and Buddhism This book provides a much needed introduction to Daoism for students of religion and is a welcome addition for scholars wishing to explore Daoist sacred literature It serves as an overview to every aspect of early Daoist tradition and all the seminal practices which have helped shape the religion as it exists today For centuries Daoism Taoism has played a central role in the development of Chinese thought and civilization yet to this day only a few of its sacred texts have been translated into English Now Stephen R Bokenkamp introduces the reader to ancient scr A Fourth-Century Daoist Family Stephen R. Bokenkamp, 2020-12-15 This volume is the first in a series of full length English translations from one of the foremost classics in Daoist religious literature the Zhen gao or Declarations of the Perfected The Declarations is a collection of poems accounts of the dead instructions and meditation methods received by the Daoist Yang Xi 330 ca 386 BCE from celestial beings and shared by him with his patrons and students These fragments of revealed material were collected and annotated by the eminent scholar and Daoist Tao Hongjing 456 536 allowing us access to these distant worlds and unfamiliar strategies of self perfection Bokenkamp's full translation highlights the literary nature of Daoist revelation and the place of the Declarations in the development of Chinese letters It further details interactions with the Chinese throne and the aristocracy and demonstrates ways that Buddhist borrowings helped shape Daoism much earlier than has been assumed This first volume also contains heretofore unrecognized reconfigurations of Buddhist myth and practice that Yang Xi introduced to his Daoist audience Ancestors and Anxiety Stephen R. Bokenkamp, 2007-08-02 A work on Chinese concepts of the afterlife It explores how Chinese authors including Daoists and non Buddhists received and deployed ideas about rebirth from the third to the sixth centuries CE In tracing the antecedents of these scriptures it presents non Buddhist accounts that provide detail on the realms of the dead Daoism in History Benjamin Penny, 2006-04-18 Over the last decade there has been a marked increase in the study of Daoism especially in Japan China and the West with a new generation of scholars broadening our understanding of the religion Including contributions from the foremost scholars in the field Daoism in History presents new and important research These essays honour one of the pioneers of Daoist studies Emeritus Professor Liu Ts un yan His major essay Was Celestial Master Zhang a Historical Figure addresses one of the pivotal questions in the entire history of Daoism and is included here as the final essay In addition a Chinese character glossary bibliography and index conclude the book The first in an exciting new series this book presents brand new thinking on Daoism a field now recognized as one of the most vital areas of research in Chinese history and the history of religions A Library of Clouds J. E. E.

Pettit,Chao-jan Chang,2020-09-30 From early times Daoist writers claimed to receive scriptures via revelation from heavenly beings In numerous cases these writings were composed over the course of many nights and by different mediums New revelations were often hastily appended and the resulting unevenness gave rise to the impression that Daoist texts often appear slapdash and contain contradictions A Library of Clouds focuses on the re writing of Daoist scriptures in the Upper Clarity Shangqing lineage in fourth and fifth century China Scholarship on Upper Clarity Daoism has been dominated by attempts to uncover original or authentic texts which has resulted in the neglect of later scriptures including the work fully translated and annotated here the Scripture of the Immaculate Numen one of the Three Wonders sanqi and among the most prized Daoist texts in medieval China The scripture s lack of a coherent structure and its different authorial voices have led many to see it not as a unified work but the creation of different editors who shaped and reshaped it over time A Library of Clouds constructs new ways of understanding the complex authorship of texts like the Scripture of the Immaculate Numen and their place in early medieval Daoism It stresses their significance in understanding the ways in which manuscripts were written received and distributed in early medieval China By situating the scripture within its immediate hagiographic and ritual contexts it suggests that this kind of revelatory literature is best understood as a pastiche of ideas a process of weaving together previously circulating notions and beliefs into a new scriptural fabric Popular Religious Movements and

Reiter,2007 Purposes Means and Convictions in Daoism A Berlin Symposium II contains twelve articles that represent contributions of international scholars who specialise in studies of religious Daoism In 2005 they participated in a symposium with the same title that the Seminar fur Sinologie at Humboldt University Berlin staged with the support of the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft DFG Bonn The two parts of the book Historical and Ritual Traditions I and Varieties of Religious Activities and Functions II mirror the understanding of the basic themes as developed during the symposium and the ensuing discussions The articles cover periods and developments from the beginning of the religious Daoism up to the late 19th century The four Chinese contributions are accompanied by English summaries

Dreaming and Self-Cultivation in China, 300 BCE-800 CE Robert Ford Campany, 2024-09-09 Practitioners of any of the paths of self cultivation available in ancient and medieval China engaged daily in practices meant to bring their bodies and minds under firm control They took on regimens to discipline their comportment speech breathing diet senses desires sexuality even their dreams Yet compared with waking life dreams are incongruous unpredictable in a word strange How then did these regimes of self fashioning grapple with dreaming a lawless yet ubiquitous domain of individual experience In Dreaming and Self Cultivation in China 300 BCE 800 CE Robert Ford Campany examines how dreaming was addressed in texts produced and circulated by practitioners of Daoist Buddhist Confucian and other self cultivational disciplines Working through a wide range of scriptures essays treatises biographies commentaries fictive dialogues diary records interpretive keys and ritual instructions Campany uncovers a set of discrete paradigms by which dreams were viewed and responded to by practitioners He shows how these paradigms underlay texts of diverse religious and ideological persuasions that are usually treated in mutual isolation The result is a provocative meditation on the relationship between individuals nocturnal experiences and one culture s persistent attempts to discipline interpret and incorporate them into waking practice

Liu Chuxuan (1147-1203) and his Commentary on the Daoist Scripture Huangdi yinfu jing Peter Acker, 2006 This study presents the first complete translation of Liu Chuxuan s 1147 1203 commentary on the Yellow Emperor s Scripture of Hidden Contracts Huangdi Yinfujing Zhu Liu Chuxuan numbers among the famous seven disciples of Wang Chongyang who is Quanzhen Daoism s founder and one of the most revered figures in religious Daoism Today one of the two surviving Daoist sects Quanzhen Daoism was a revolutionary religious movement when it began in the days of the Jin dynasty Liu Chuxuan s commentary constitutes an important document for the history of Quanzhen Daoism First of all it is one of the few surviving commentaries on a classical Daoist scripture written by a proponent of early Quanzhen Secondly Liu Chuxuan s commentary provides insight into the central ideas of internal alchemy a theory of self cultivation promoted by early Quanzhen Daoism On top of that the commentary s eclectic nature elucidates an important trait of Quanzhen Daoism It integrates sources from the three different religious traditions of China Daoism Confucianism and Buddhism This eclecticism reflects on a general tendency of Chinese culture in the days of the Jin dynasty The unification of the three teachings was prevalent in the entire society and until this day comprises an important aspect of Chinese thought

Varieties of Religious Invention Patrick Gray, 2016 At the origins of the major religious traditions one typically finds a seminal figure Names such as Jesus Muhammad Confucius and Moses are well known yet their status as founders has not gone uncontested Does Paul deserve the credit for founding Christianity Is Laozi the father of Daoism or should that title belong to Zhuangzi What is at stake if anything in debates about the historical Buddha What assumptions are implicit in the claim that Hinduism is a religion without a founder The essays in Varieties of Religious Invention do not attempt to settle these perennial arguments Rather they consider the subtexts of such debates as an exercise in comparative religion Who engages in them To whom do they matter and when To what extent are origins thought to define the essence of a religion When is development in a religious tradition perceived as deviation from its roots In what ways do arguments about founders serve as proxies for broader cultural theological political or ideological questions What do they reveal about the ways in which the past is remembered and authority negotiated Surveying the landscape shaped by these questions within each tradition the authors provide insights and novel perspectives about the individual religions and about the study of world religions more generally

Shaping the Lotus Sutra Eugene Yuejin Wang, 2005 The Lotus Sutra has been the most widely read and most revered Buddhist scripture in East Asia since its translation in the third century The miracles and parables in the king of sutras inspired a variety of images in China in particular the sweeping compositions known as transformation tableaux that developed between the seventh and ninth centuries Surviving examples in murals painted on cave walls or carved in relief on Buddhist monuments depict celestial journeys bodily metamorphoses cycles of rebirth and the achievement of nirvana Yet the cosmos revealed in these tableaux is strikingly different from that found in the text of the sutra Shaping the Lotus Sutra explores this visual world Challenging long held assumptions about Buddhist art Eugene Wang treats it as a window to an animated and spirited world Rather than focus on individual murals as isolated compositions Wang views the entire body of pictures adorning a cave shrine or a pagoda as a visual mapping of an imaginary topography that encompasses different temporal and spatial domains He demonstrates that the text of the Lotus Sutra does not fully explain the pictures and that a picture or a series of them constitutes its own text In exploring how religious pictures subliminate cultural aspirations he shows that they can serve both political and religious agendas and that different social forces can co exist within the same visual program These pictures inspired meditative journeys through sophisticated formal devices such as mirroring mapping and spatial programming analytical categories newly identified by Wang The book examines murals in cave shrines at Binglingsi and Dunhuang in northwestern China and relief sculptures in the grottoes of Yungang in Shanxi on stelae from Sichuan and on the Dragon and Tiger pagoda in Shandong among other sites By tracing formal impulses in medieval Chinese picture making such as topographic mapping and pictorial illusionism the author pieces together a wide range of visual evidence and textual sources to reconstruct the medieval Chinese cognitive style and mental world The book is ultimately a history of the Chinese imagination Read an interview with the author <http://dgeneratefilms.com/cinemataalk> cinemataalk interview with professor eugene wang on chinese art and film
